We grieve not for days gone by, nor anticipate the future —

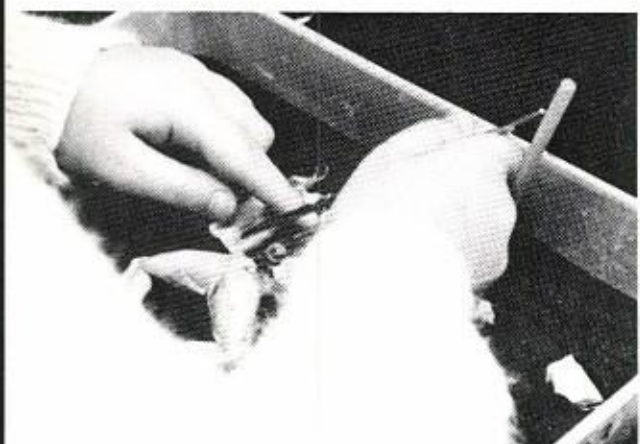

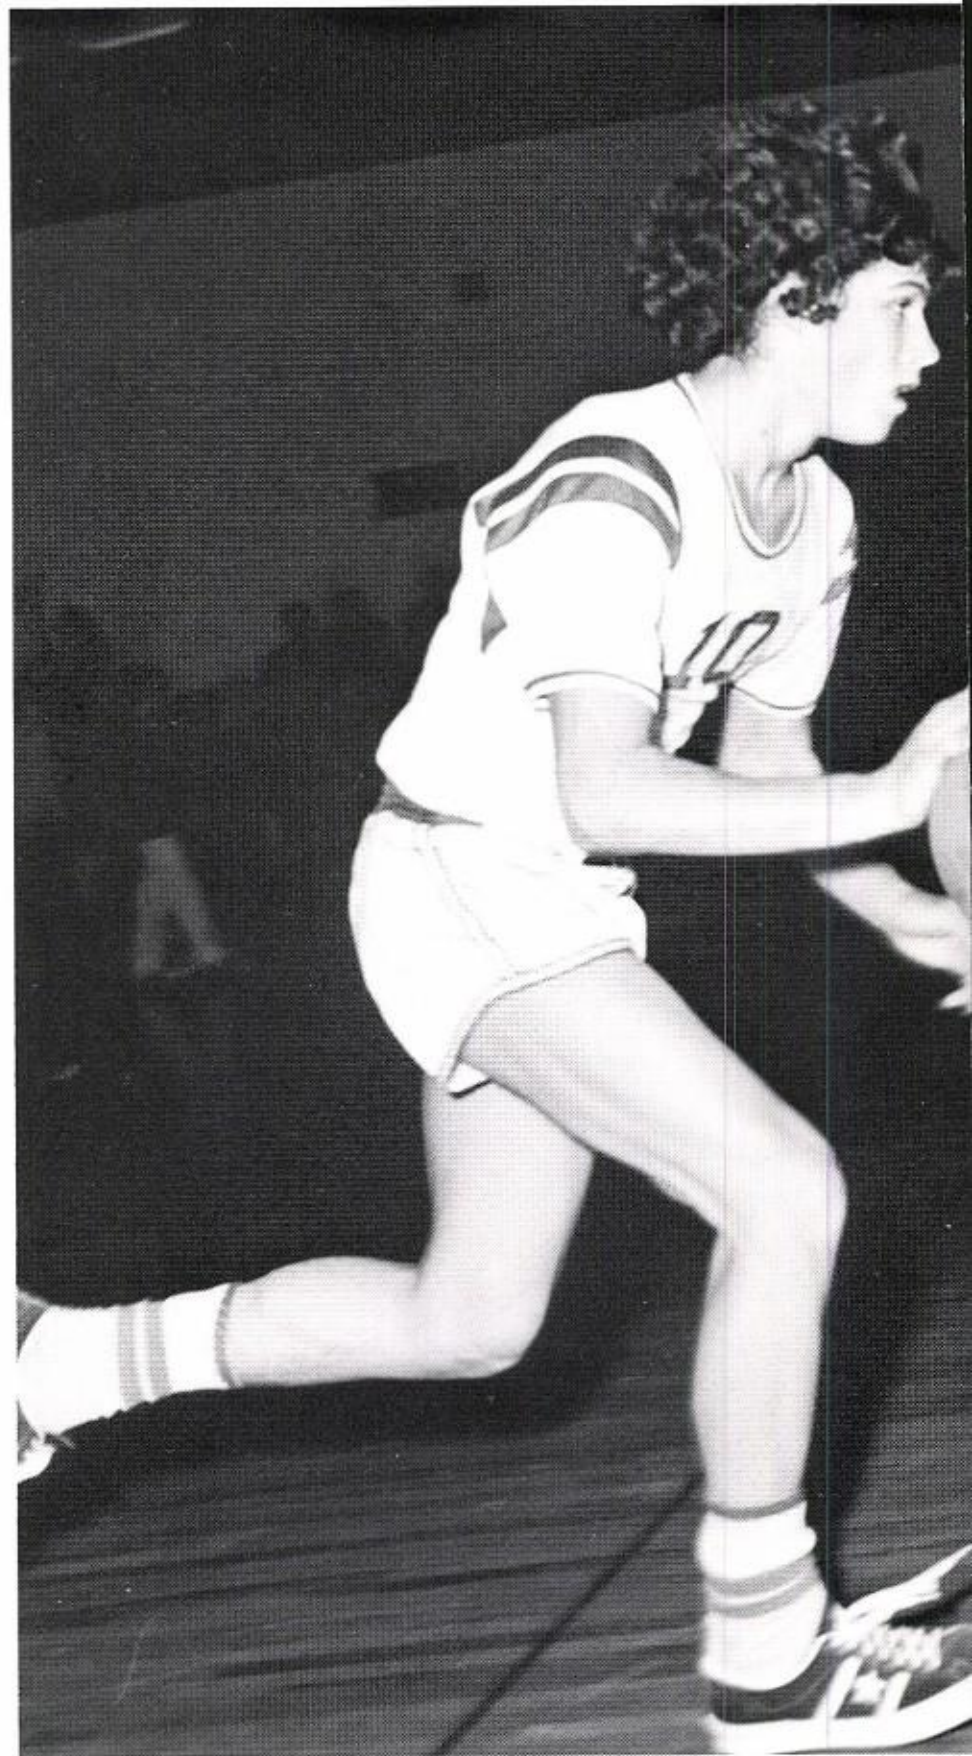

we are happy with the present.

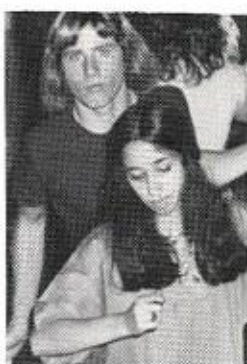

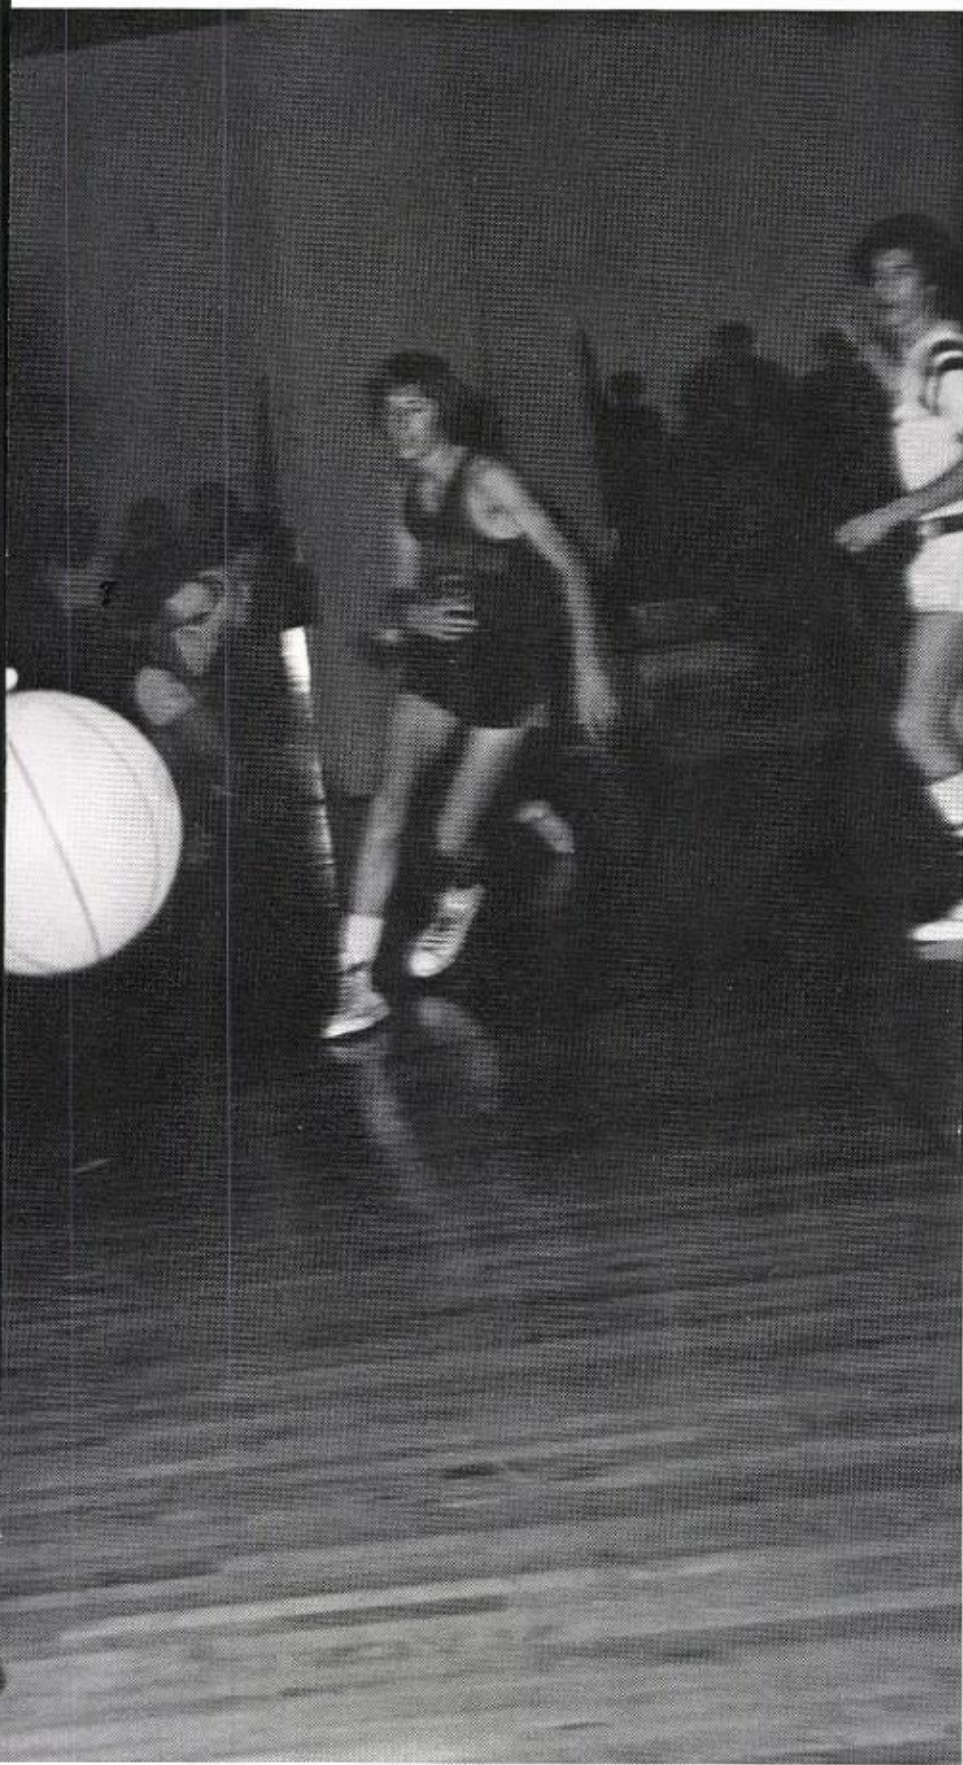

WEST SPRINGFIELD
HIGH SCHOOL

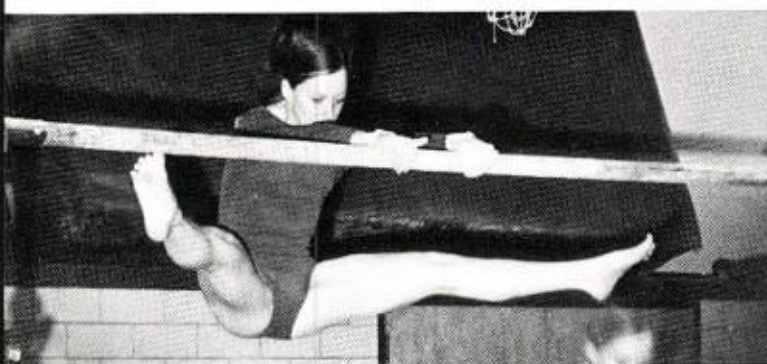

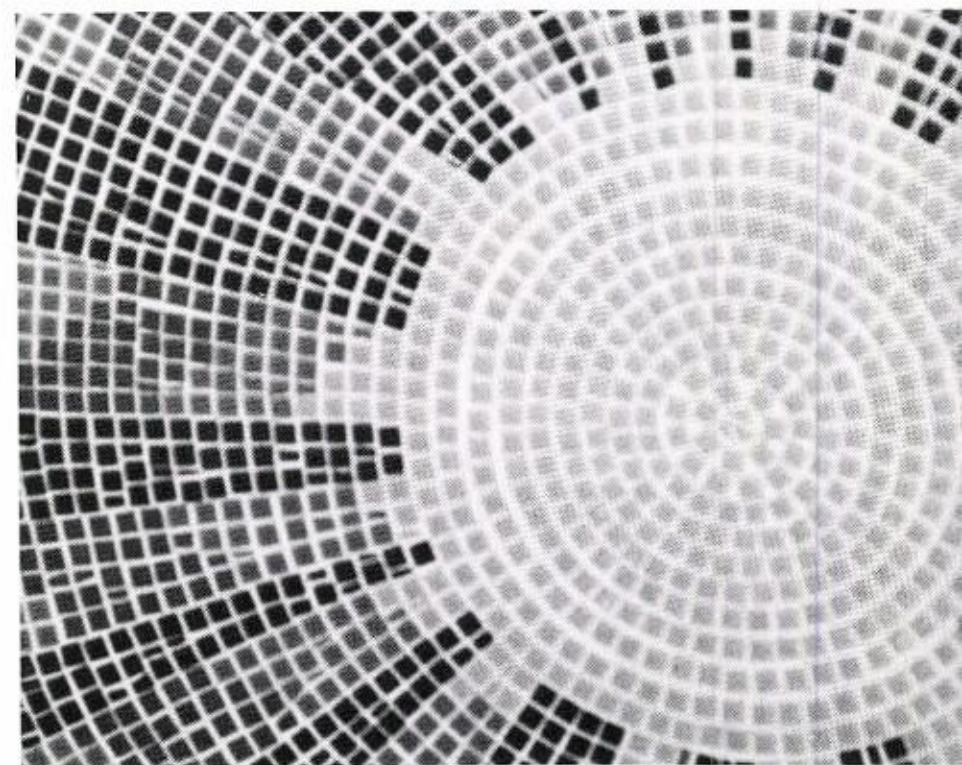

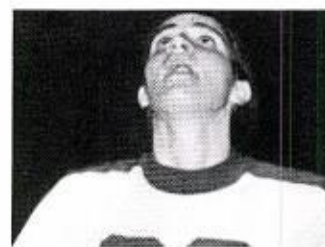

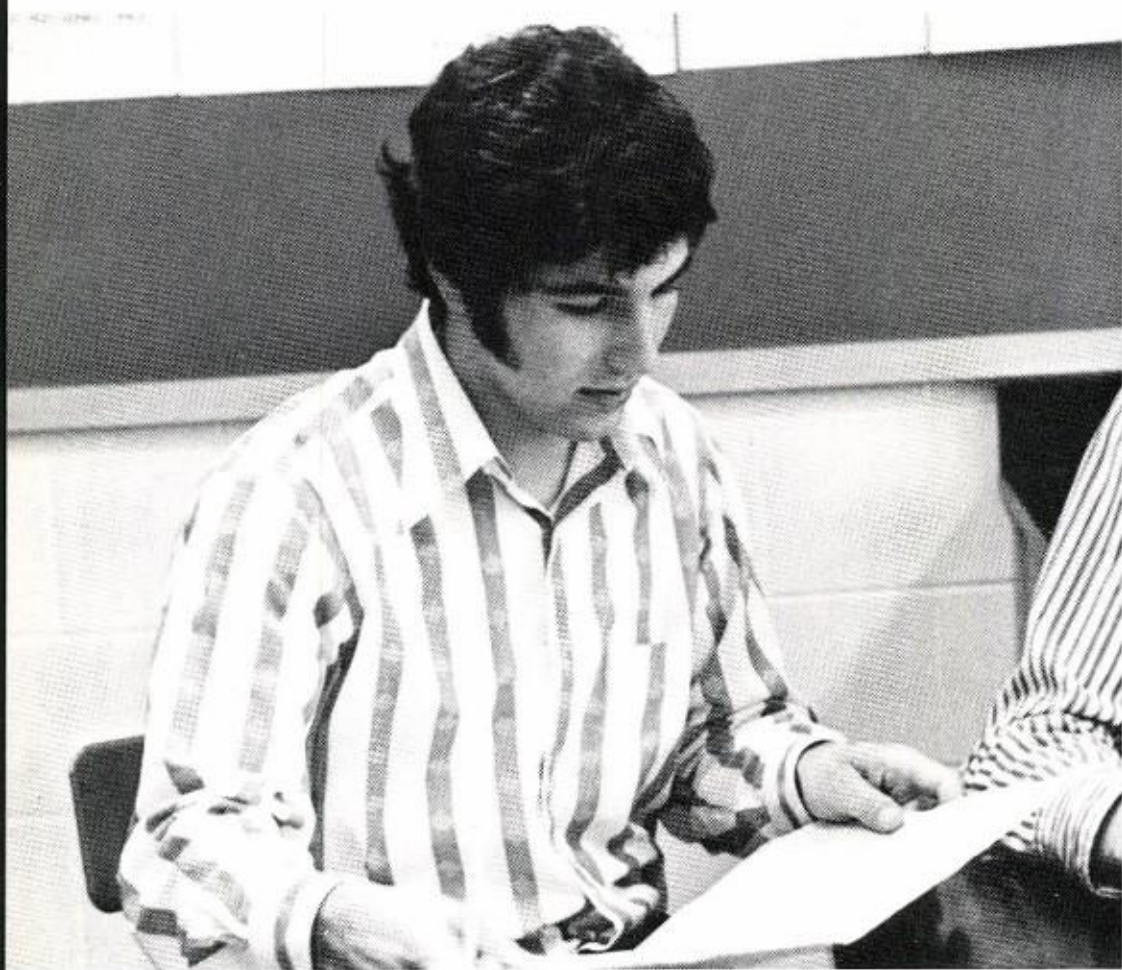

We are the youth...the students; existing as individuals, conscious of our own being, changing our surroundings and being changed by them.

Appraising life honestly, not naively but critically; willing to face reality and at the same time keeping this openness—this interest in life.

Astounding some, discouraging some; we accept some things and disapprove others.

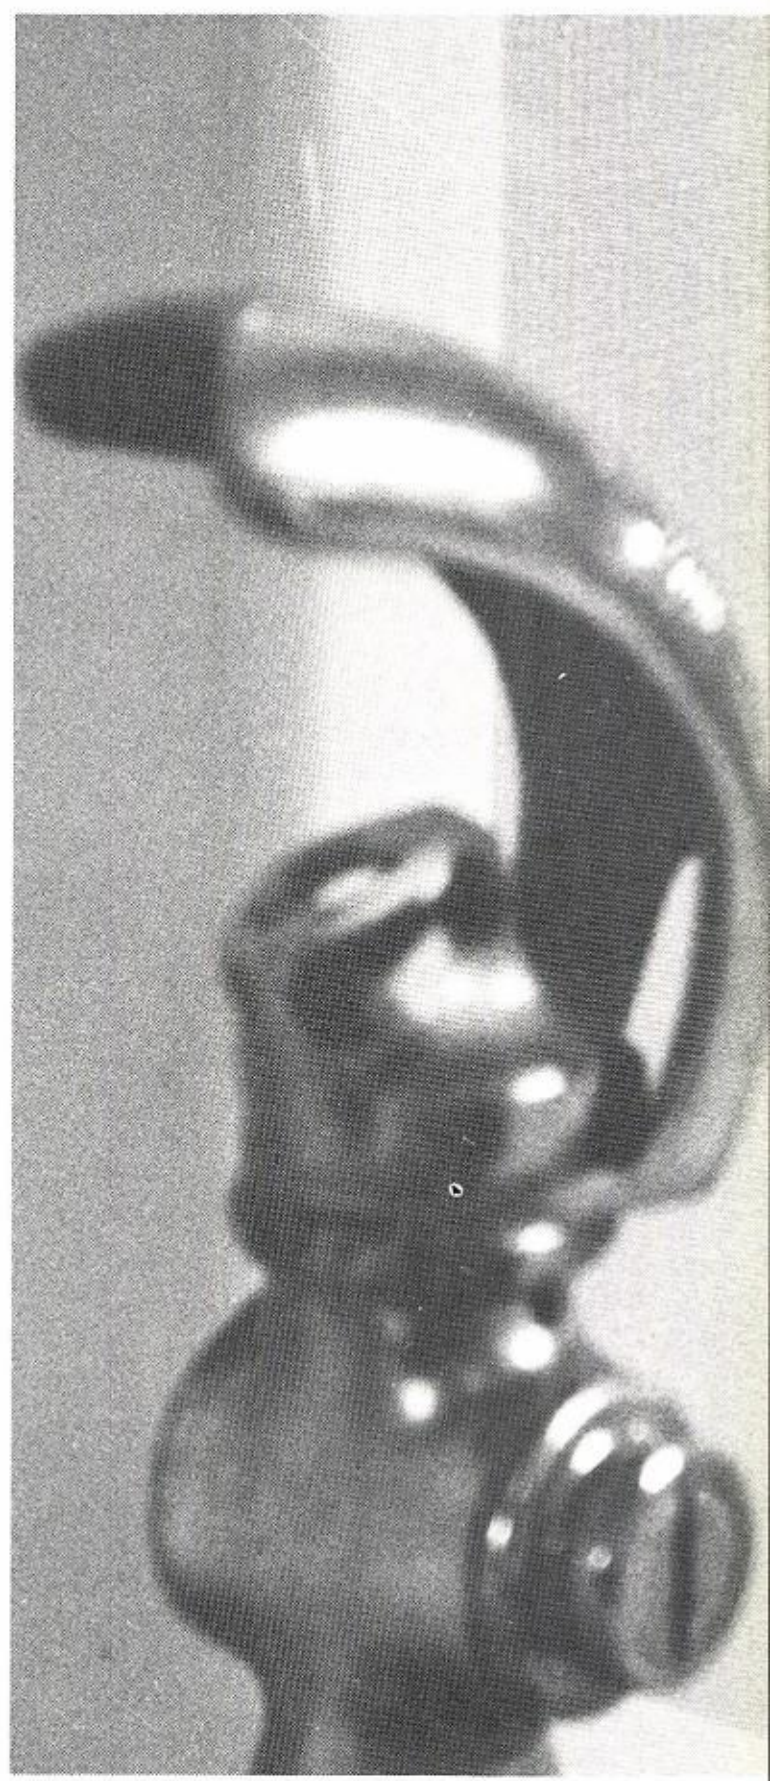

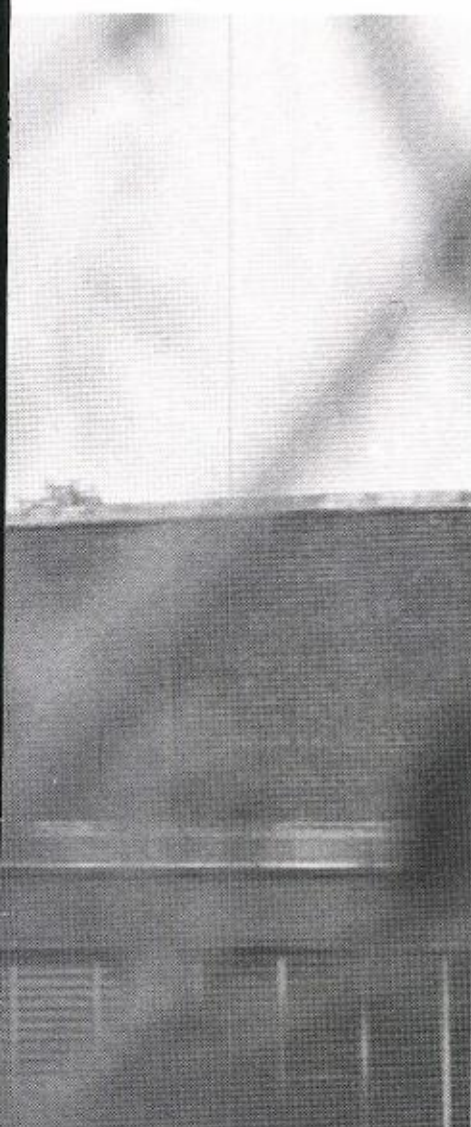

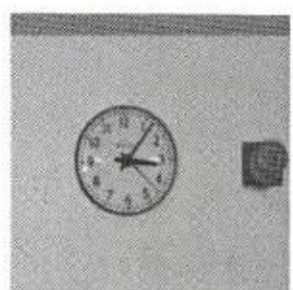

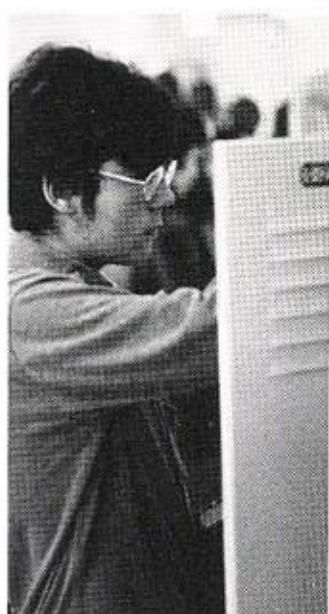

At times we become disappointed with our world, our environment...

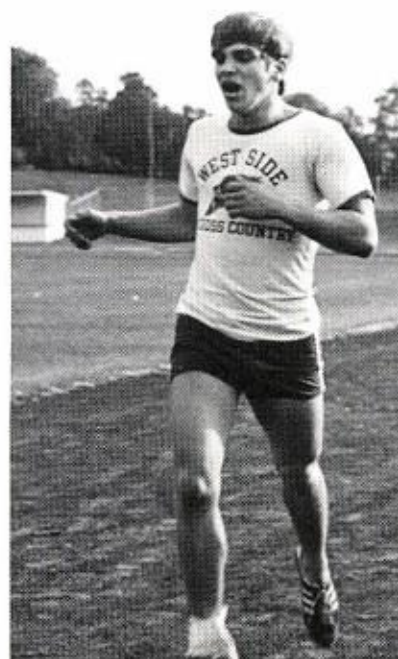

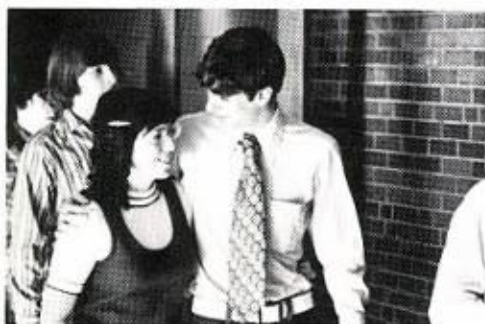

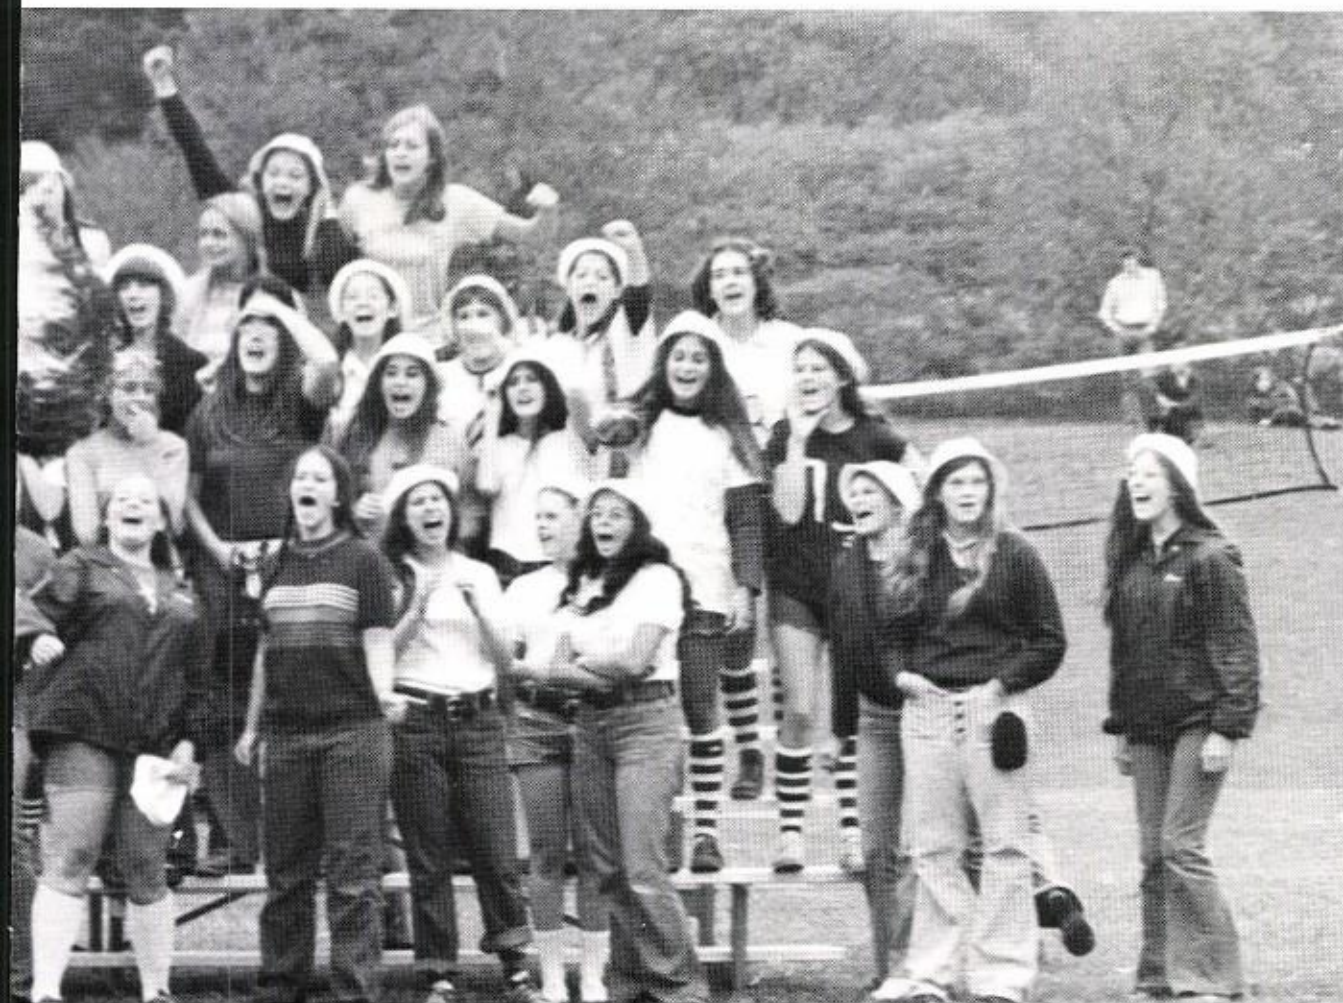

yet, we desire to change it.

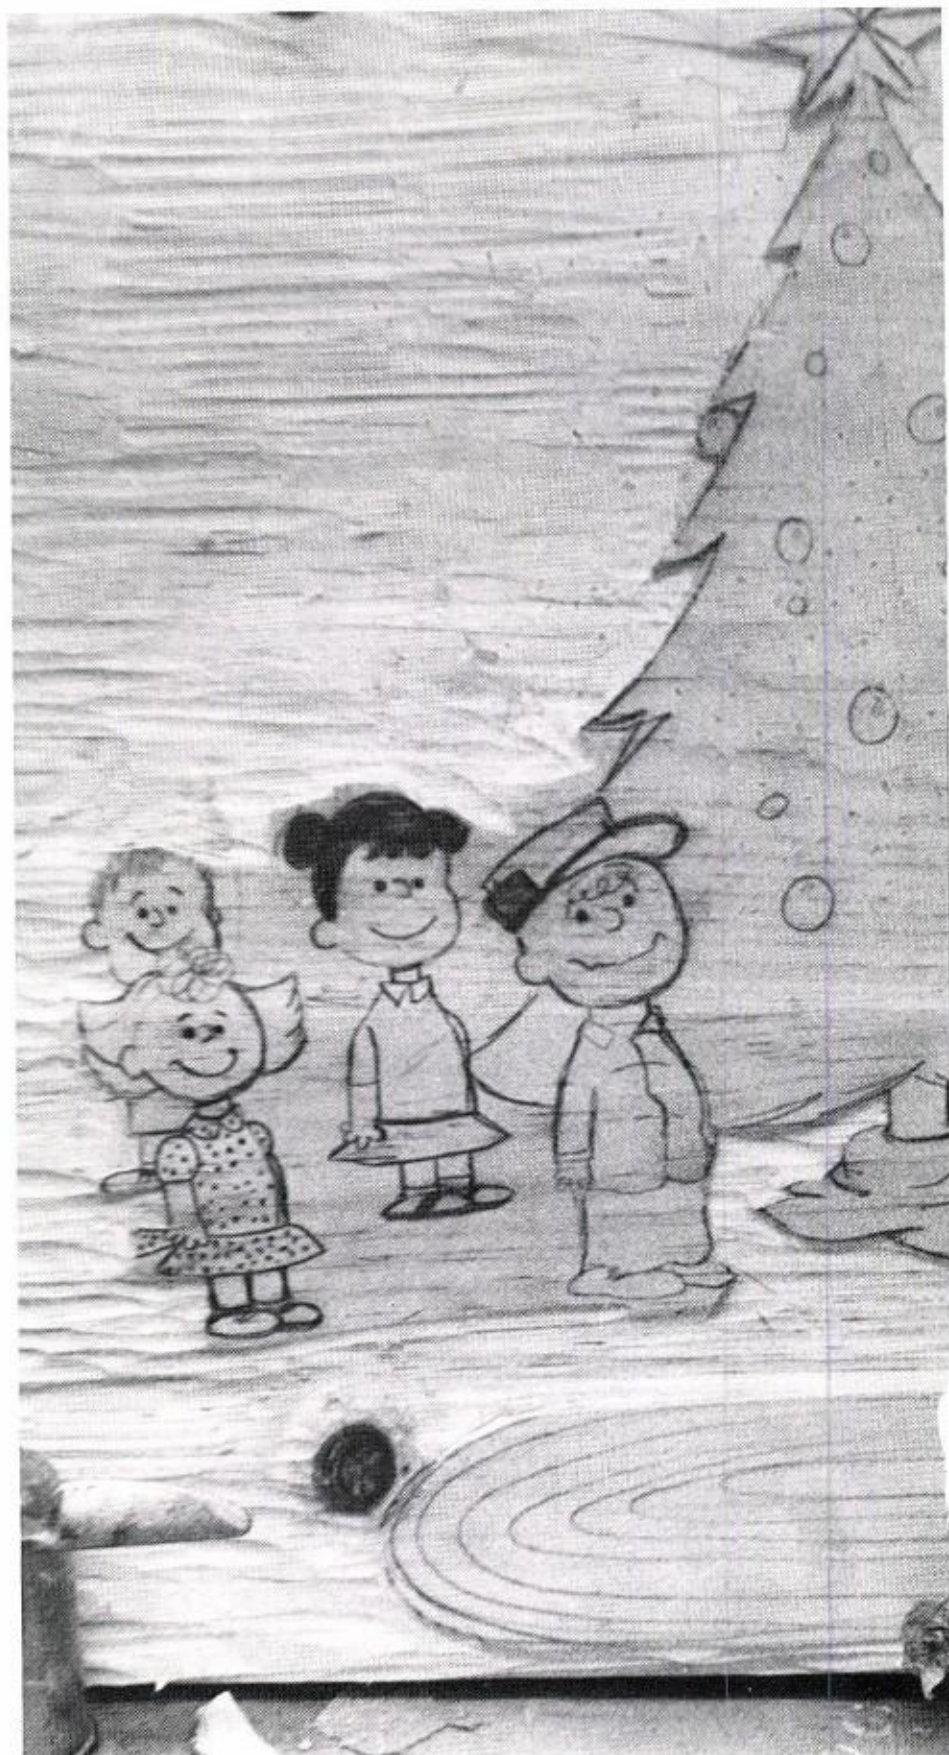

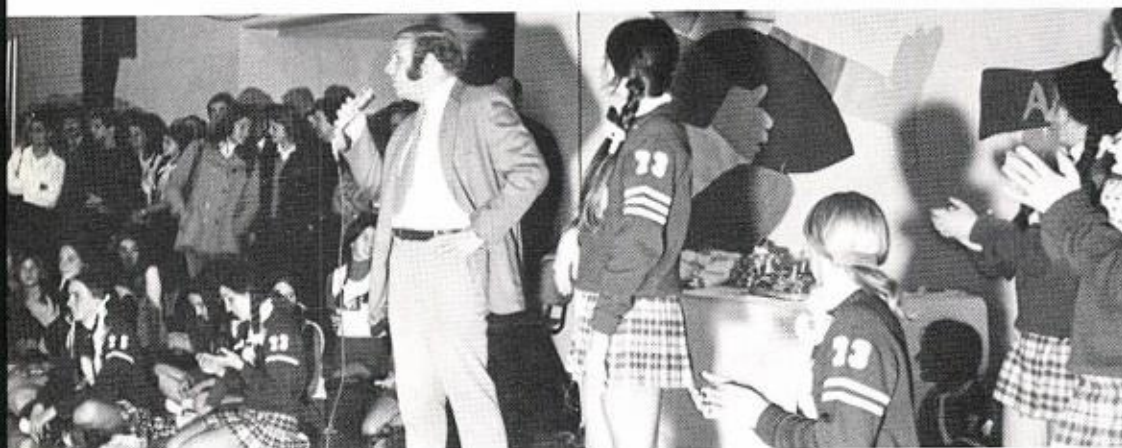

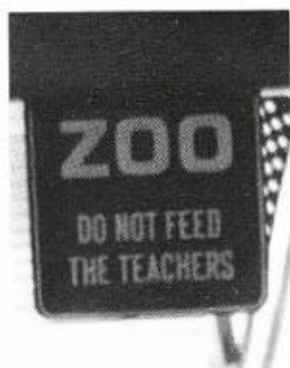

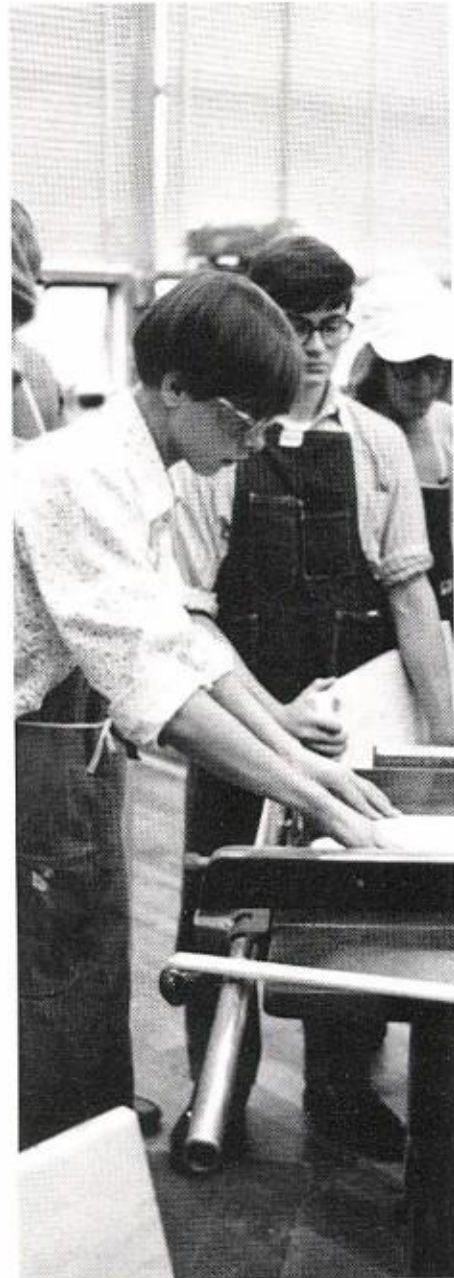

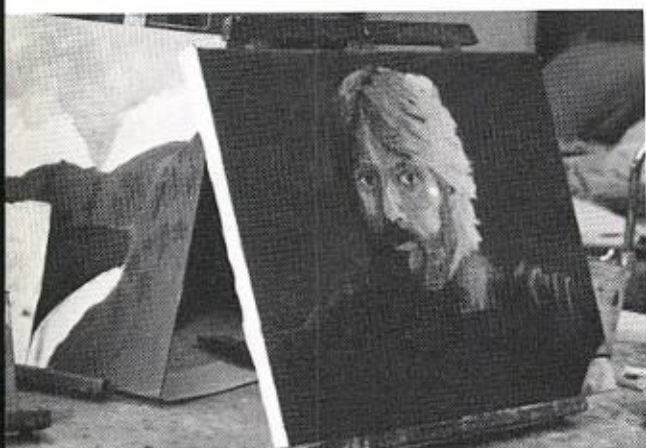

Crying, laughing, exhausting every last effort; we tell others how we feel inside

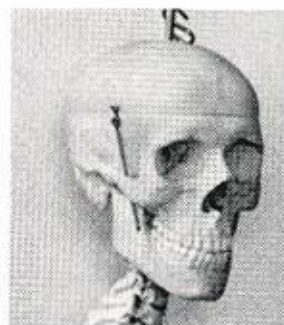

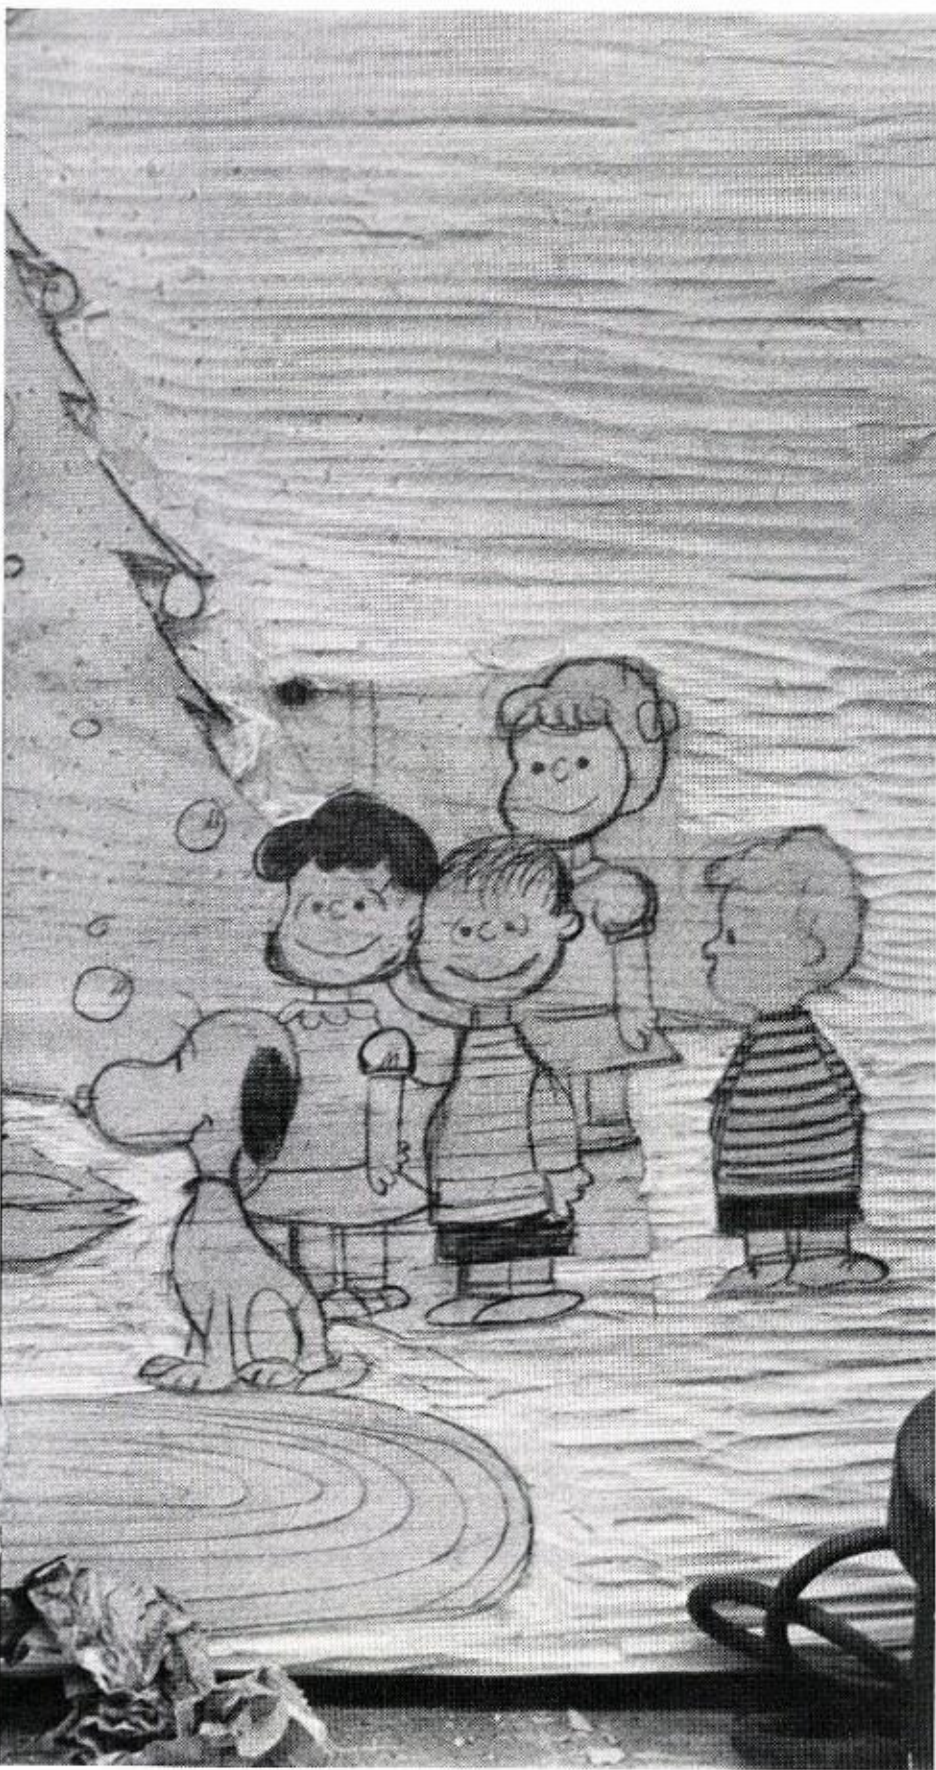

But are actions necessary?

As time goes on, we grasp and enjoy every moment of it. Our values remain the same, while we become more and more diverse.

Events

New events spark frosh day

In addition to the traditional events of Frosh Day, several new activities were incorporated into the schedule.

"Freshman Appreciation Day", as it was renamed this year, included a three-legged race, pie-eating, and volleyball games as well as cageball matches and the customary rope pull. Both classes sported large turn-outs for the different activities and participated eagerly.

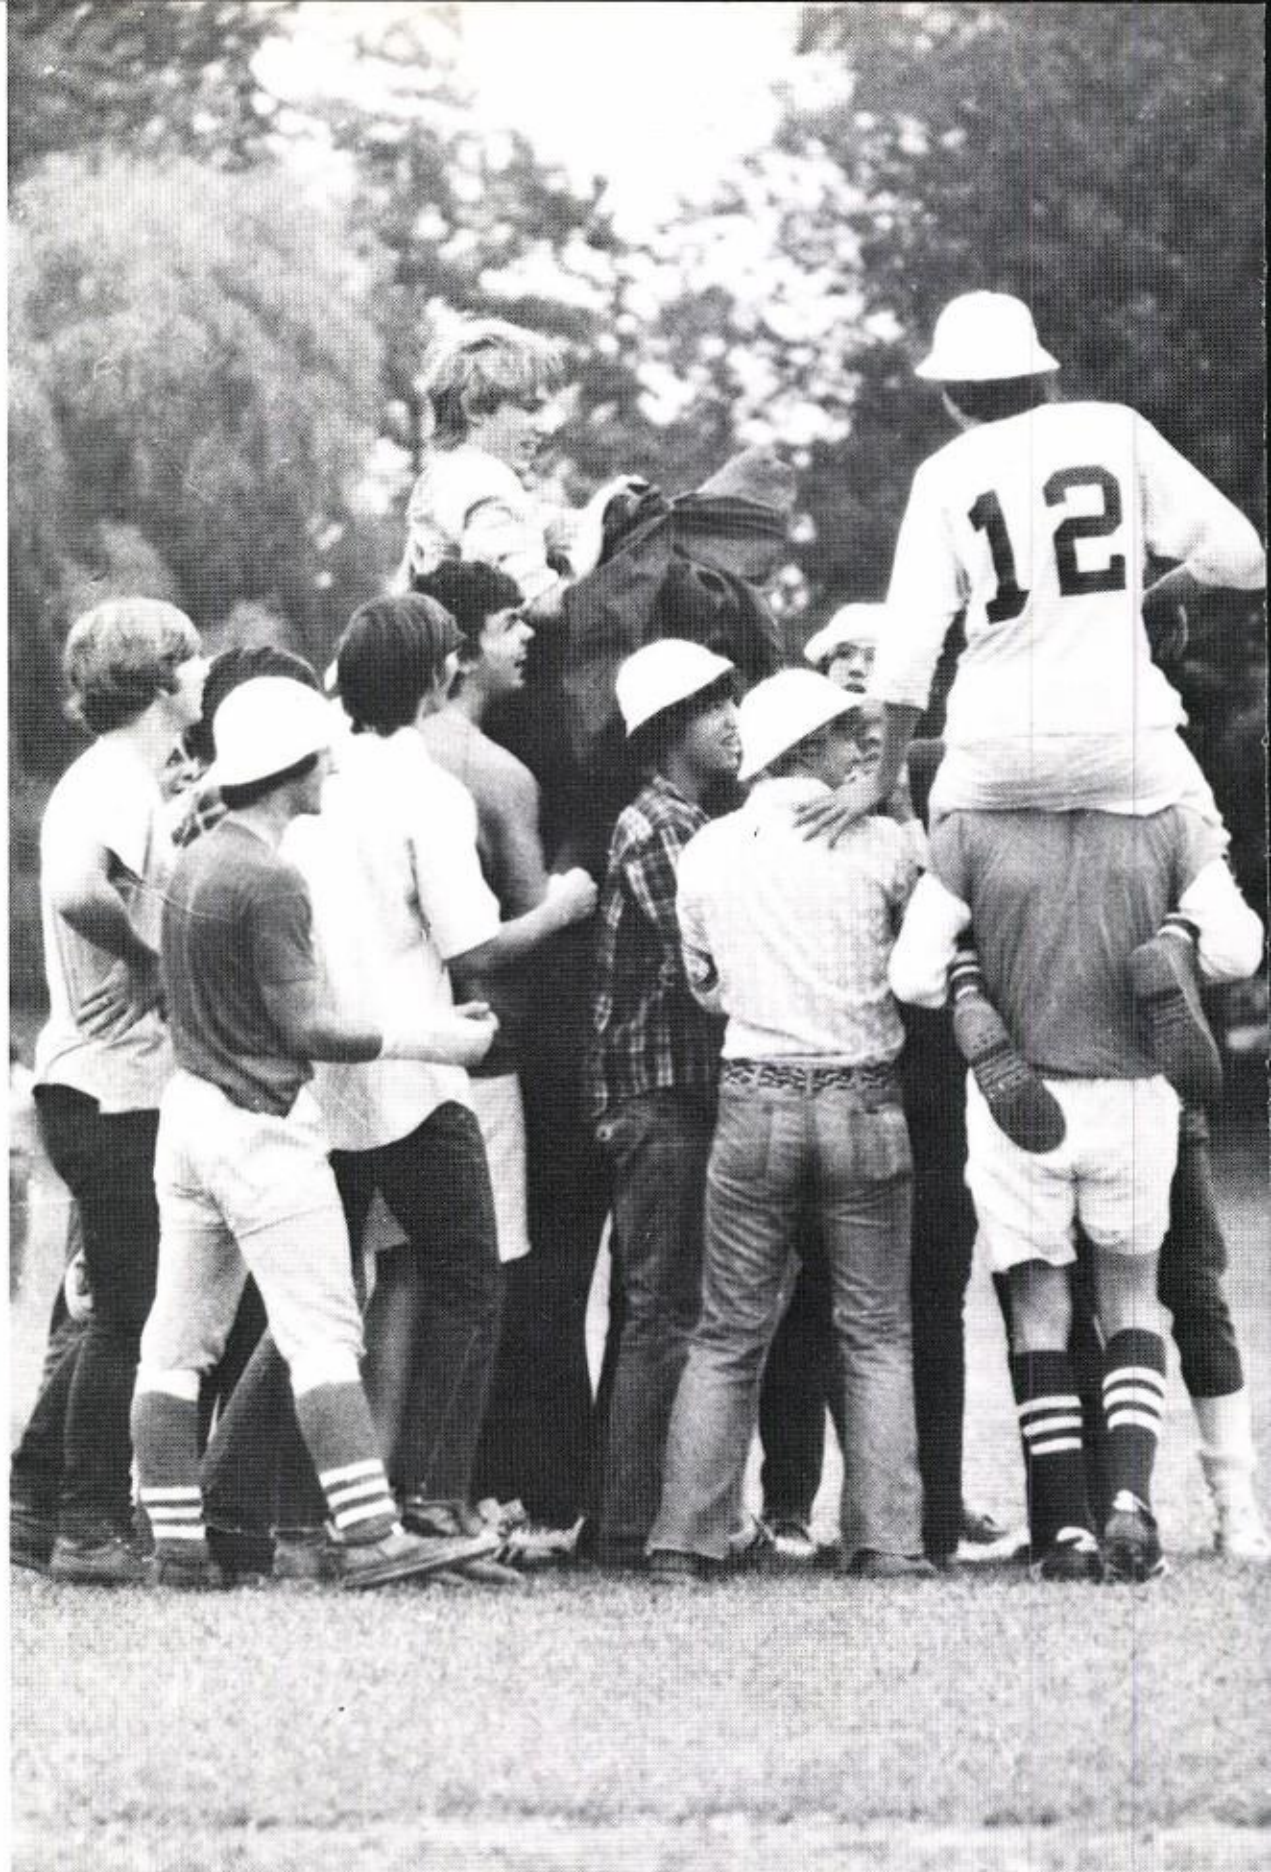

Frosh Day marked the public debut of Bubba, a boar's head purchased by Student Senate as the new spirit trophy.

At the conclusion of the festivities, Bubba was awarded to the senior class.

The pep band entertained with renditions of "Can Can" and "Joshua".

The day ended in final enthusiastic cheers by all participants.

Team support shown at rally

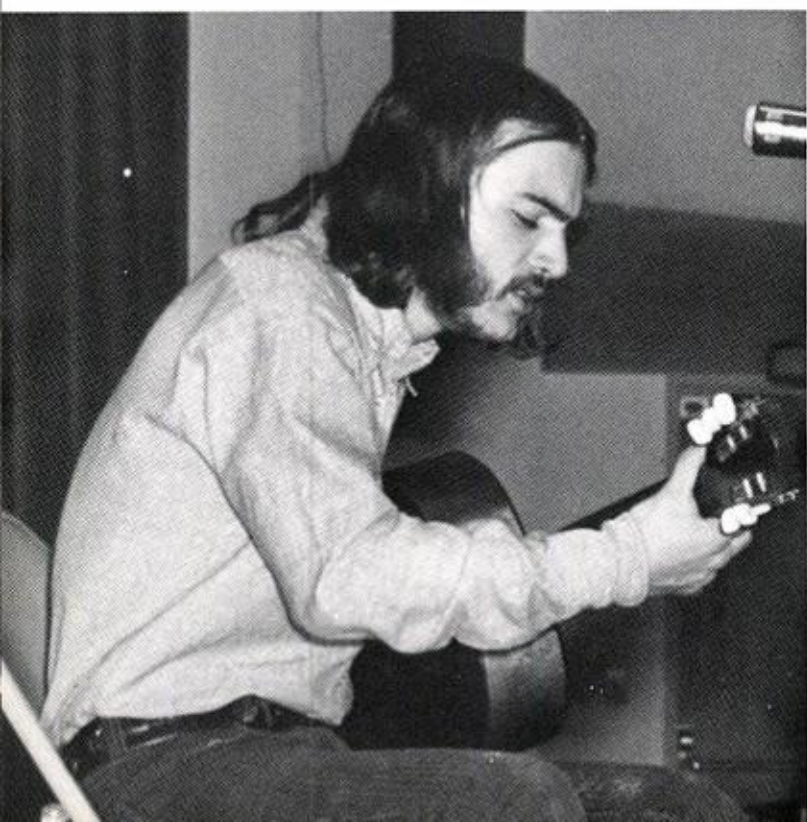

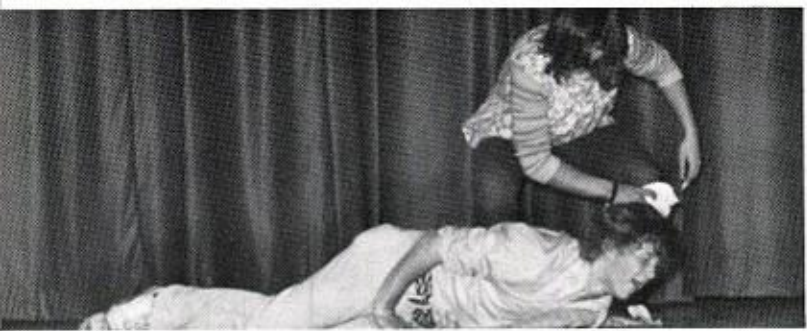

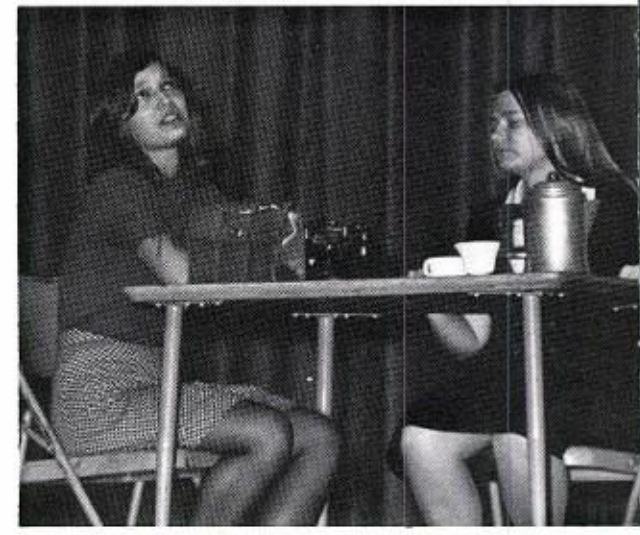

With the return of the traditional skits, the Agawam Rally drew an excited crowd. Many students took part in the numerous skits aimed at mustering spirit.

The rally also displayed its serious side as cheerleader Cherie Sheppard recited an original poem in which she expressed her feelings about seeing her last West Side football game. Mr. Gordon Pillsbury described the intense feelings experienced by the athletes as they prepared for the annual rivalry, and shared with the crowd his hopes for a victory.

Gifts were presented to senior players, who spoke encouragingly to the crowd about the up-coming game. The cheerleaders also presented a special gift to Billy May, a faithful follower of the West Side team, for his support throughout the season. An anxious crowd reluctantly left the gym as the rally came to a close.

Choir sponsors talent show

On November 17, the Concert Choir presented its annual "Terrier Talents". The show consisted of twenty acts and involved over sixty students.

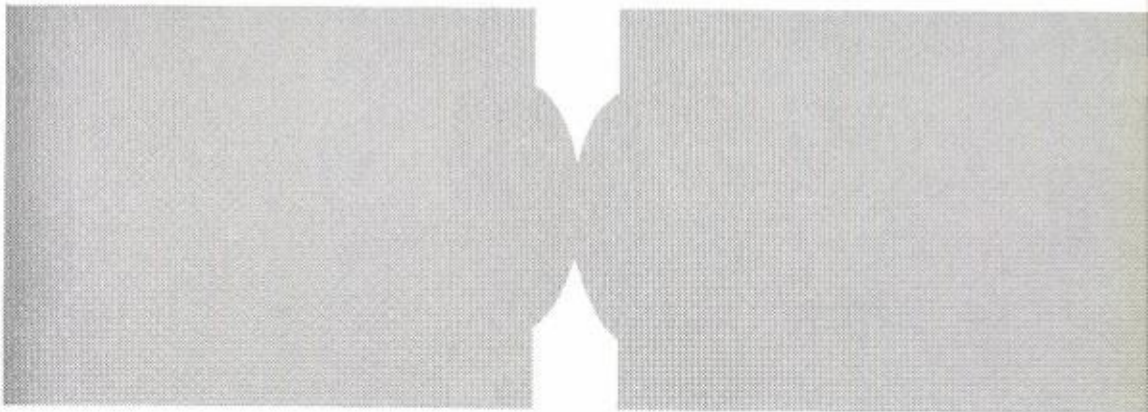

Serving as masters of ceremony were seniors Jim Sawyer and Ed Pacitti. Skits, original comedy blackouts, and other novelty acts were featured as well as singers, dancers, and instrumentalists.

The newly formed high school stage band premiered with director Wes Talbot. In addition to their own act, the stage band entertained the audience during set changes.

Director Lisa Bannick remarked, "The turnout of both cast and audience was the best in years."

Proceeds from the show helped to fund the choir's spring trip to Vermont and their annual scholarship.

'Wits' team in close match

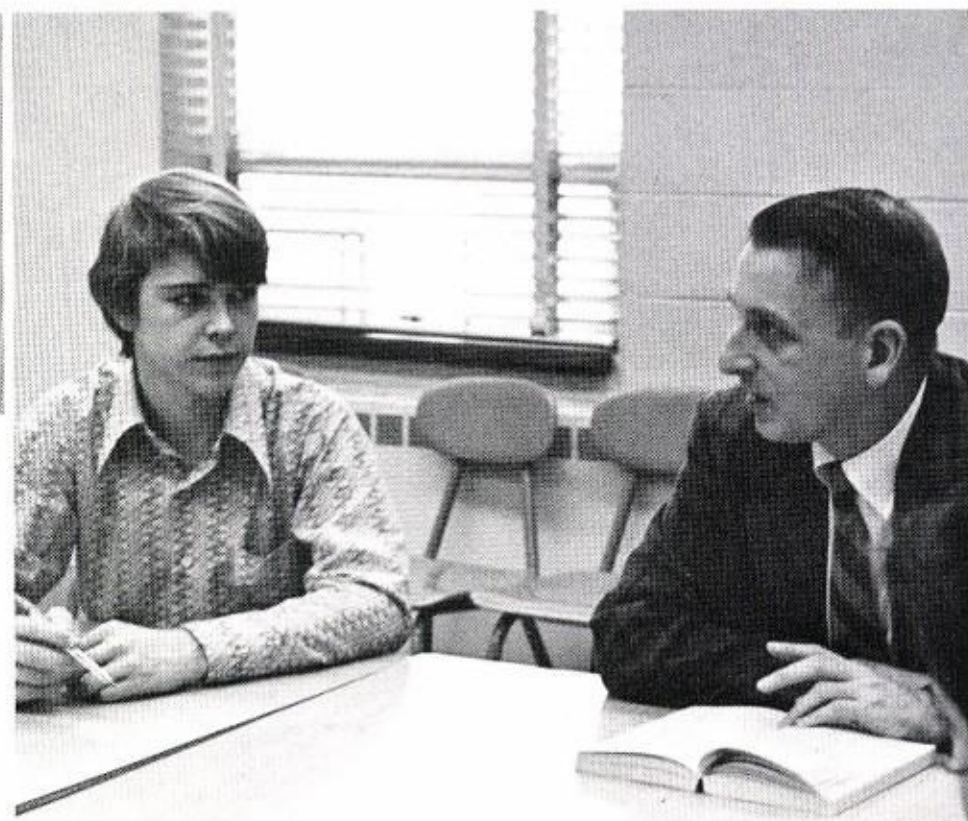

The "As School Match Wits" program proved to be an exciting and close match. Easthampton barely edged out West Side by a mere 5 point margin. The final score was 180 to 175.

Contestants for the program, televised on April 14, were Diane Burke, John Brownlee, Rod O'Connor, and Frank Alexander.

Although only four players represented West Side on the show, there were nine contestants competing with each other until the final cuts were made.

Under the direction of their advisor, Mr. Harris Tanner, players prepared for the program by learning the technique of the game. Emphasis was not put on knowing an answer, but on knowing the proper manner of answering a question.

Evaluation for one week period

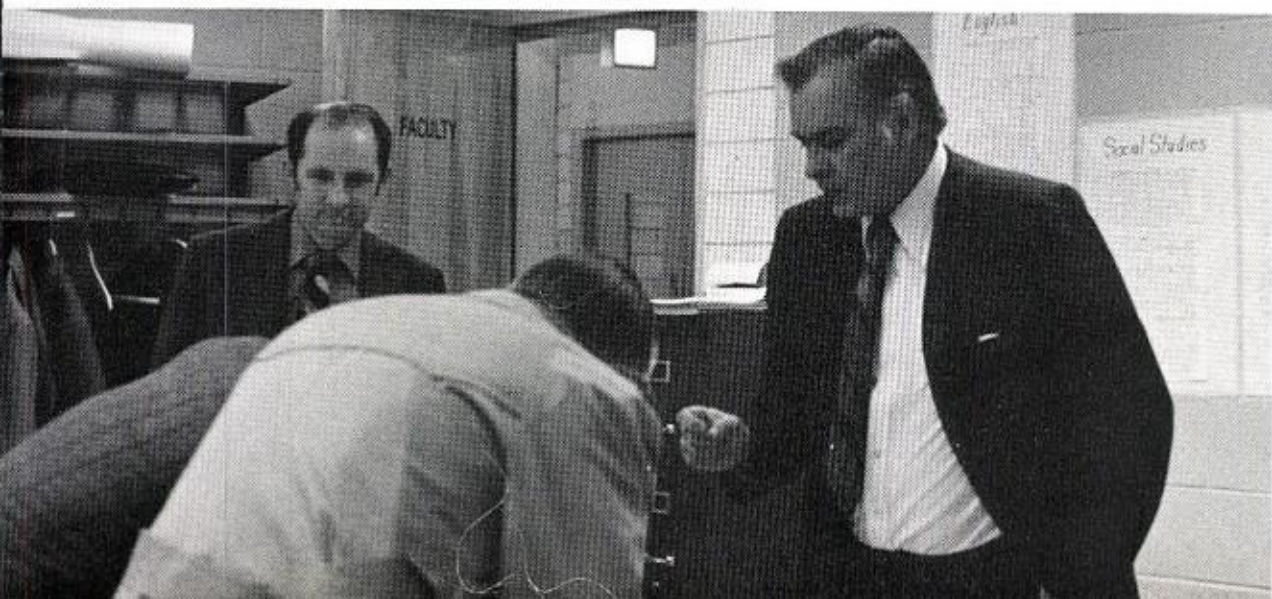

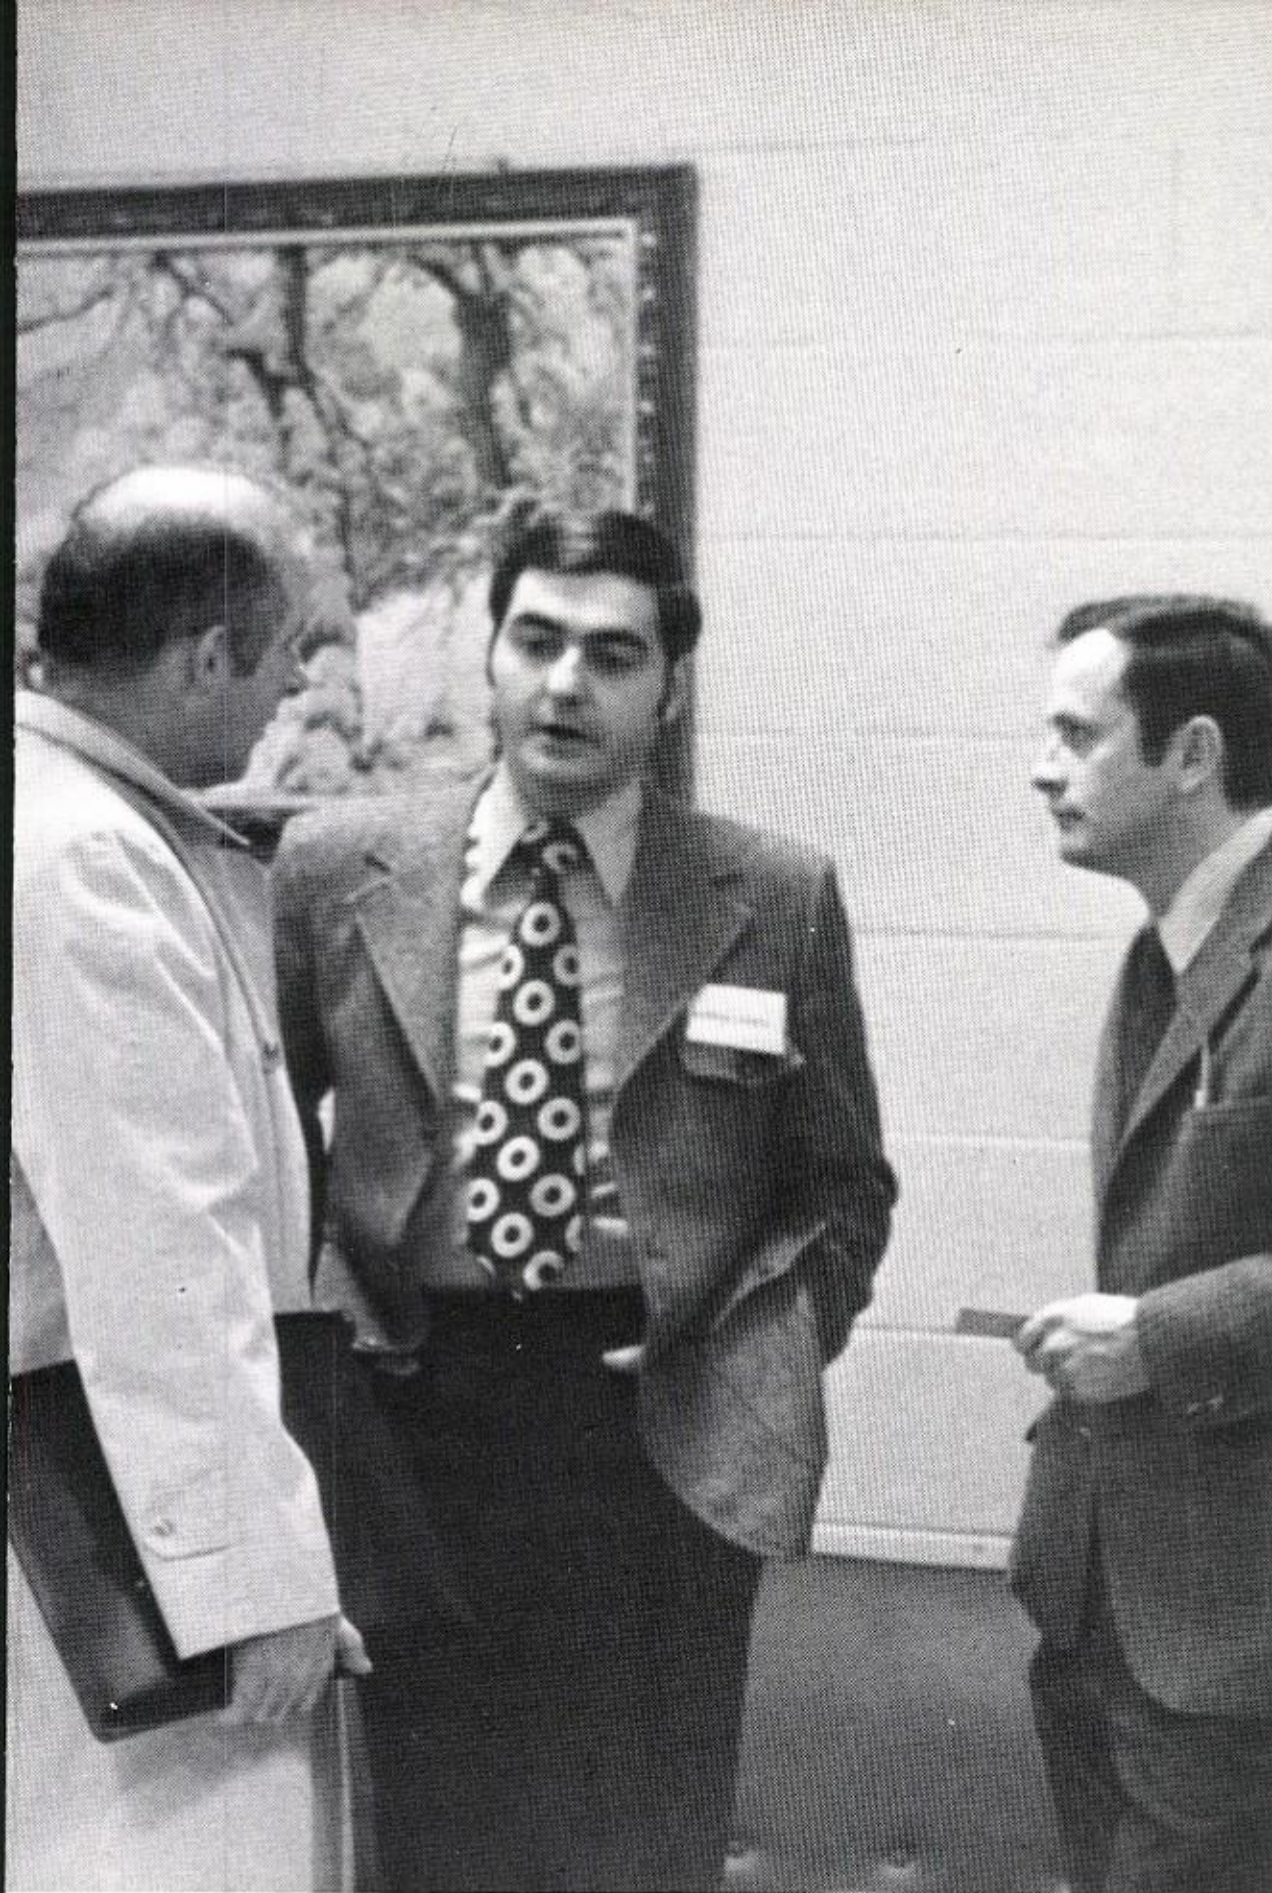

The Visiting Committee, a group representing the New England Association of Schools and Colleges, evaluated West Side High for one week in November.

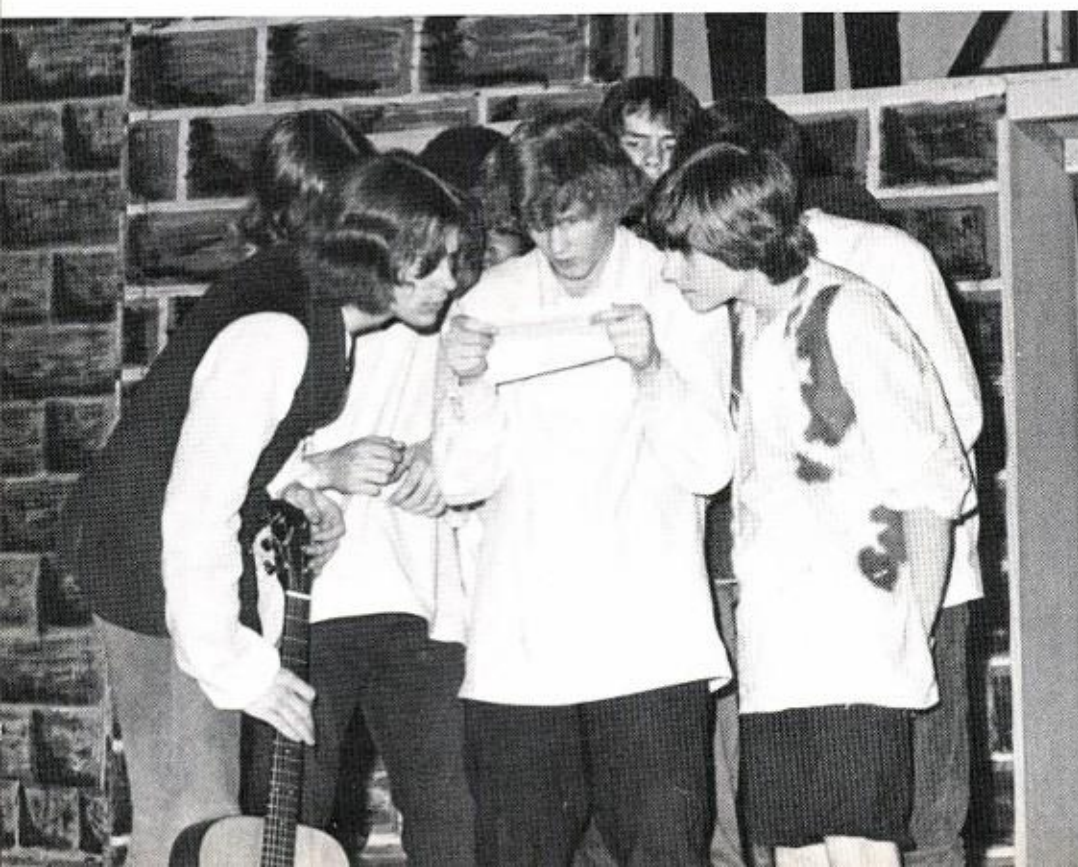

The committee included teachers, administrators, college representatives, and officials from the Massachusetts Department of Public Health.

The basic aim of the school evaluation was to improve the quality of learning and the total educational environment of students.

Evaluators checked the availability of facilities necessary to serve student needs. A ten year accreditation resulted from this evaluation.

Record patrons for 'La Mancha'

A record number of patrons and sponsors marked "Man of La Mancha" as one of the most successful musicals in past years.

The play concerned the adventures of Cervantes' immortal knight-errant Don Quixote and his squire, Sancho Panza, and involved a cast of about 40 students.

Directed by Mr. John D. Shuster, the annual musical was presented on April 5, 6, and 7. Mrs. Kathleen Delorey and Mr. John Hartford assisted.

Mock Prom held March 10

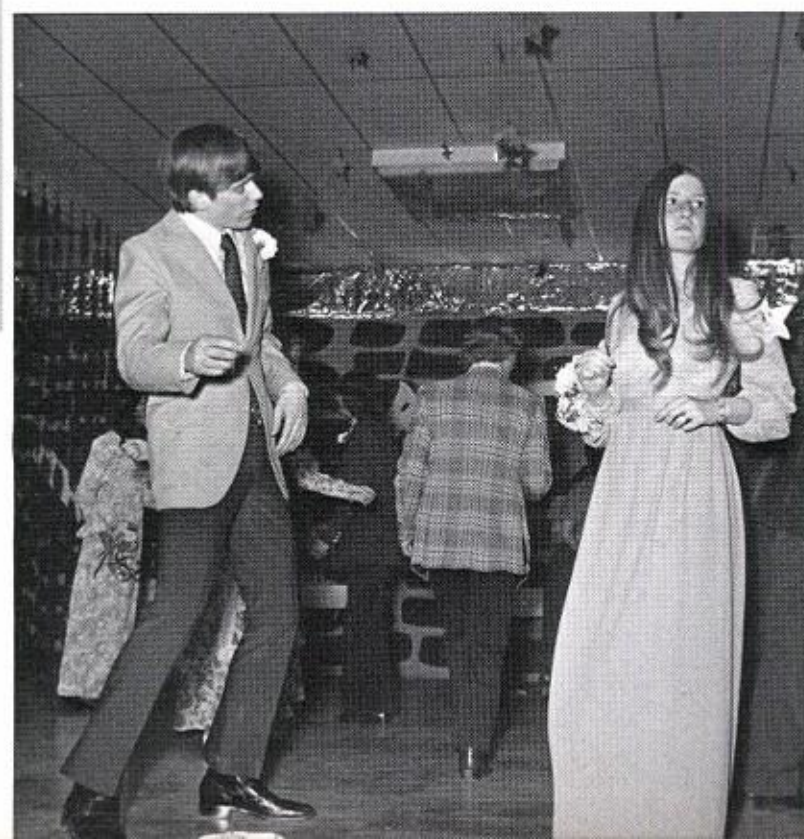

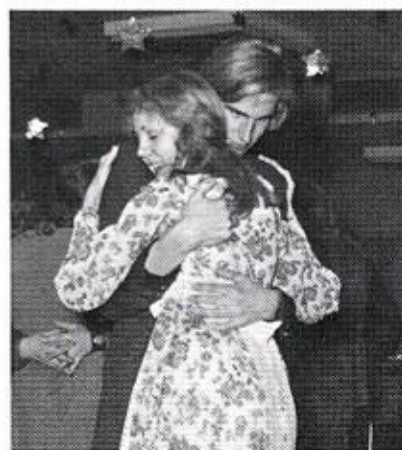

Sophomore committees worked for many weeks to transform the cafeteria into a fitting location for their Mock Prom, held on March 10.

With the aid of paper streamers, tin foil stars, and a medieval setting, 56 couples enjoyed the atmosphere which reflected the theme "A Time For Us."

Music provided by "Granpaws" enabled couples to choose their own manner of dancing. A variety of refreshments were served throughout the evening.

The highlight of the evening was the traditional crowning ceremony. A special committee chose the queen and her court.

Prom third year at Chez Josef

For the third consecutive year, the Junior-Senior Prom was held at Chez Josef in Agawam on May 18th.

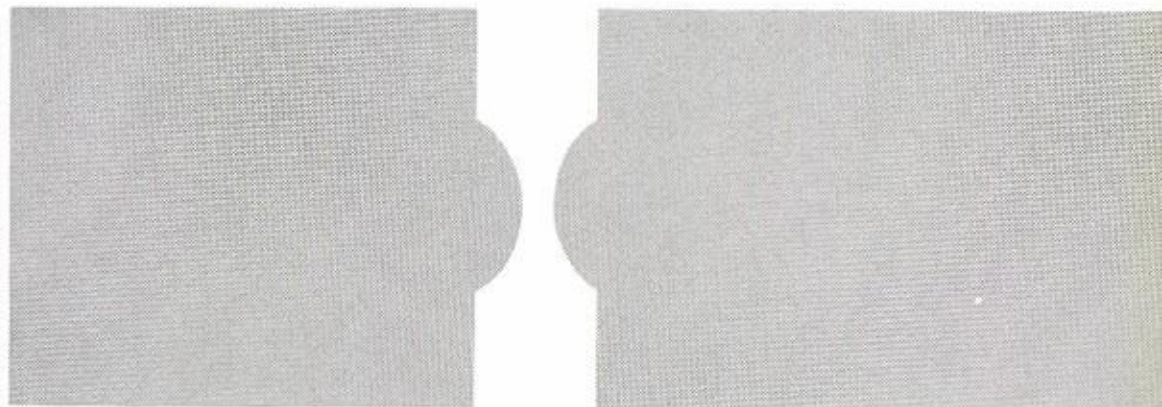

Those attending enjoyed a meal which consisted of Hawaiian carrots, salad, roast beef, and baked potatoes.

Grenier Ducharme Studios handled the business of photographing couples for a five dollar charge.

After the Grand March, the judging committee, composed of teachers and administration, selected the queen and her court.

Following the crowning, the couples danced to the theme song "Colour My World" played by Siras Hale.

Awards given on class day

Though smiling faces and cheerfulness were commonplace, an air of solemnity pervaded Class Day exercises.

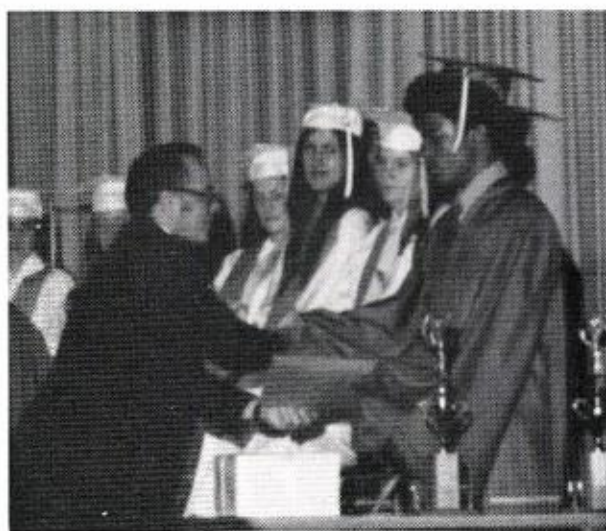

After four years of effort, seniors were honored and those with outstanding records received their awards.

Scholarships and prizes were handed out by Mr. Shields to more than 100 in the graduating class. Before these presentations, a class history, class will, and class address were given to the senior class by class members.

Besides remembering the past, class leadership was passed on to the incoming seniors and the class gifts were presented to the school in memory of Paul Janis and Mr. Joseph Courtney.

Climaxing the day's events was the awarding of the outstanding senior trophy to Mary Panda, amid cheers of those assembled.

Class Banquet; semi-formal

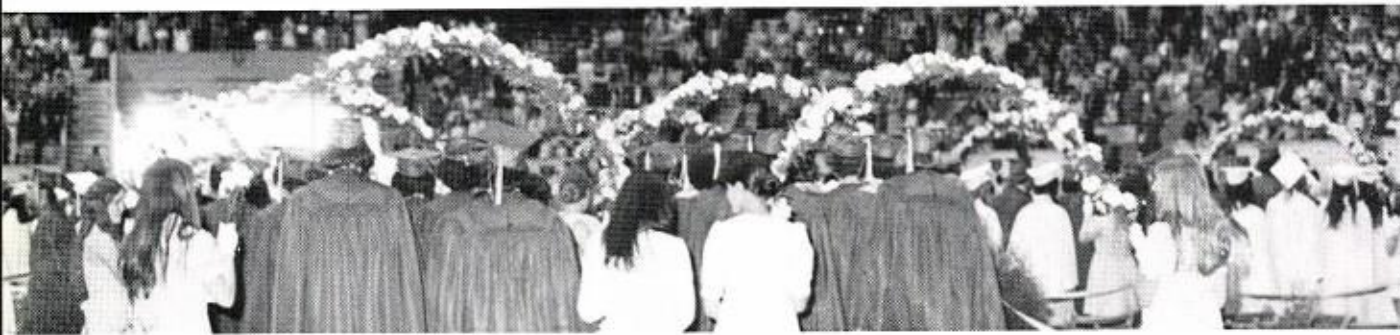

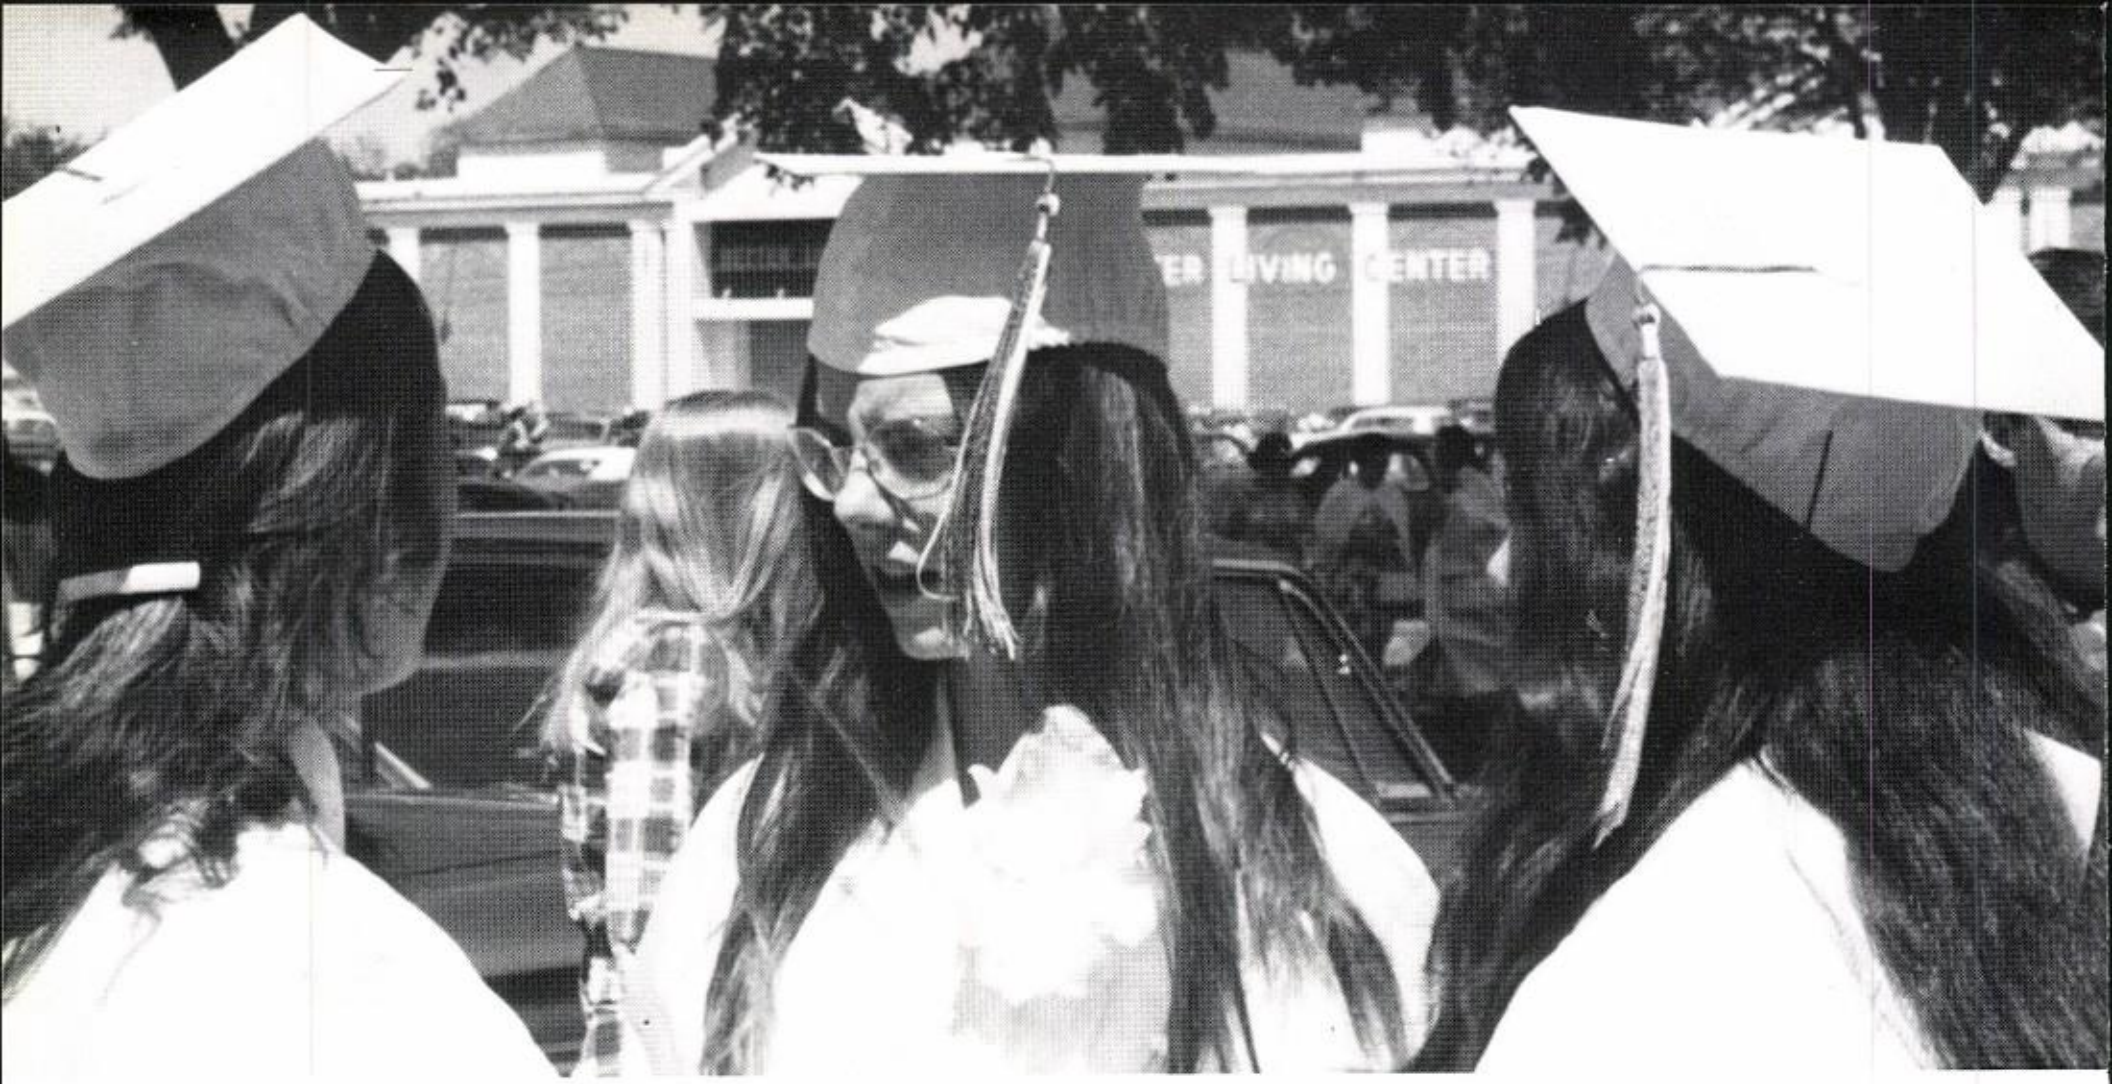

Decked out in their finest apparel, many members of the senior class had their final get-together at the Senior Banquet held at the Treadway Inn.

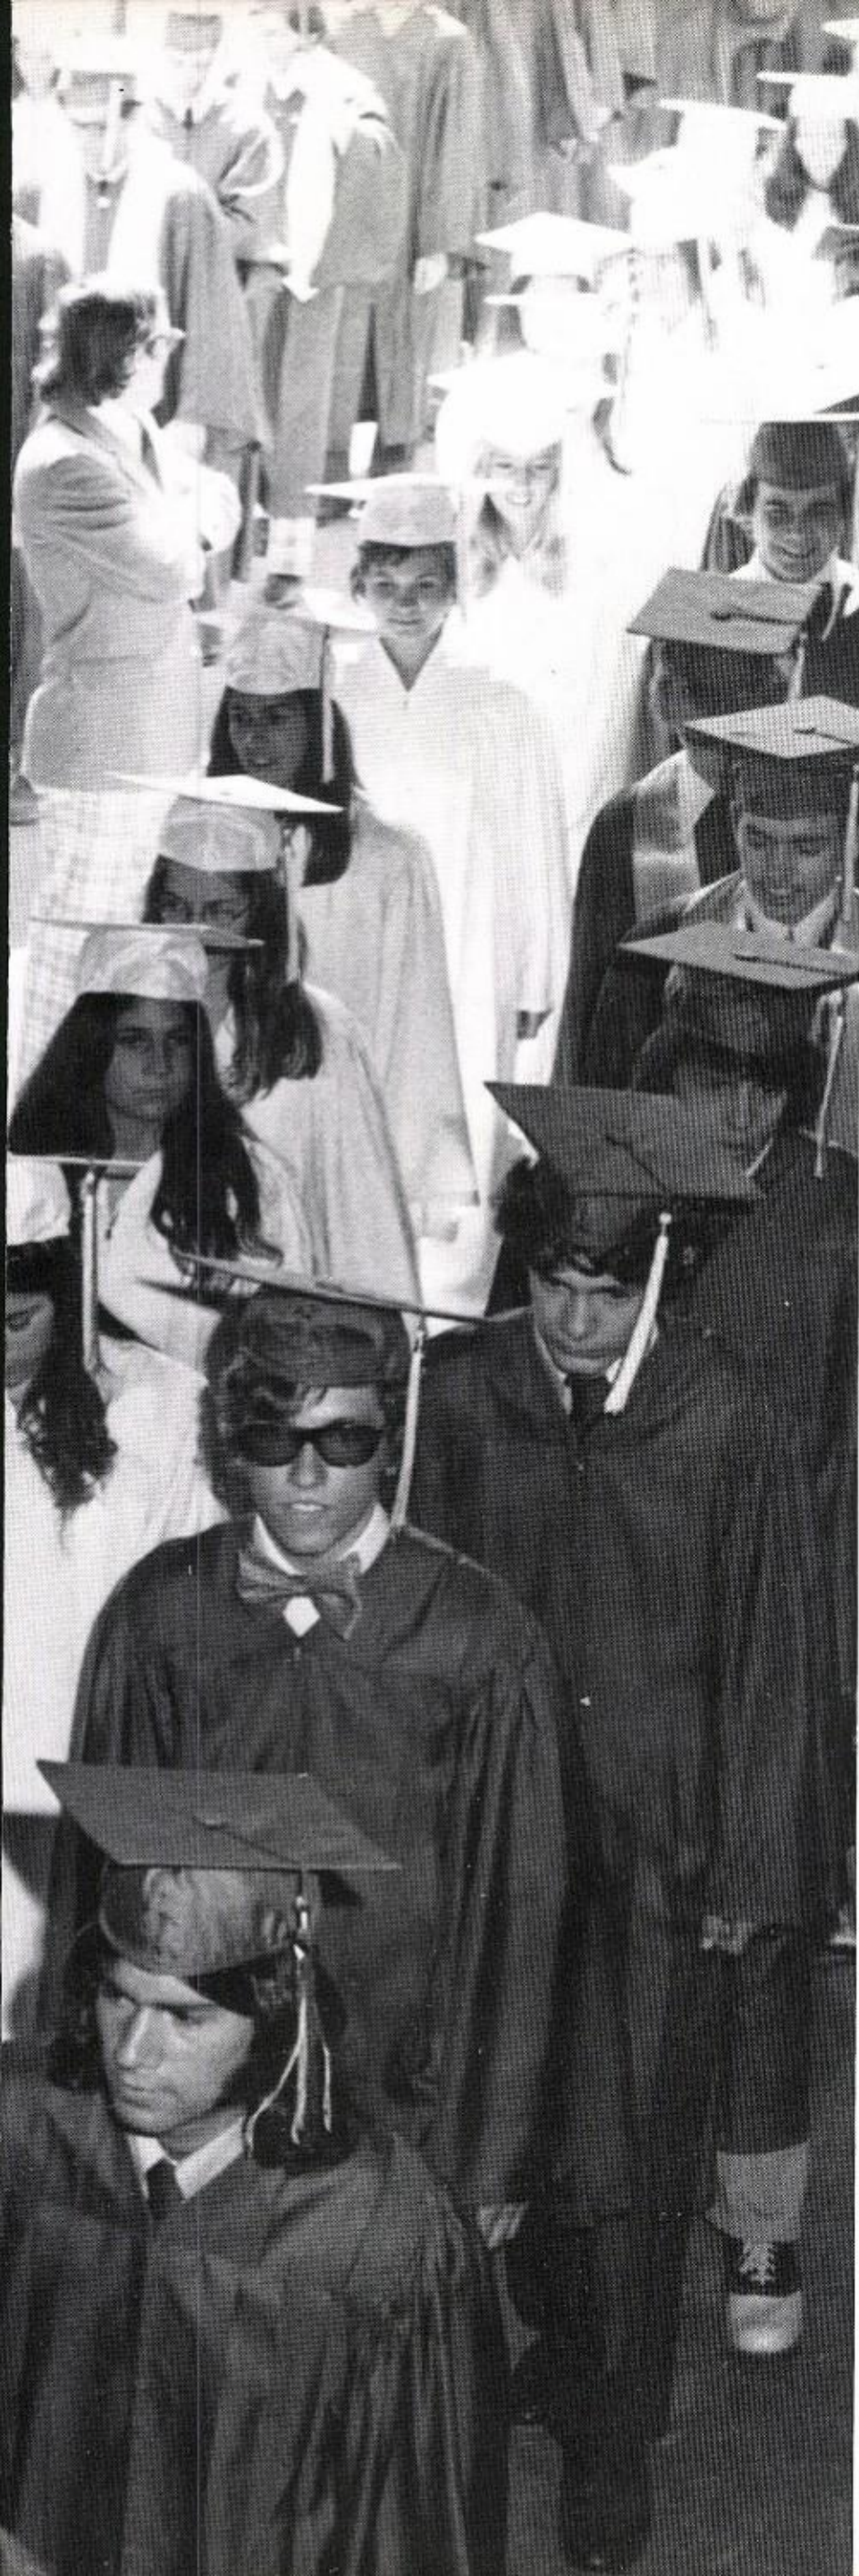

The evening consisted of a roast beef dinner and dancing to the sounds of Siras Hale.

As the night progressed, the sounds of boogey and grease replaced the usual dance music and old dance steps were the rule. Many of the chaperones joined in and showed the seniors how to really dance. Exhausted after several hours of strenuous activity, seniors worked their way home as the band finished playing.

Ovation for valedictorian

In preparation for the graduation ceremony held on June 3, 458 members of the Senior class assembled in the Coliseum at 1:00 o'clock. Exactly 2 hours later, watchful friends and relatives viewed the entrance of the Seniors to "Pomp and Circumstance" played by members of the band.

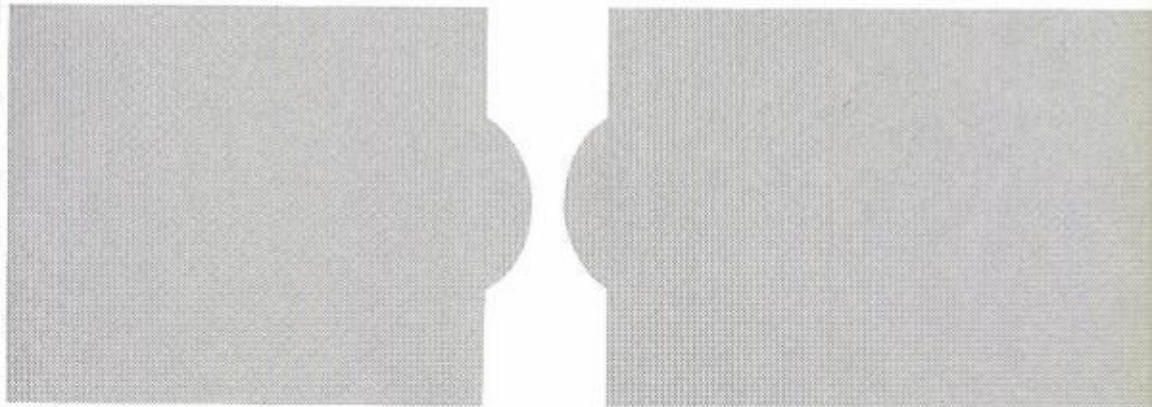

After the Invocation, addresses were given by Salutatorians Annette Bodley and Diane Mundt and Valedictorian Mary Panda. Superintendent Mr. Chris Grammaticas presented the class and, Chairman of the School Committee Dr. James Sady, Principal Mr. Robert Shields, Vice-Principal Mr. George Bauman, and Mr. John Siepietowski distributed the diplomas to the graduates. Academics

E.E.P. plan instituted

Last year, a board of five students met with the school superintendent and the school committee to talk. When the conversation was over, senior privileges, under the new name of the Expanded Education Plan had been granted. The institution of EEP was the result of a desire to improve communications between the administration and students.

Along with increased student responsibility, the administrators had to take on new roles, as mock parents and advisors.

English electives add interest

One communications course and one literature course were required under the new English system. The English department offered a variety of selections such as "The Bible as Literature," "Reading the Newspaper," "Modern American and British Poetry," "Minority Literature,"

"Contemporary Fiction" and "Creative Writing." "Greeks Classics" included works by Plato and Sophocles, and "Visual Literature" utilized the students' previous knowledge of films. Plays were acted out and discussed in the new "One Act Play" course.

History expands courses offered

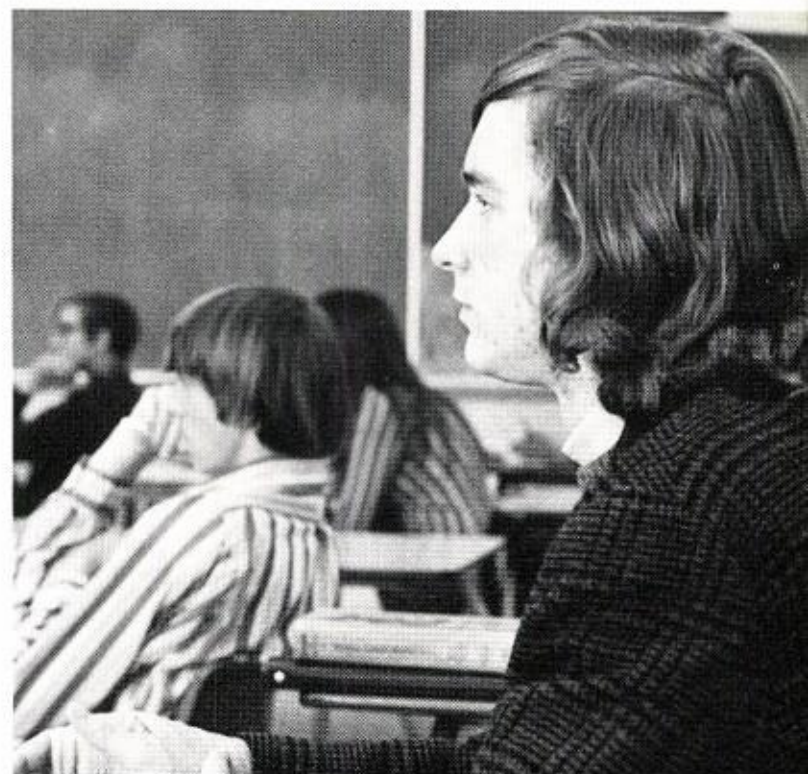

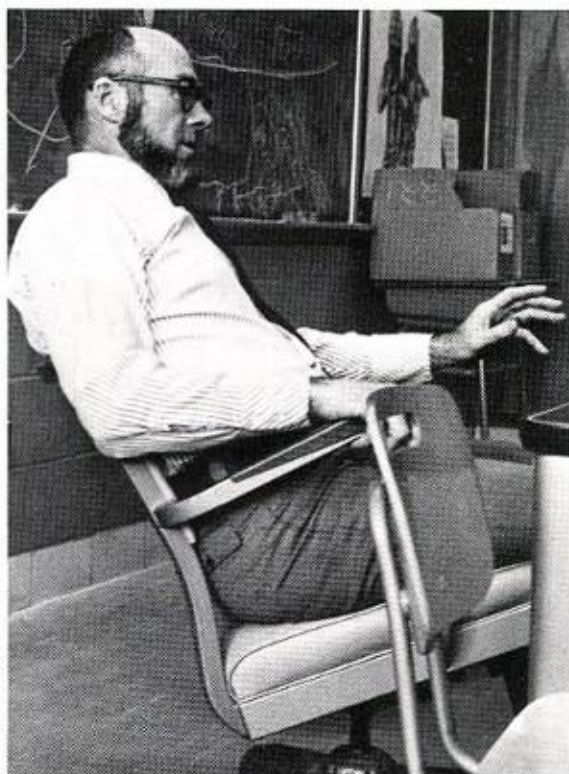

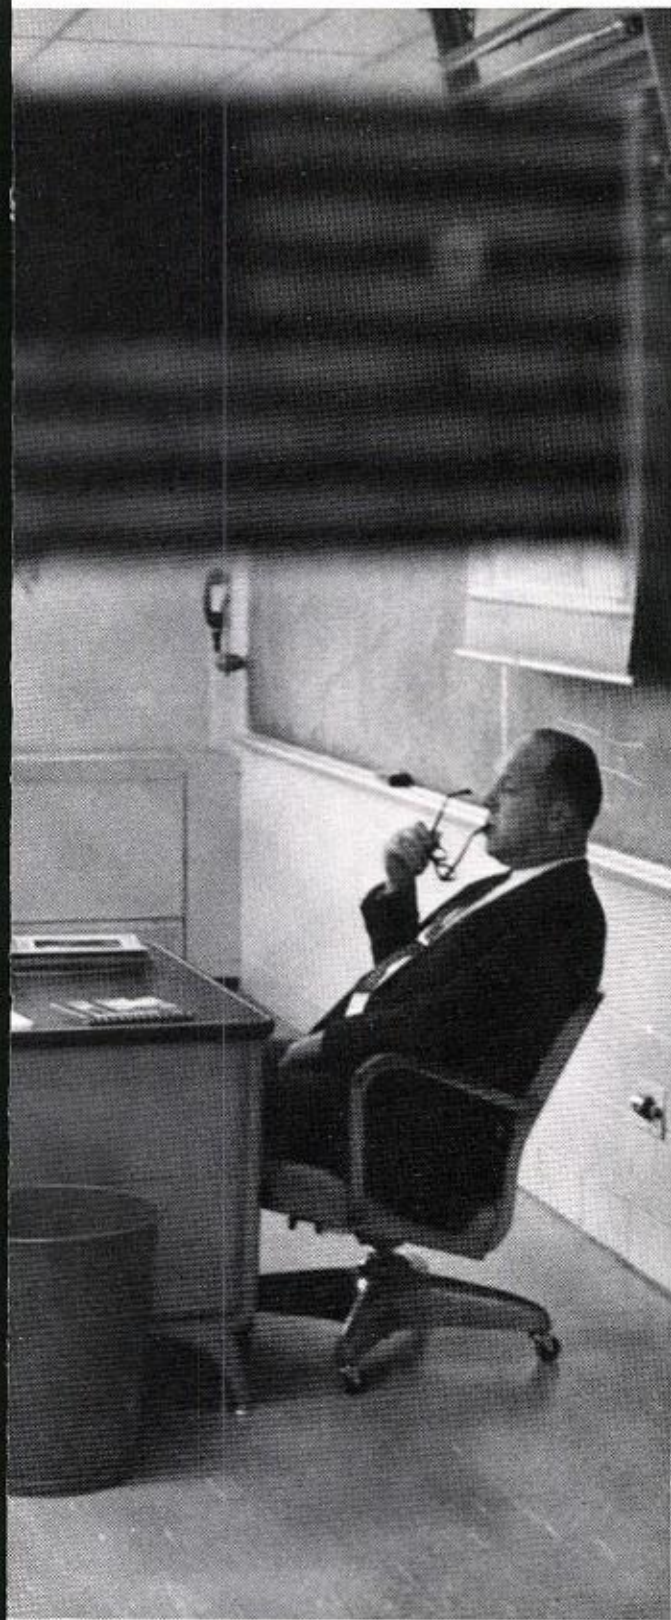

Geography provided a new approach, using its basic principles to study the entire world.

New courses included sociology, which was an introductory course, and Reform in American history, which covered the changes that took place throughout the history of the U.S.

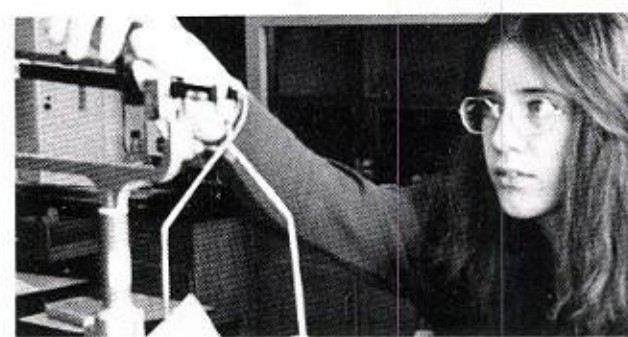

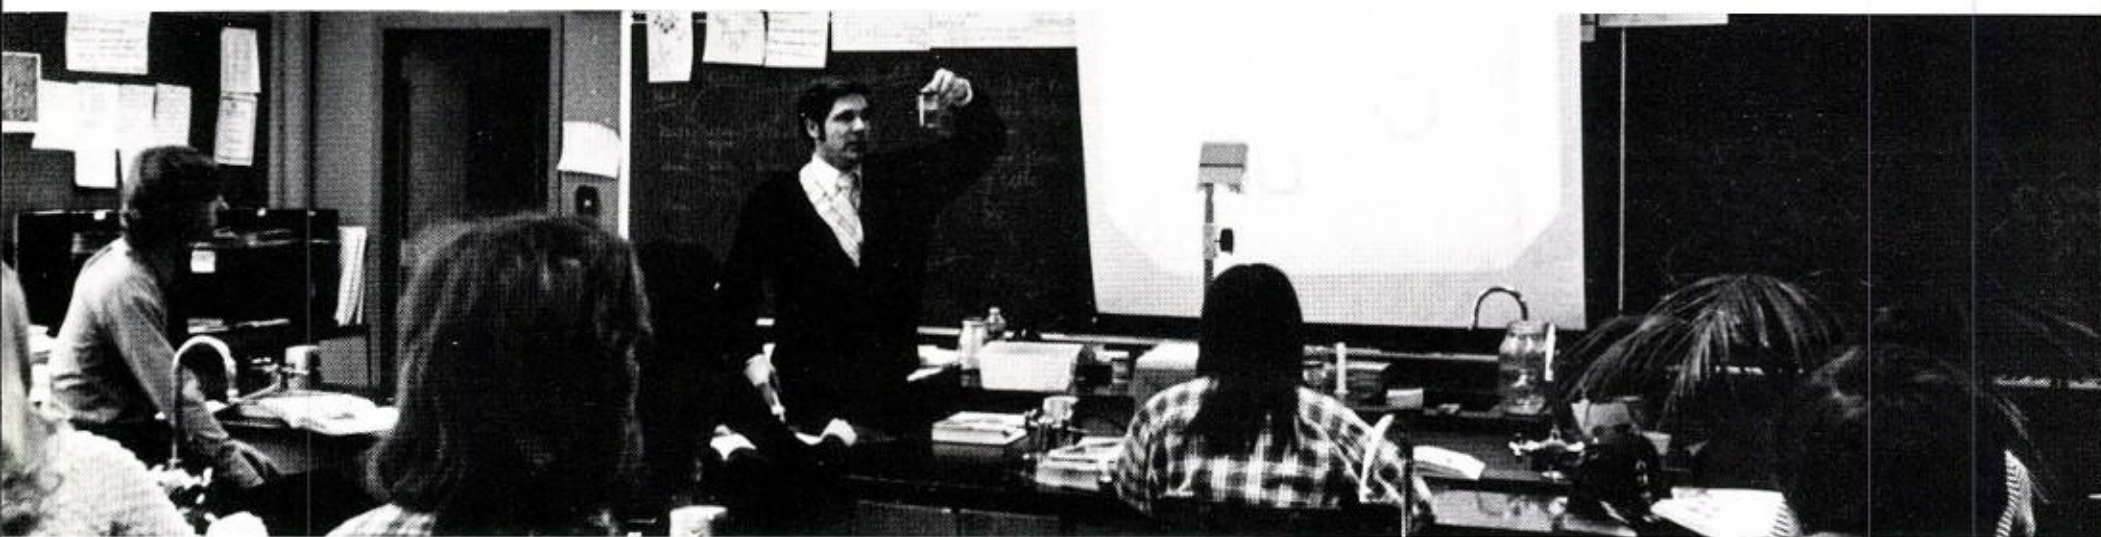

Political Science and Local Parties and Politics were arranged to enable students to become involved in local politics and to work with the candidates.

Students participated in the local elections which took place on February 17.

New innovations change science

Engineering Concepts Curriculum Project became one of the newest courses in the Science Department curriculum. ECCP was a laboratory science course, offered to qualified juniors and seniors. Designed to cover several areas related to science, it included pollution and population control.

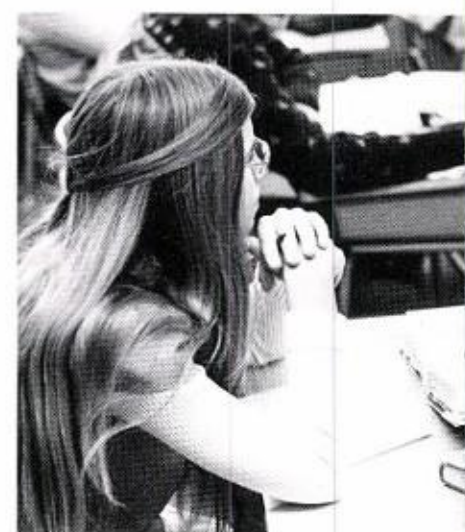

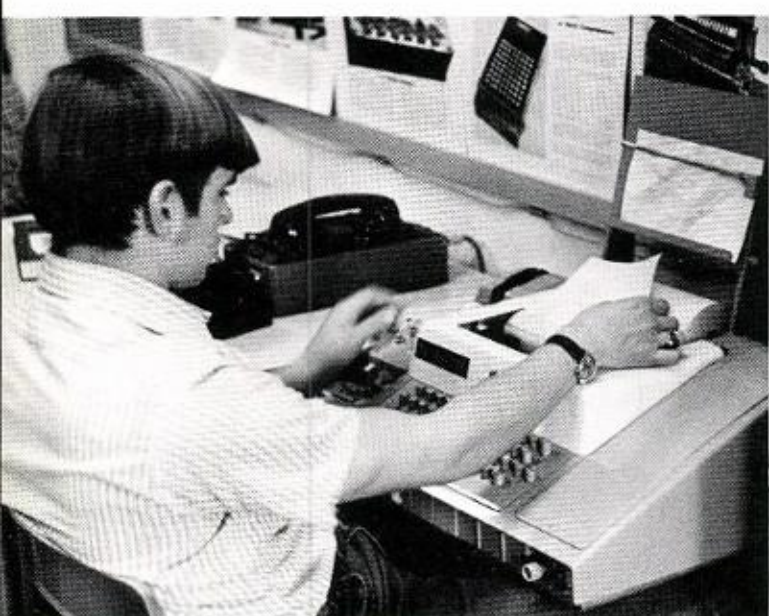

Biology took a new approach to studying the body. It recognized the molecular basis of all things. The course also geared the students to lab work.

In contrast to other years, biology followed the textbook closely, in hopes of increased student understanding.

Semester courses new math concept

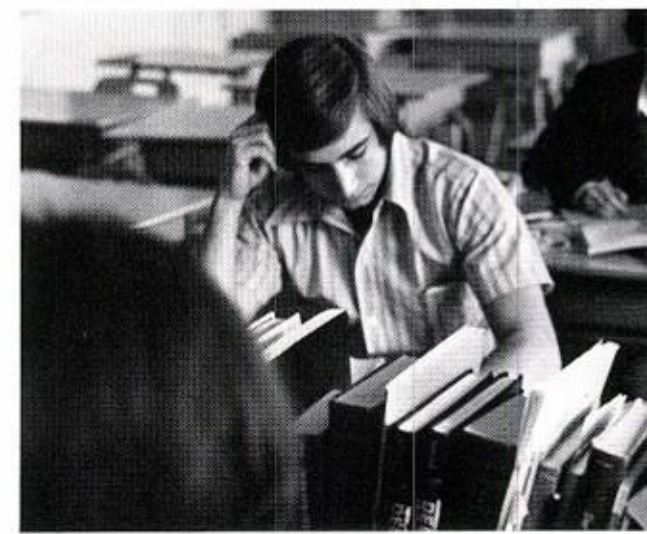

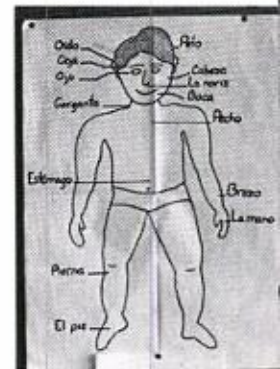

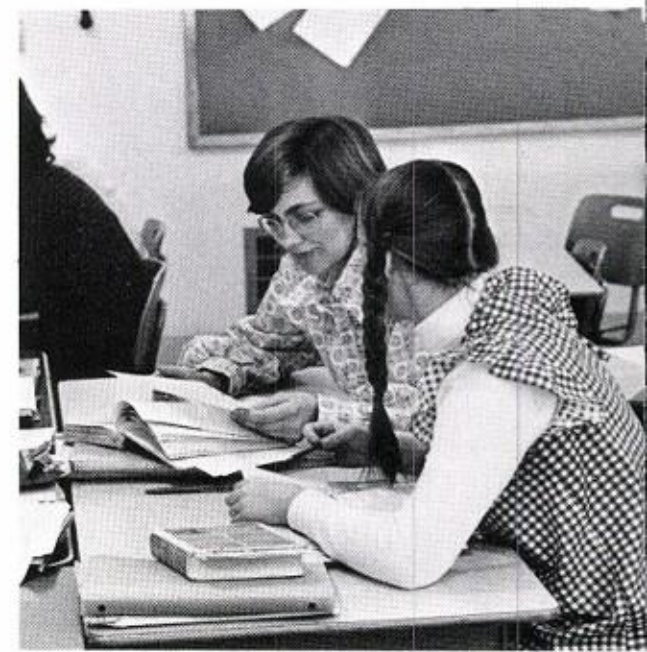

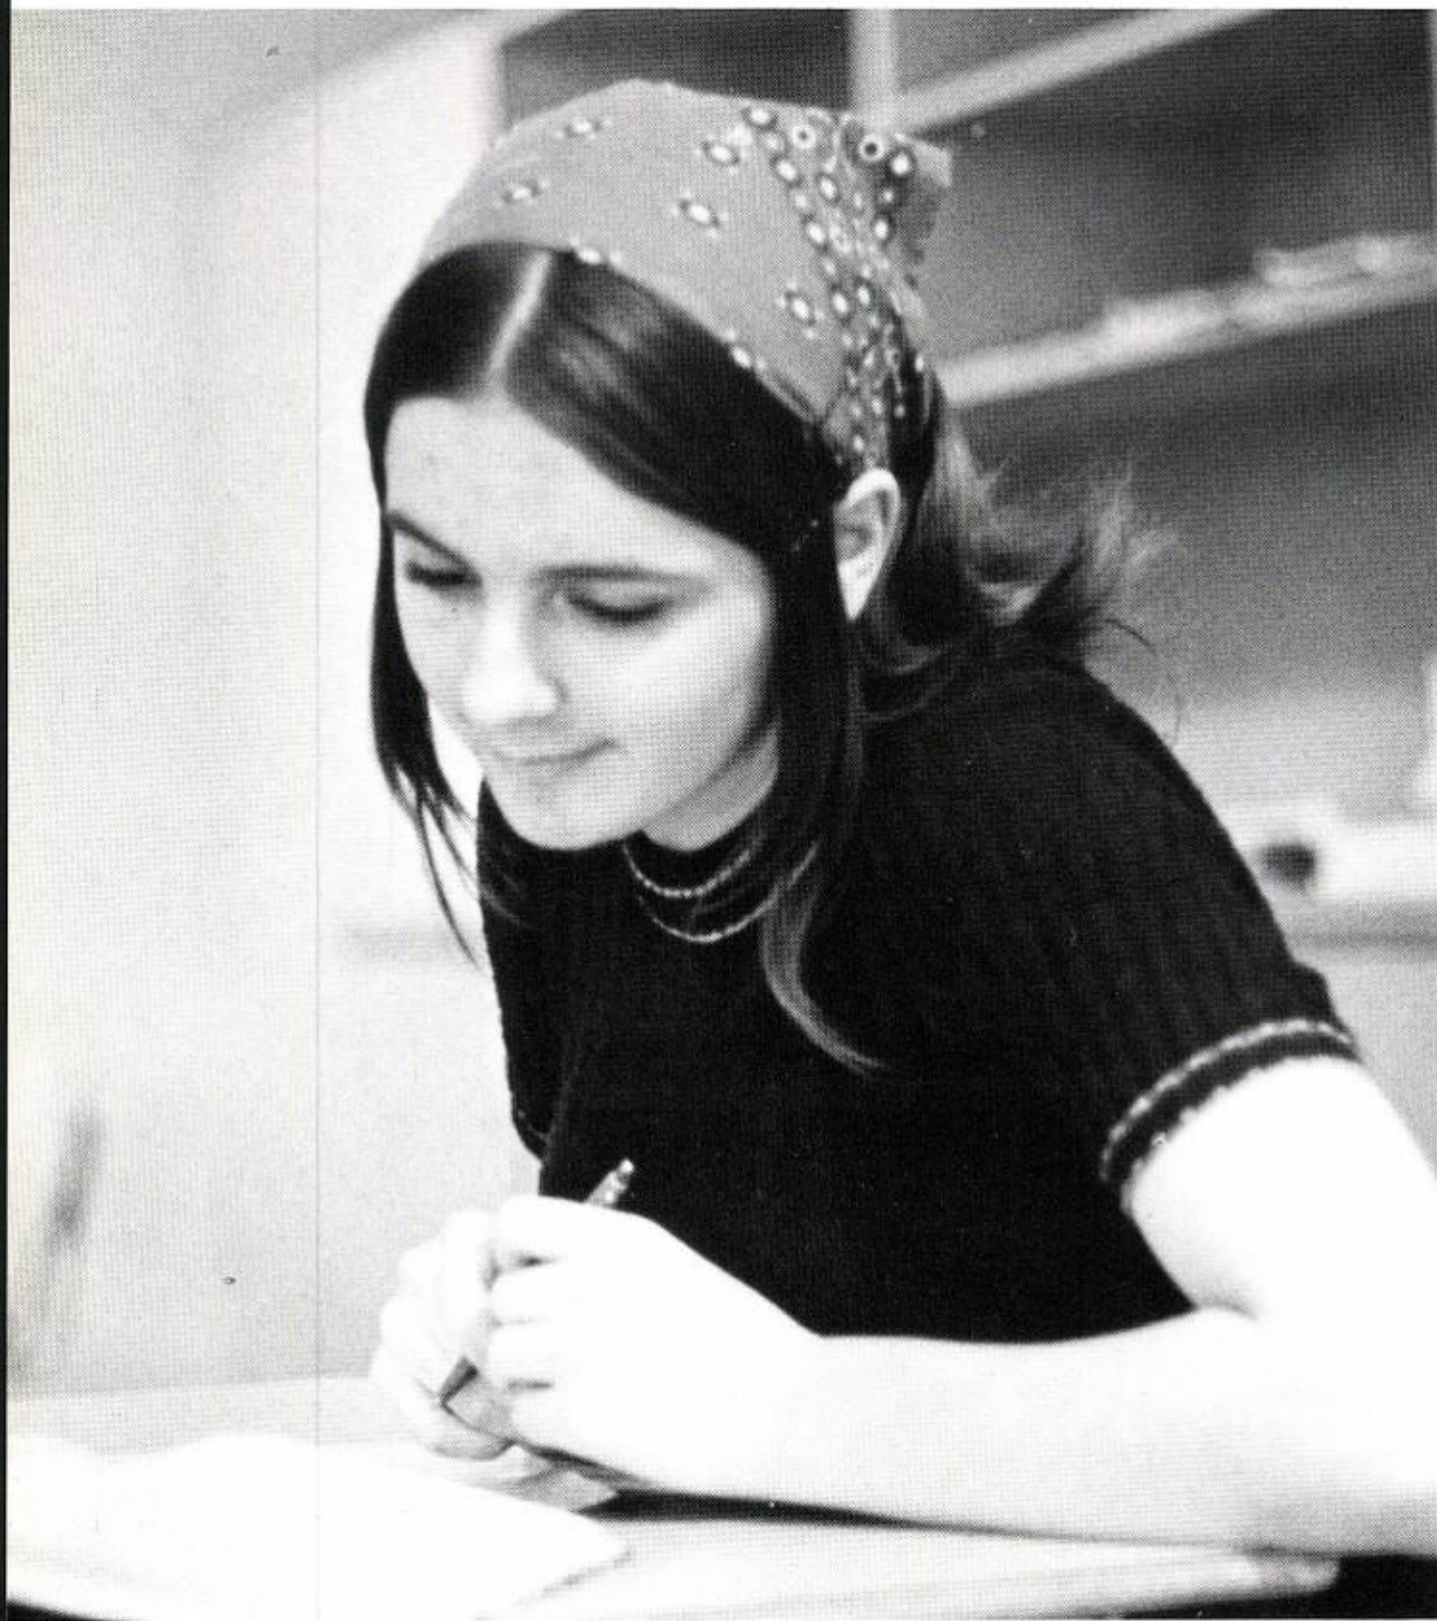

Instituted as a half-year course, Computer Math paired with an Applied Math course fulfilled the requirements of some Math students. The first half of the year was dedicated to delving into the expanded uses of the computer. Projects entailed writing programs used to help students find answers to involved computations.

Practicality was the reason Applied Math enjoyed a successful semester. Income tax returns, buying and selling stocks and budgets kept the class active and involved. Team teaching was a facet of education being explored to augment regular classes for General Math 10.

French V new course offered

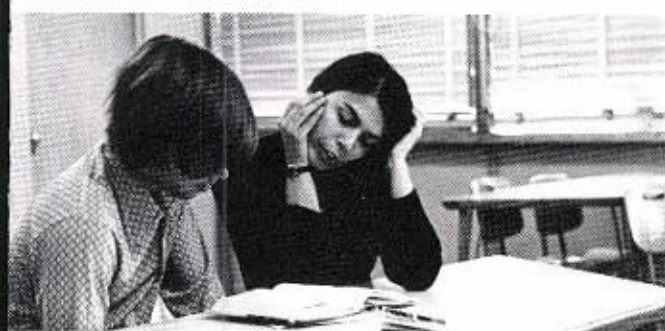

Advanced Placement French V was offered this year with a choice of theory or literature. Students readily absorbed works by such authors as Voltaire resulting in a solid literary background.

Spanish students concentrated on the historical and cultural aspects of the country as they pursued areas of classical literature and Spanish art. A Boston trip to see Simon Blasco and his flamenco ballet troupe and guitarist Adonis Puertas climaxed studies.

German scholars were inducted into a new German National Honor Society.

D.E. acquires student store

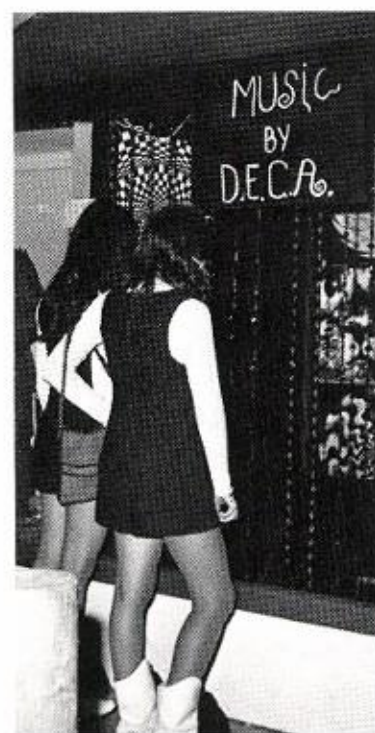

As in the past, the function of the Business Department was to gear students to vocations, to provide occupational training and to place them into job situations.

Interdepartmental cooperation was conceived as a means of increasing educational opportunities. The Math and Business Departments planned a joint field trip to the New York Stock Exchange. The Distributive Education department took control of the student store.

Under the direction of Roger Rioux, D. E. students rearranged room 629 and began the retail sale of several items never before offered.

Fine arts permit self expression

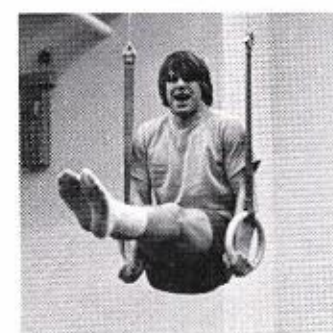

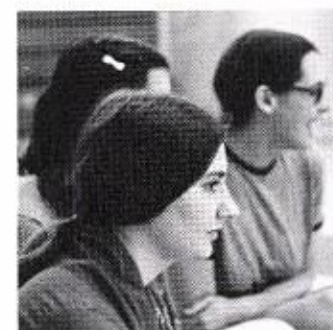

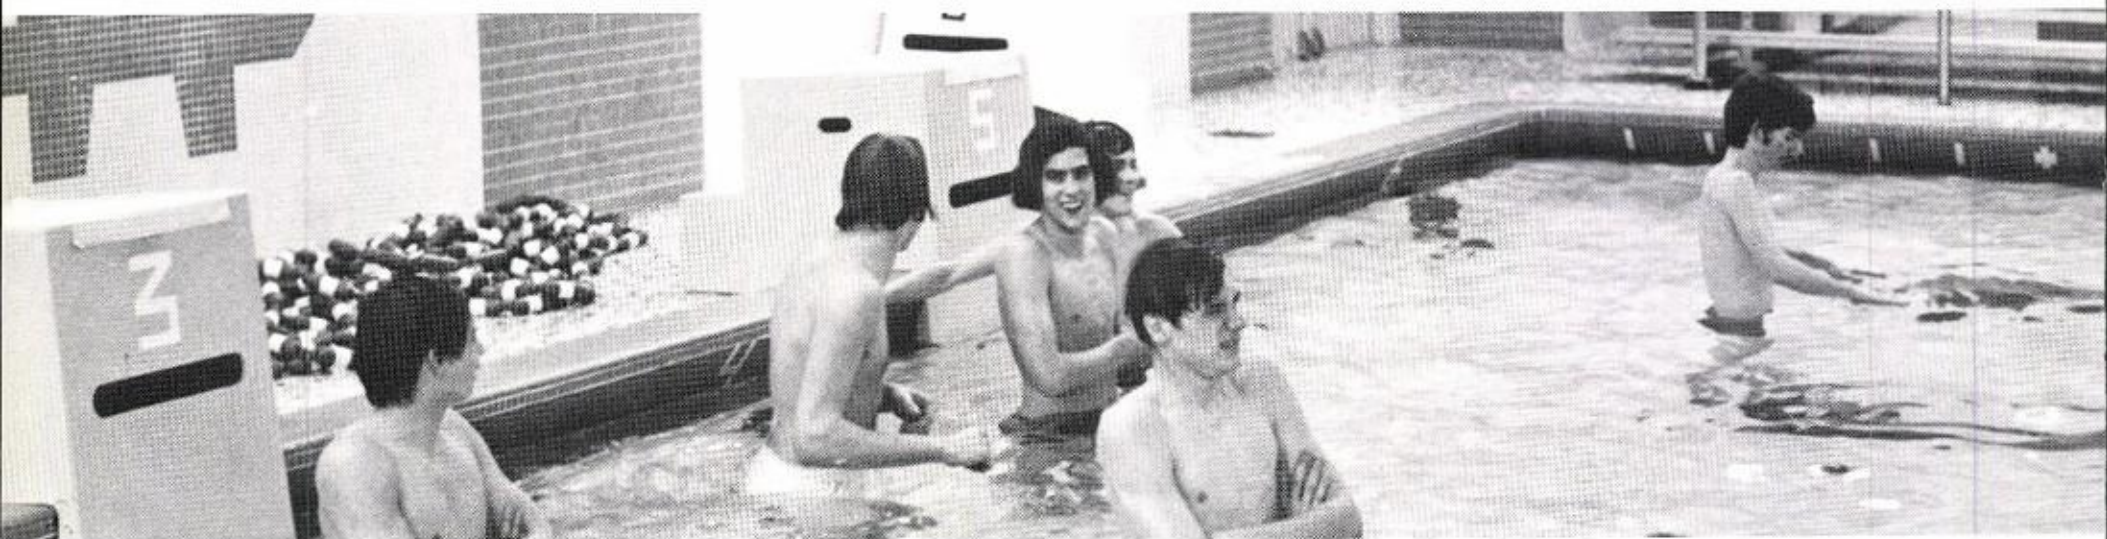

Senior art students enjoyed creative freedom while satisfying the established requirements. The independent spirit of the Art IV class propelled seniors into varied activities including pottery, engraving and sculpting. Techniques attained in Arts I to III produced versatile students able to accept fresh experiences.

Expertise in music theory led students into an historical research course, Music Theory and Literature. To gain the knowledge to cope with this field, the participants had to show their aptitude in basic skills. These were acquired in previous years through Music Theory I and Music Theory and Harmony electives.

Five-week choices featured in gym

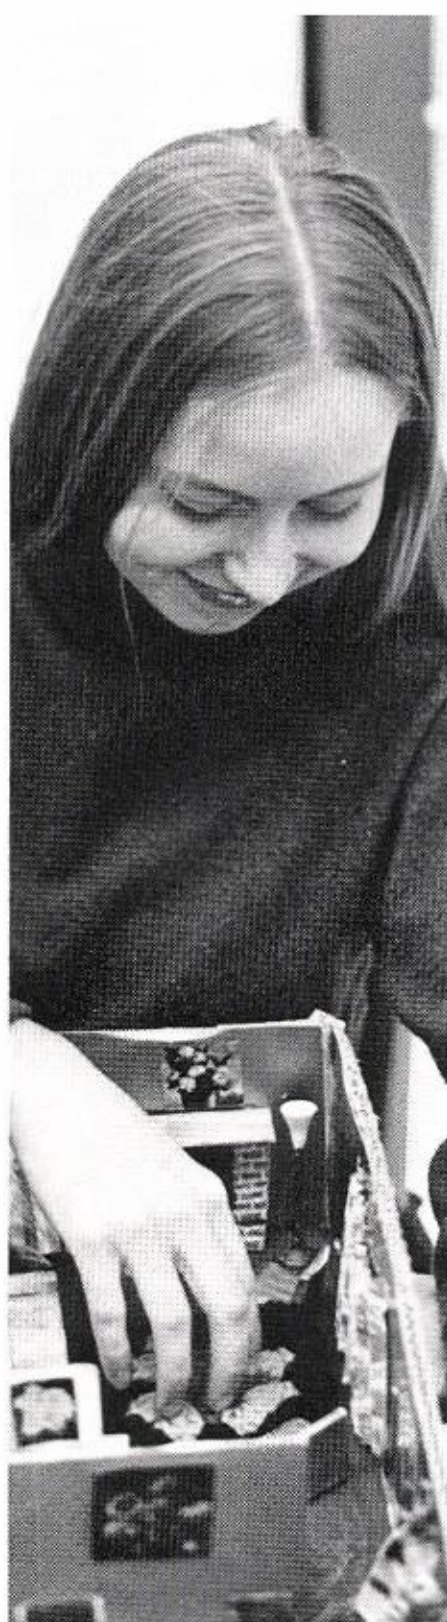

The number of elective courses was expanded this year to include many activities not previously offered. Some of these were girls' flag football, boys' weight training and co-ed badminton. Co-ed folk dancing also was offered for the first time but received a less enthusiastic reaction.

The process of selecting electives was drastically revised. No longer were seniors given preference over juniors in the selection of courses. This varied the size and composition of classes as well as giving juniors a fairer opportunity.

Shop adds new machine

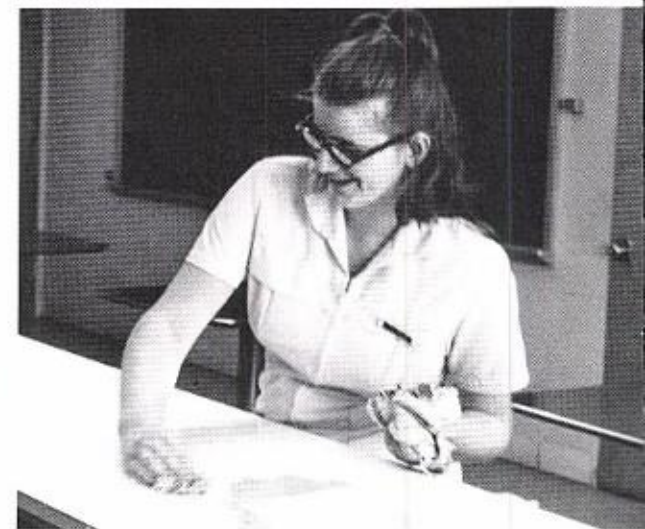

Industrial Arts added a new Bridgeport milling machine to the machine shop division. The department also offered smaller, more specialized classes such as Architectural Drawing. This allowed students to study in depth their own areas of specific interest.

Co-ed Foods classes increased male participation by fifty percent. A child study program was added to the Home Economics curriculum. This course included field trips to study the habits of youngsters, and an in-class observation session of pre-school children.

H. Development above standards

Two documents were passed revolutionizing the Human Development Program. The purpose was to provide flexible system of educational opportunities for students requiring special education.

This act evaluated and recognized individual needs of each student and met each accordingly.

Representatives from the Massachusetts Departments of Mental Health, Public Health, and Education evaluated the Special Service Program and stated that the provisions and procedures of the program exceeded their standards.

Guidance, library broaden services

A wide range of new titles appeared on the shelves of the library with the addition of 1300 new books. These volumes encompassed humor, classics and reference. To keep the enlarged library operating smoothly, a new librarian, Mrs. Barbara Pasko, was added to its staff.

Hectic first days gave the new counselors, Miss Carol Pombar and Mr. Peter Zarilla, a taste of guidance life. The Guidance department was flooded with questions and problems posed by eager but confused students. Answering their pleas, the guidance staff worked diligently to complete their tasks.

Lunch prices up; breakfast given

Faculty and students contributed to the success of the breakfast program. Changes in the cafeteria took place this year as lunch prices rose five cents. Hot chocolate came with cold weather and Student Senate obtained a milk shake machine. Yogurt became available to hungry dieters.

With the introduction of a new attendance system, extra paper work and time were reduced along with the number of students cutting classes.

Mrs. Mary Faits joined the staff of the Health Service Department and worked with Mrs. Elizabeth LaVoice.

Sports

Terriers regain Agawam trophy

Concluding the season with a 12-12 tie against Agawam, the Terriers won the privilege of keeping the Agawam trophy for one half year, the first time in ten years.

With a junior-dominated team, Coaches Tom Russo, Ken Kindig, and Bill Jones are anticipating a successful season for the coming year.

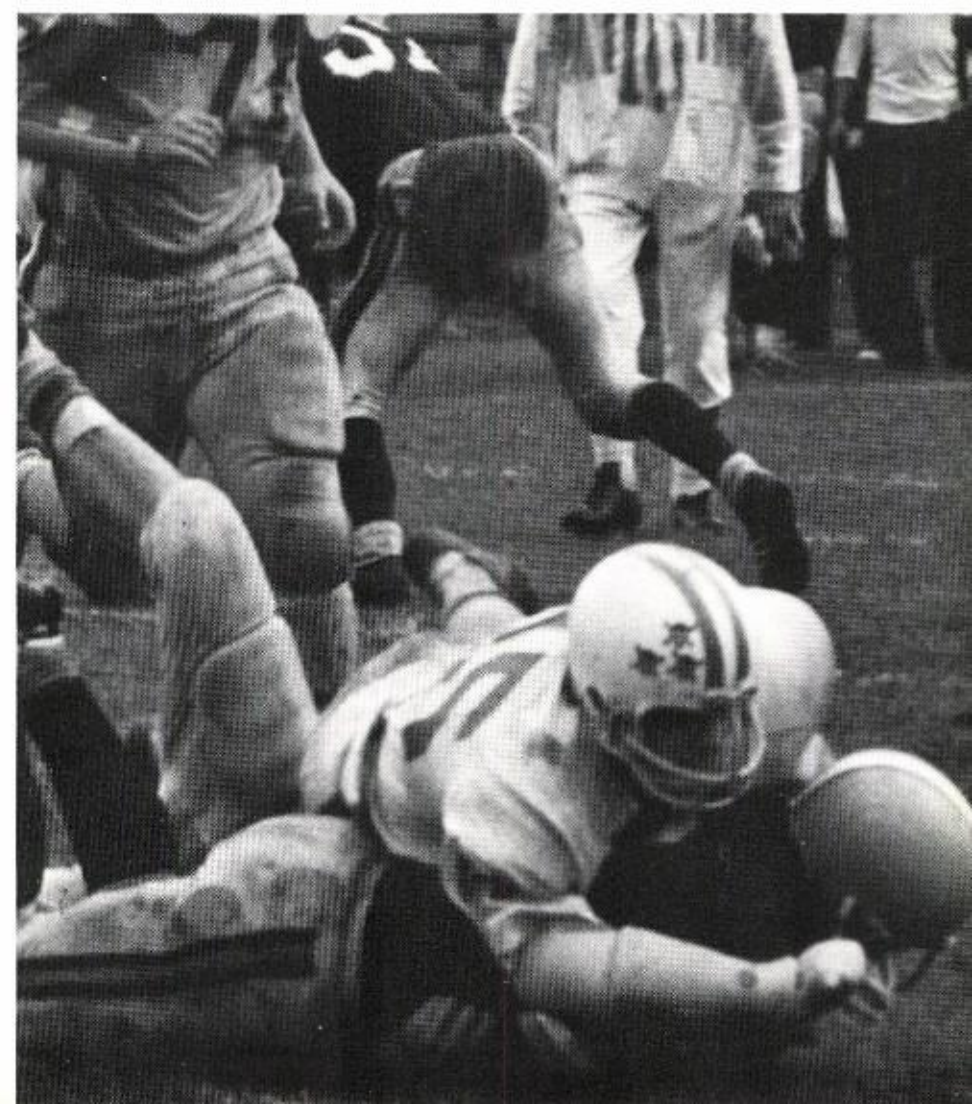

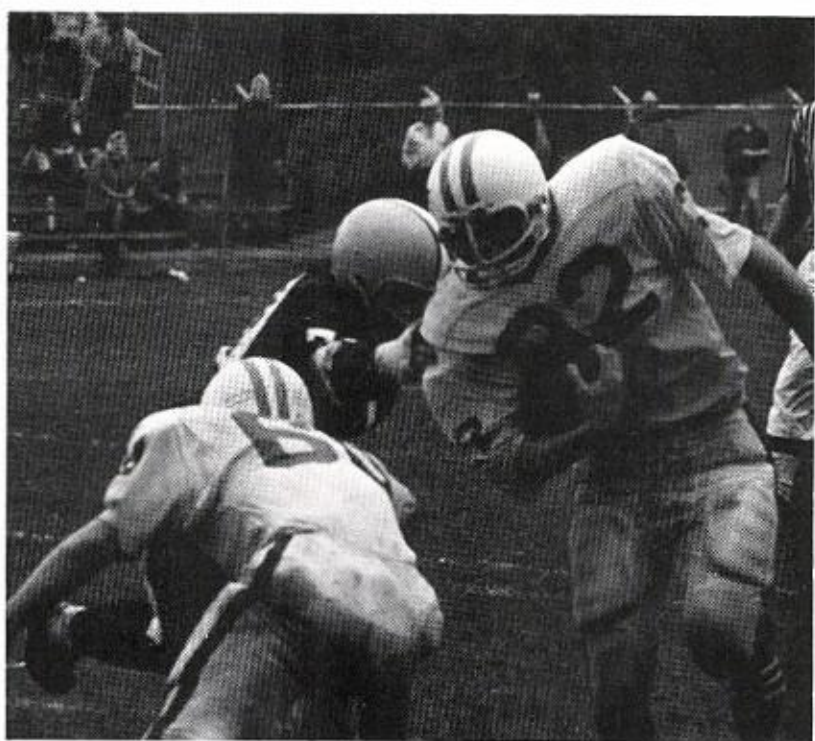

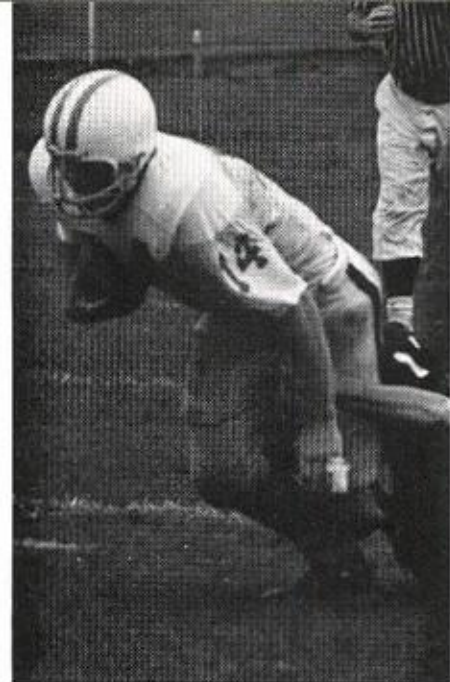

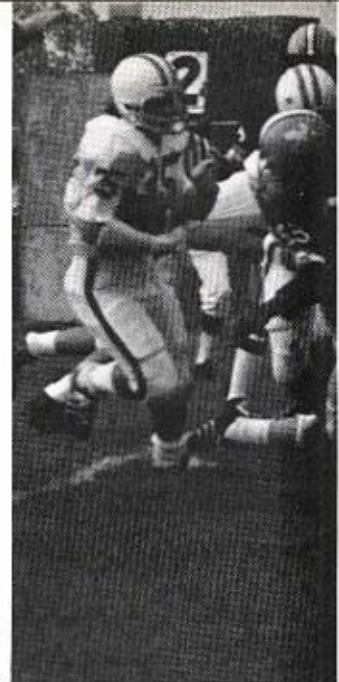

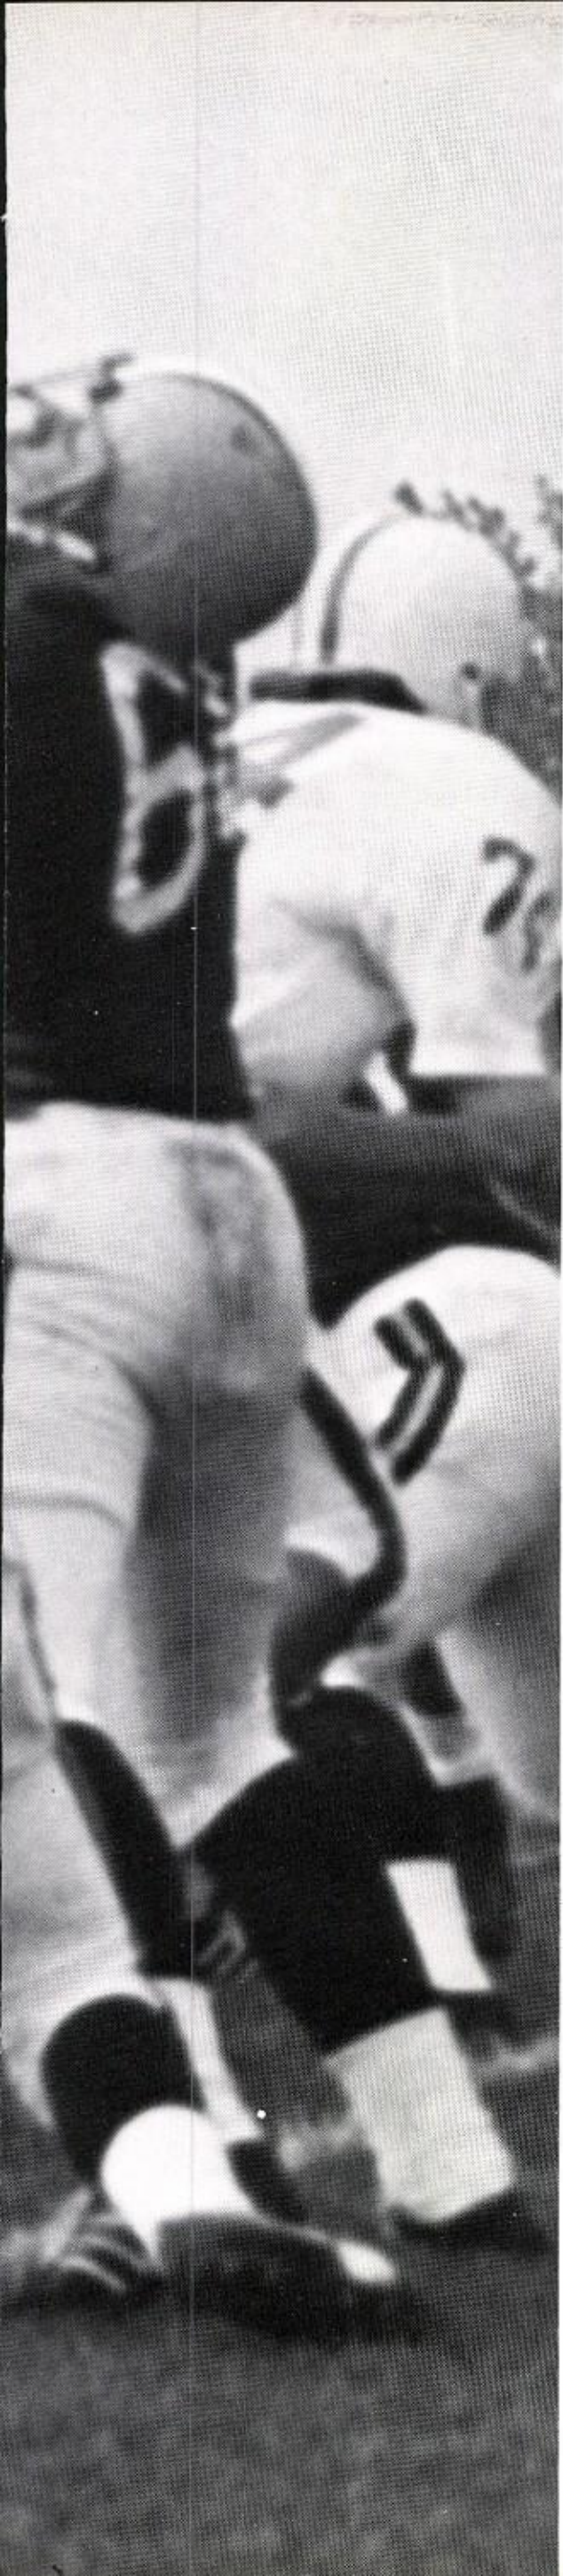

The team was captained by Bruce Flynn, Mark Lines and Jim Mason.

At the annual Gridiron Moms Football Banquet, nine seniors received plaques. Mark Lines was selected as linebacker on the AA Conference team.

Led by Coaches "Deke" Pillsbury and Henry Kozloski, the junior varsity team ended its season with a 2-7-0 record.

Cheering third in valley league

A third place in the Valley League tournament proved the determination of the 1972-73 cheerleading squad. Led by senior co-captains Hope Golfieri and Nancy Carestia, the varsity squad cheered our teams and competed in several tournaments, including Valley League, Chicopee, Greenfield, and Prouty.

Coach Elaine Serra was assisted by Mary Jane Keating during the football season. Cheerleaders also led enthusiastic fans at soccer and basketball games.

Several pep rallies were organized by the cheerleaders, including the traditional Agawam Rally.

The JV squad, under captains Ellen King and Karen Gombar cheered at varsity football games as well as the junior varsity events.

Team secures three victories

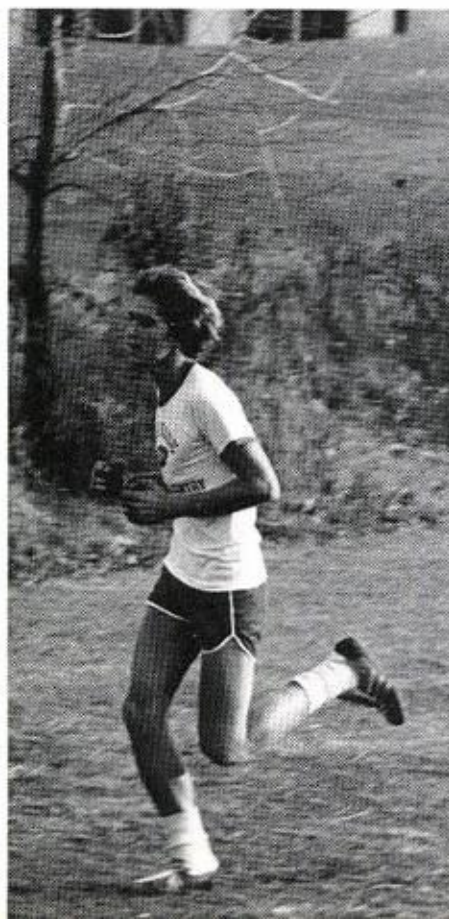

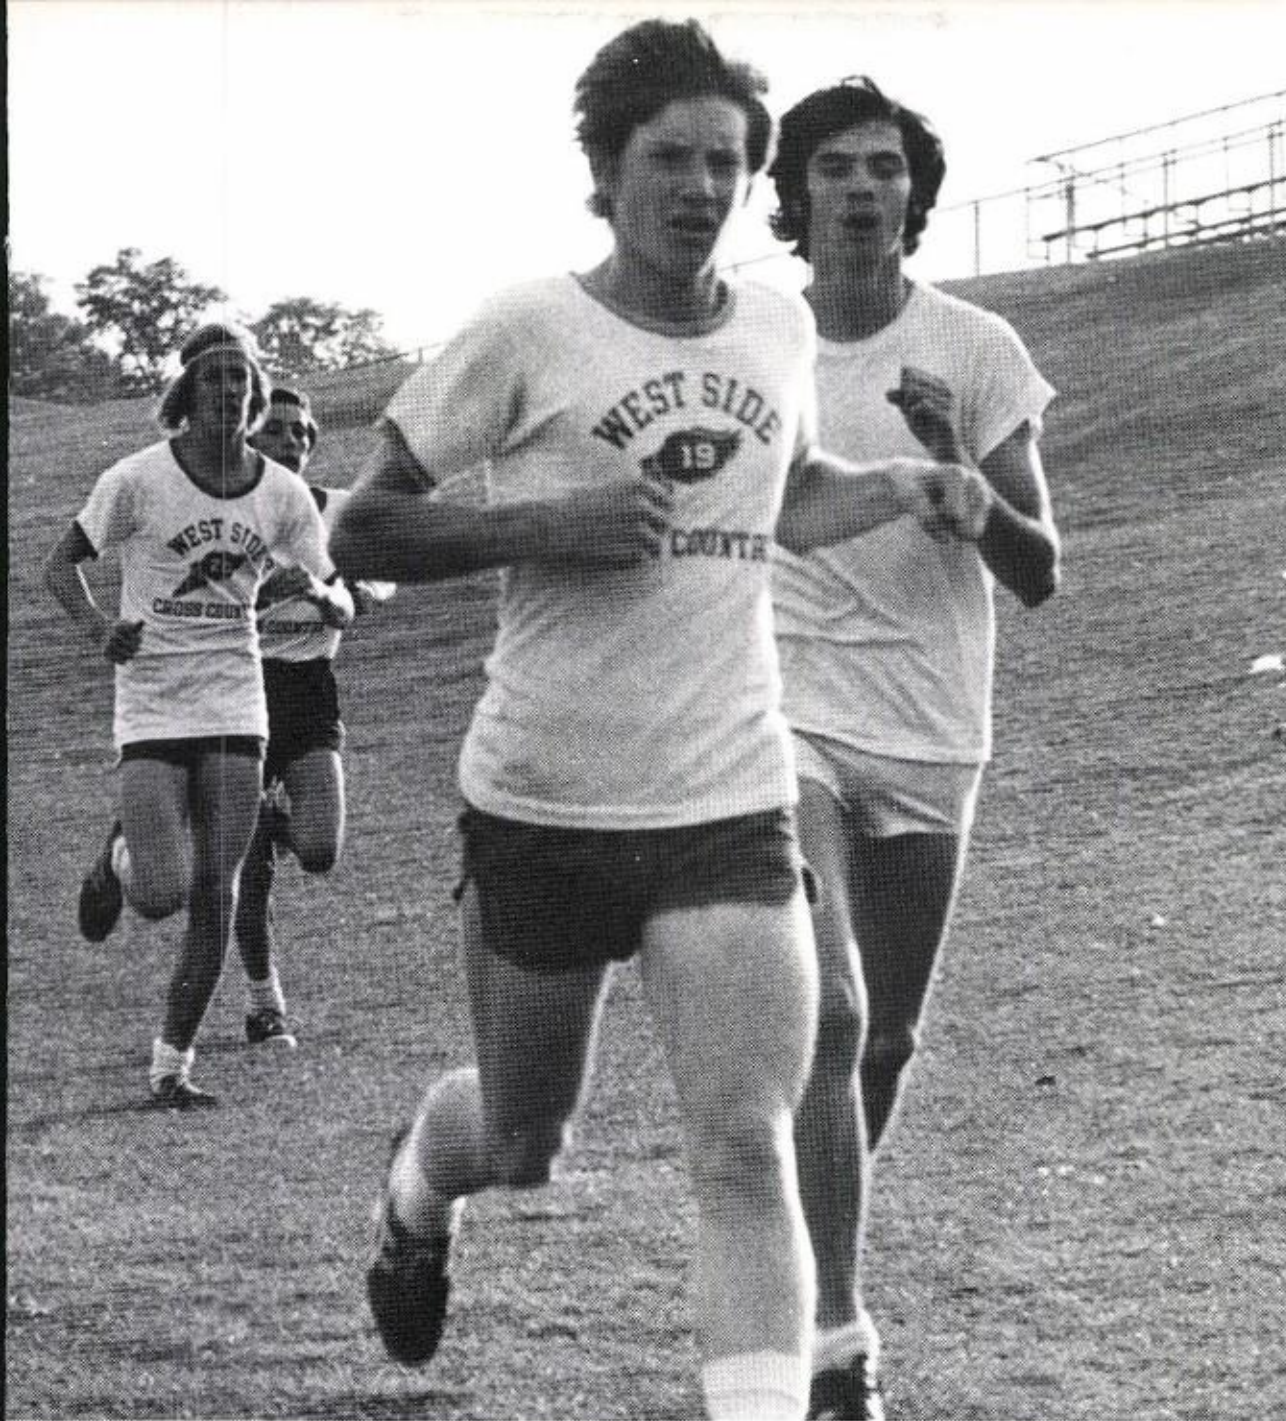

Shin splints, strains and sprains hampered this year's cross-country team, which ended its season with a 3-8 record.

Coach Bob Delisle, with only five returning lettermen, felt that the team made remarkable progress against their opponents.

Top performers for the team included juniors Bill Lyons, Doug Crosier, and Bob Miller, seniors Bob Johnson, Paul Wendler, and Mark Isaacs and sophomores Mike Amato and Vincent Ronghi.

Bob Johnson and Paul Wendler served as co-captains for the team.

Soccer places fourth in PVL

Displaying the promise of a victorious season, this year's varsity soccer team opened its season with a 1-1 tie against state champion, Cathedral. With a final victory racked up against perennial power Ludlow, West Side closed its schedule with a 6-6-1 record.

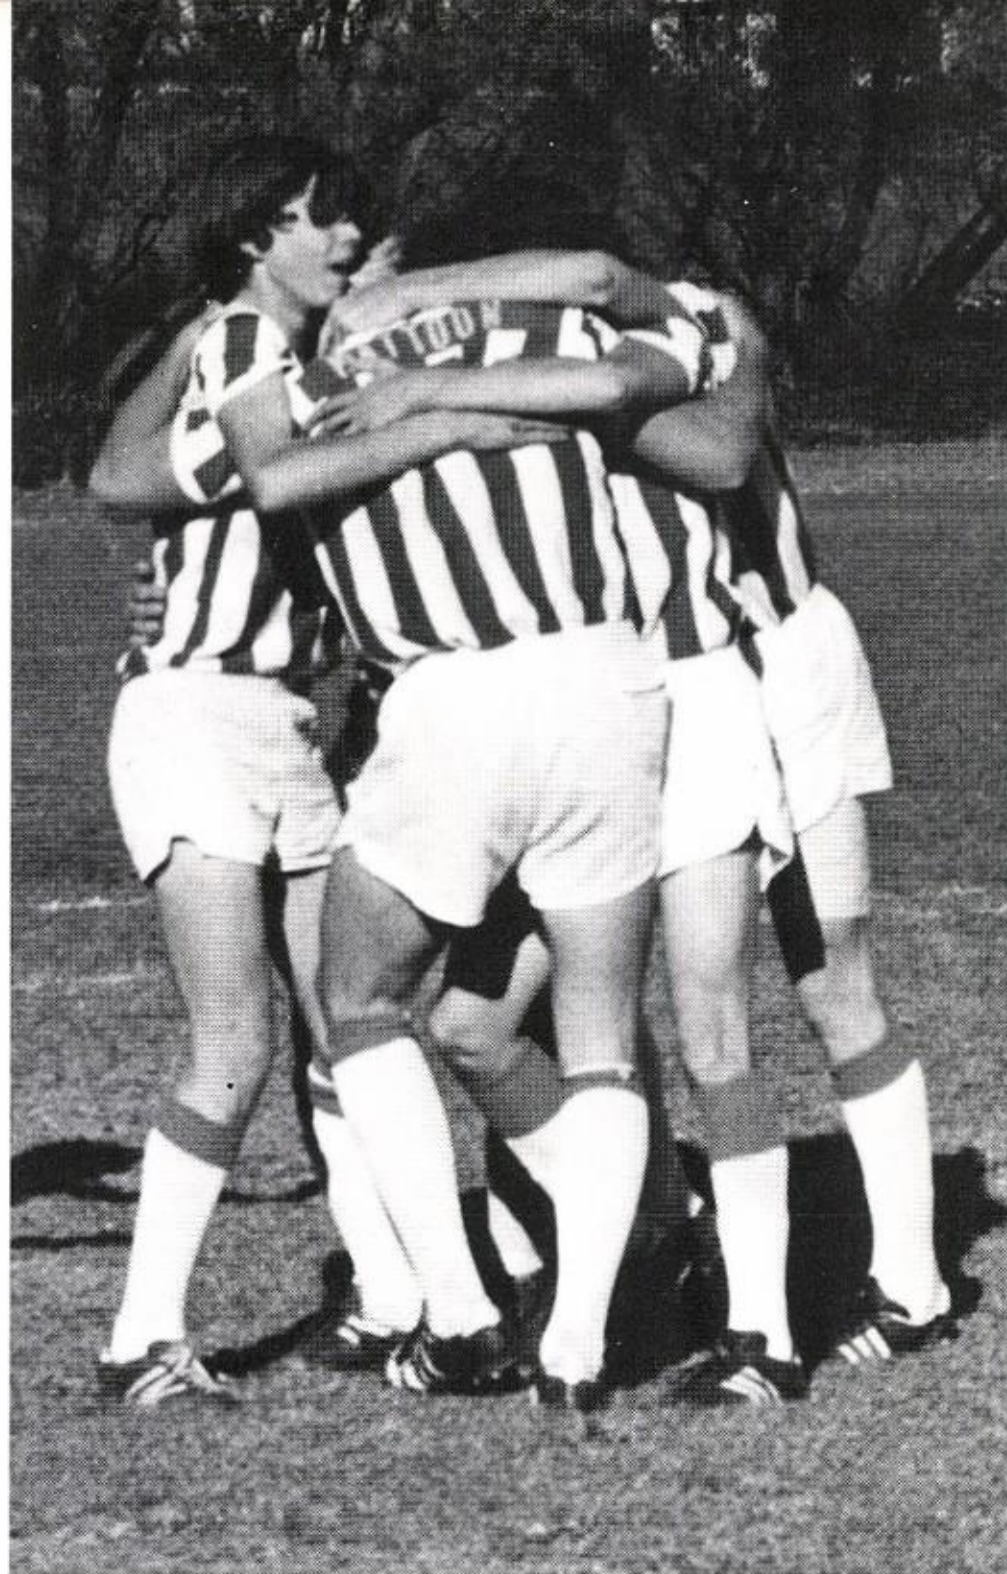

Helped by the efforts of leading goal scorers Ken Sady and Ken Mattoon, the varsity players rolled over their stiffest competition but were stopped by lesser threats.

"Chip" Smith was forced to the sidelines for the season by a broken leg. He, along with Robert Whelan, co-captained the team. Coach Alden Shattuck guided his team's progress through the season.

The J.V. and Freshman teams brought home records of 4-6-2 and 14-0-1 respectively. Both proved formidable competition for all challengers.

COLLINS & WHITEHOUSE INSURANCE AGENCY

Field hockey wins games

Producing its best winning team in five years, field hockey completed its season with an 8-4-1 overall record and a 5-4-1 league record.

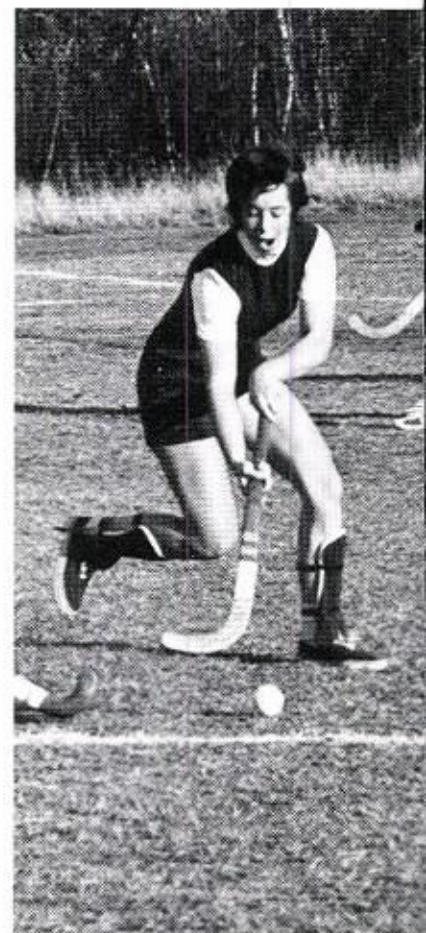

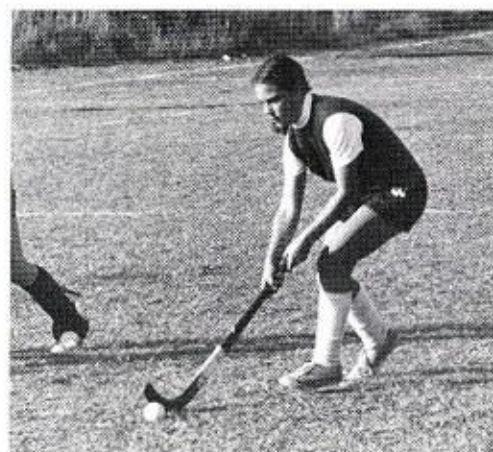

With a turnout of more than twenty-five interested girls, it was possible for Coach Martha Newall to form two complete teams and have both a Varsity and a J.V. team.

Consistent goal scorers throughout the season were:

Claudia Chiapuzzi — 4,
Holly Hamlett — 3,
Yasmin Adham — 2, Kay Kindig — 2,
Sue O'Connor — 2 and Karen Zimmerman — 2.

LeClair takes Western Mass.

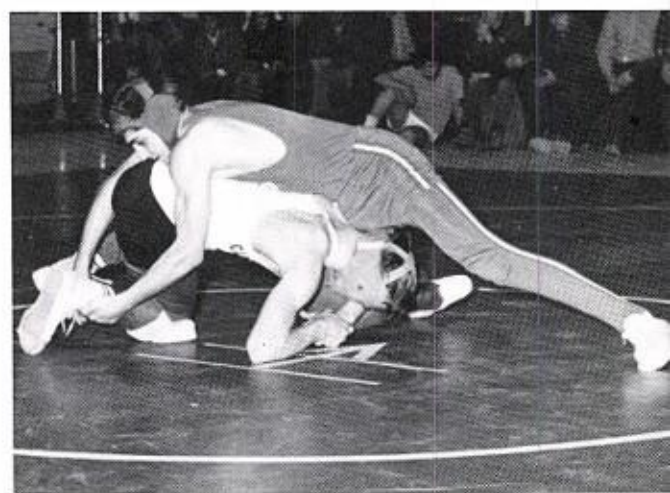

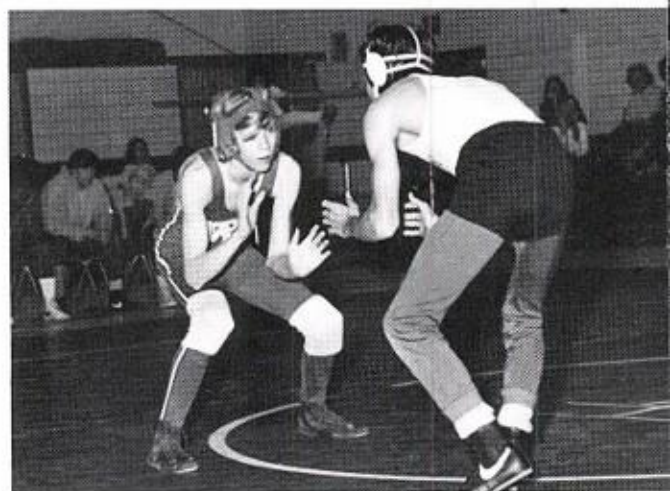

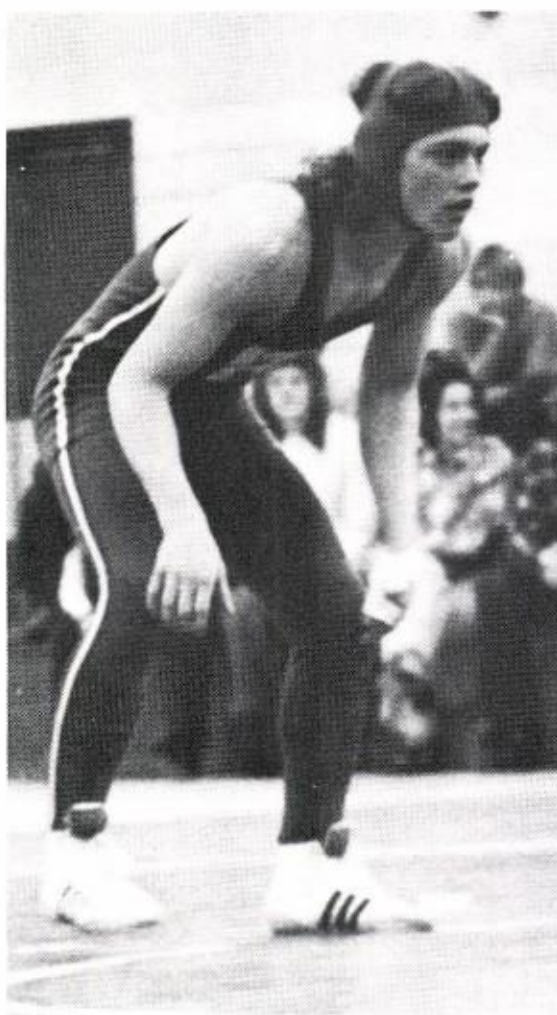

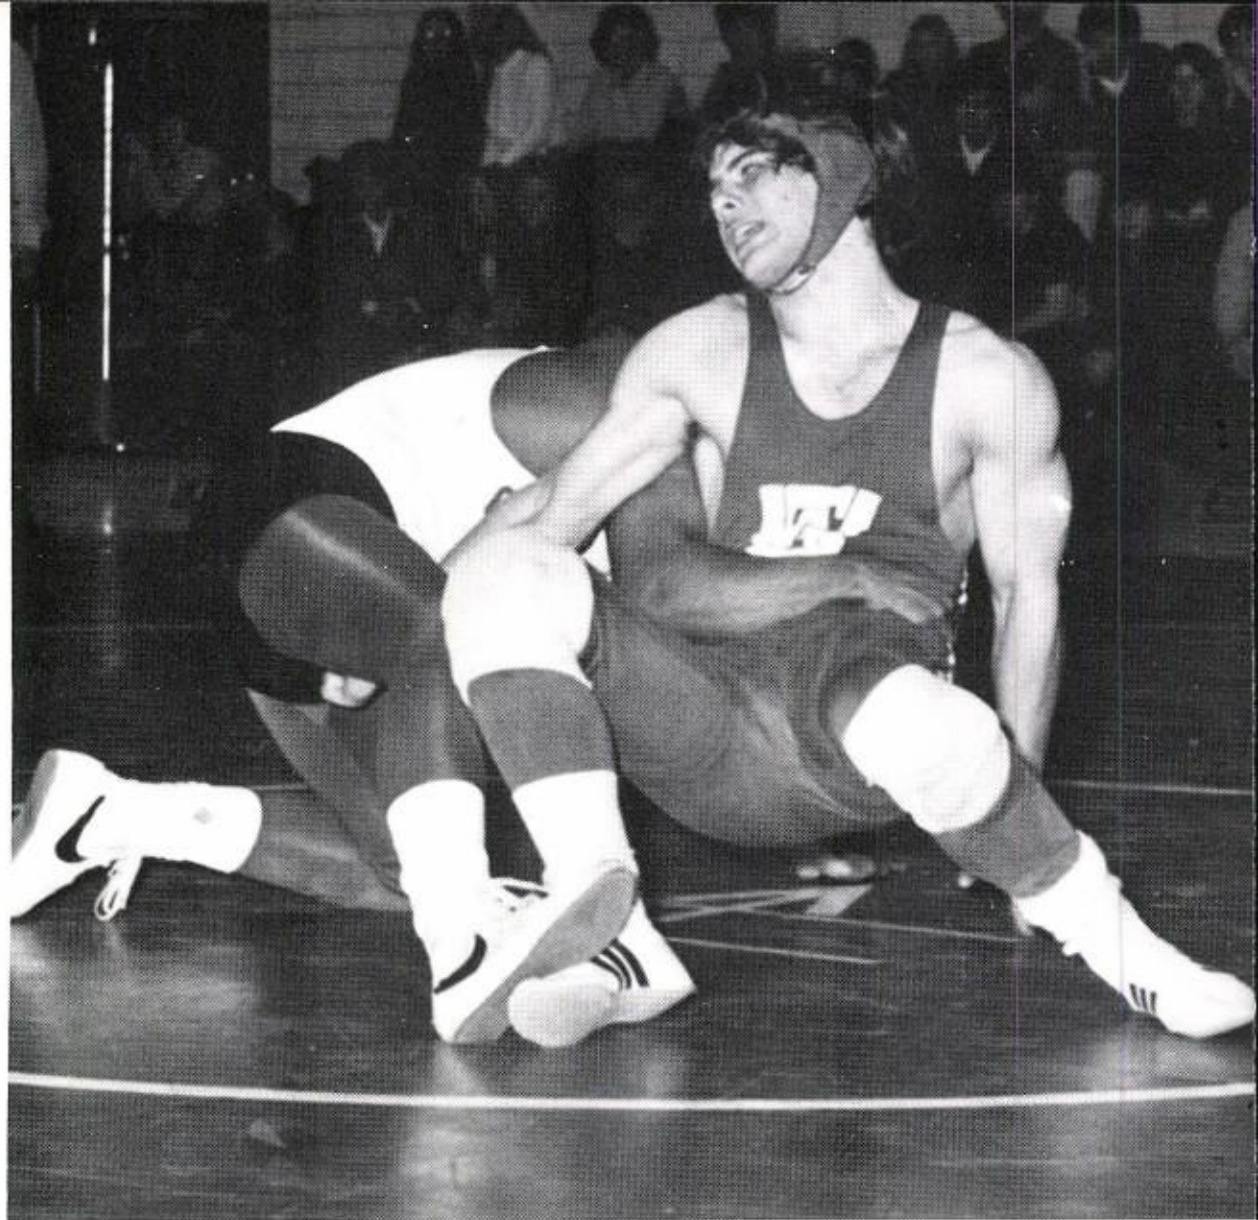

In their third year of competition, the varsity wrestling team compiled an overall record of eight wins, five losses, and was undefeated in the league with seven wins, no losses, enabling them to capture first place in Division 2 of the Valley League.

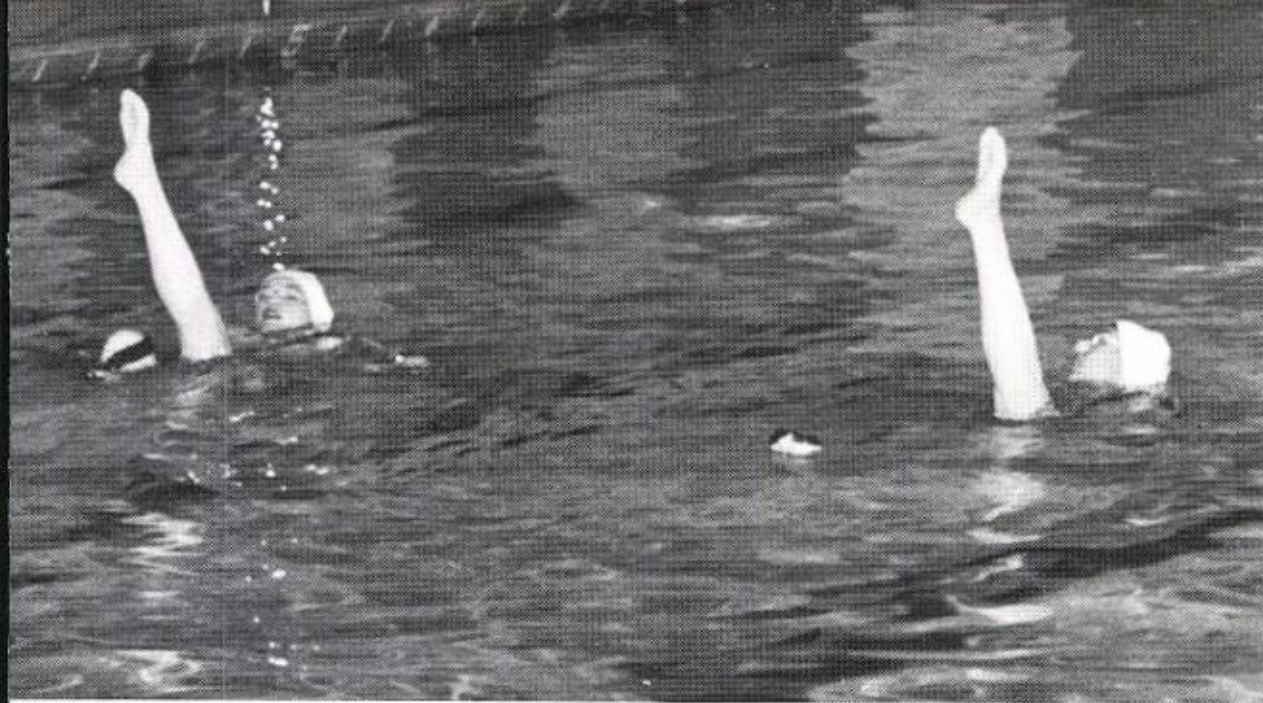

Turning in consistently outstanding performances throughout the season were William LeClair, who placed first in Western Mass. in the 148-lb. weight class, and Mark Lines, who placed fourth in Western Mass. and second in state tournament.

LeClair and Lines, along with Robert Johnson and Michael Winn, served as captains.

'Lost Horizons' most successful

The Synchronized Swim team presented "Lost Horizons" as its annual show in the James Sady Pool May 8, 9.

Led by president Viola Fink and manager Liz Wilson, the show proved the most successful in the past three years according to Coach Barbara Foster who was pleased with the large crowd. The coach concluded that the success resulted from a unique interest with more girls on the team than previous years.

Practices were held daily after school during the entire spring season. Coach Foster cited Lynn Bozenhard and Linda Kulik for their outstanding swimming.

Swimmers break school records

With a blistering time of 1:08.4, breaststroker Jim Okolita shattered the school record of 1:09.6 set by New England champ Dave Whiting in 1971. The relay team of Mike Miller, Jim Okolita, Paul Zimmerman, and Mark Delaney broke the school relay record improving the existing time by three seconds.

Under Wilburn Campbell, who coached the West Side swimmers for the first time this season, the team swam to a 6-8 record. Captains Mark Isaacs and Mark Delaney led the twenty-five member team to second place in Division II of Western Mass. Jim Okolita also placed in the Western Mass. meet, taking fourth. It was at this time that he achieved his record-breaking time.

Competing with 14 other schools in the annual Western Mass. tournament, GAA swim secured a fourth place berth. Shining at this meet was senior Cindy Whiting who finished first in the 50 yard freestyle and the 100 yard freestyle. Diver Nancy Zografos took a fourth place.

Coach Sally Stacey and Assistant Coach Elaine Serra, along with co-captains Eileen Nowak and Cindy Whiting, guided the team to a final 8-3 league record. With a strong turnout of twenty-five new swimmers this year, the team looks forward to another successful season next year.

Following the lead of the previous year's team, the Girl's Basketball team placed third in the valley league. Co-Captains Robin Jones and Dorothy Rickus paced the team and led them to a 10-5 record. A strong J.V. squad also finished the season 10-5. Coach Sally Stacey was aided by two managers, Chris Dagradi and Donna DiStefano.

Performing superbly for the fourth consecutive year, Dorothy Rickus scored 287 points this season and finished her high school career with an amazing total of 800 points. This feat helped team spirit, and set a new goal for future participants.

New coach guides team

Taking over as head coach, Tom Russo experienced difficulty, as only two starting seniors returned. Curt McCarthy led the varsity squad which ended the season with a 6-14 record.

Bob Hubbard, the leading scorer, was ill, hampering the quest for wins. Despite his absence, he was named to the list of all-time Western Massachusetts career scorers.

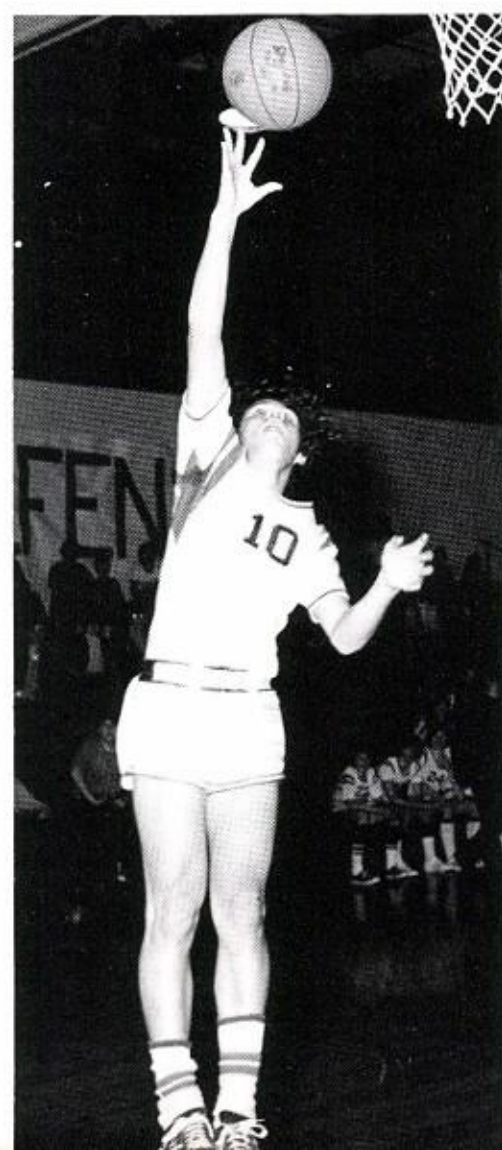

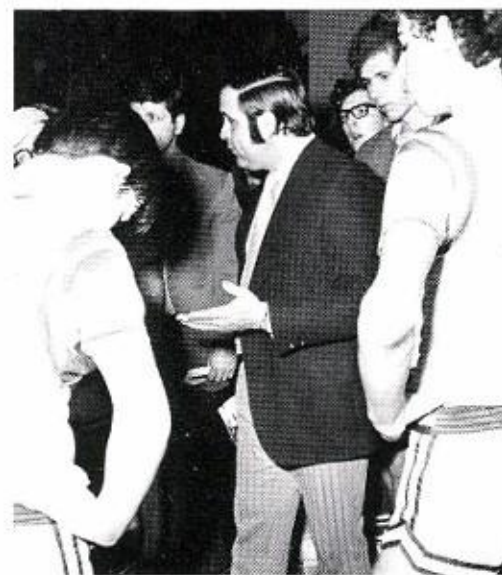

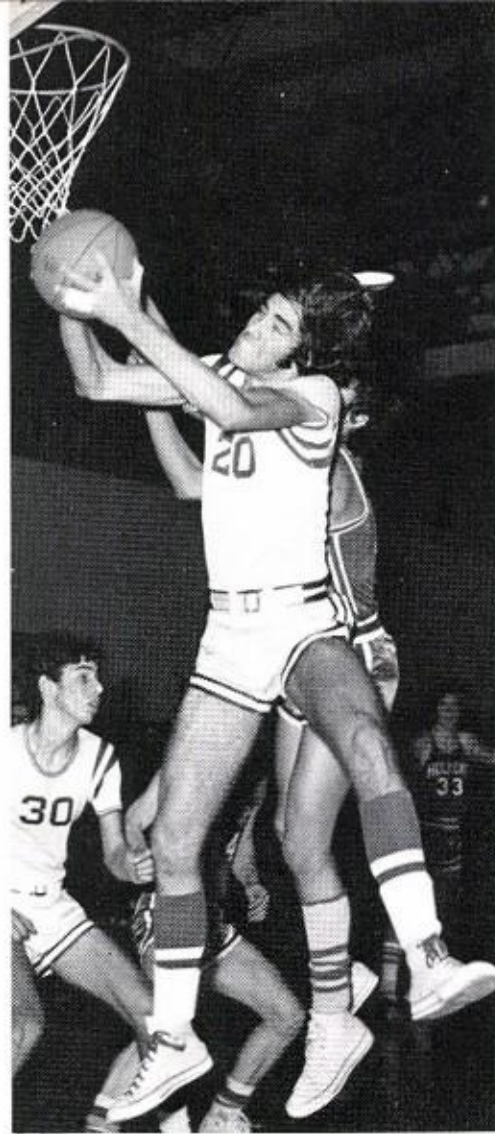

The best game was played against league champs, Holyoke Catholic, when at halftime the hoopsters were down by only three points.

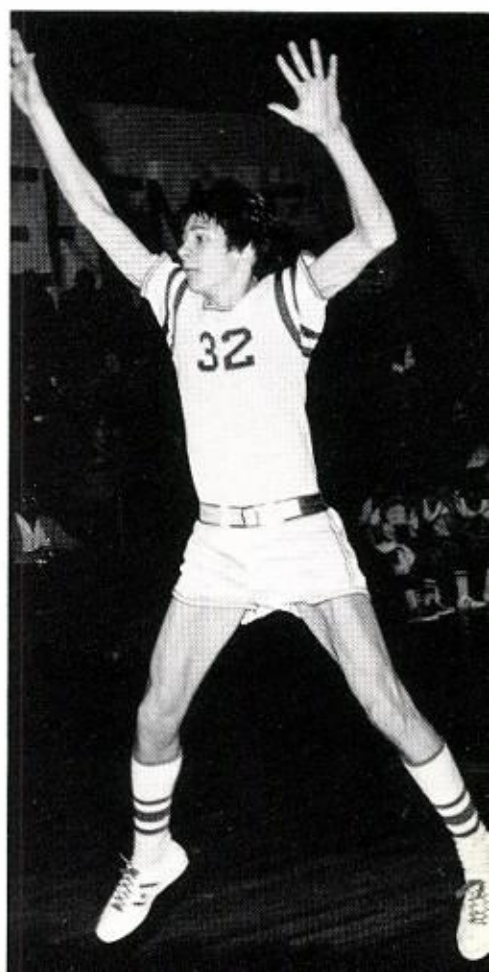

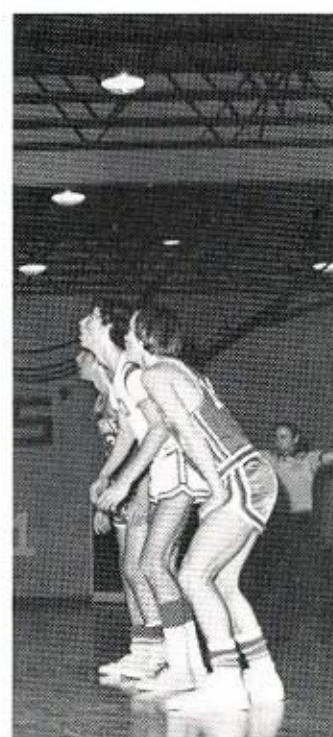

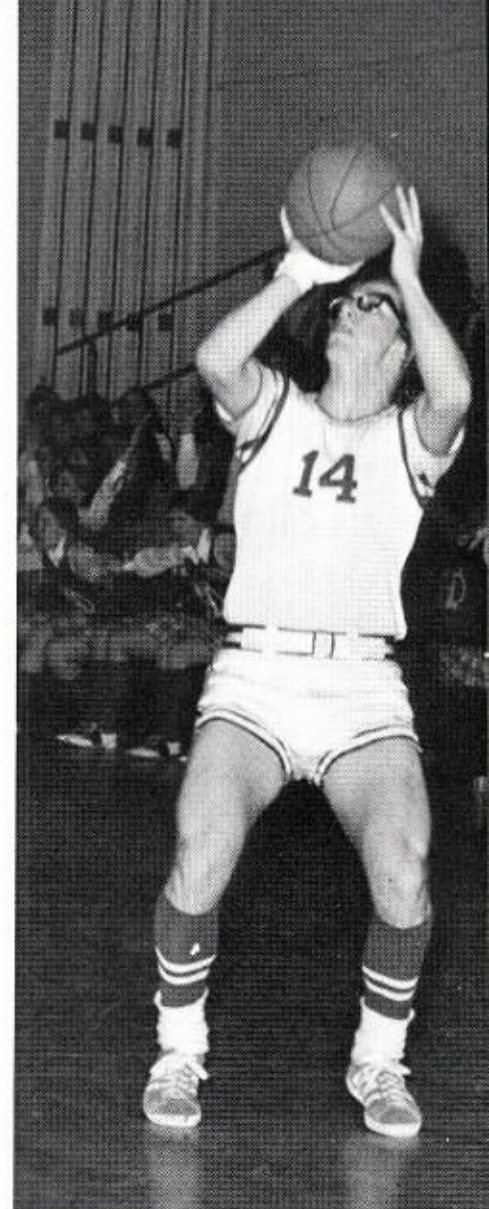

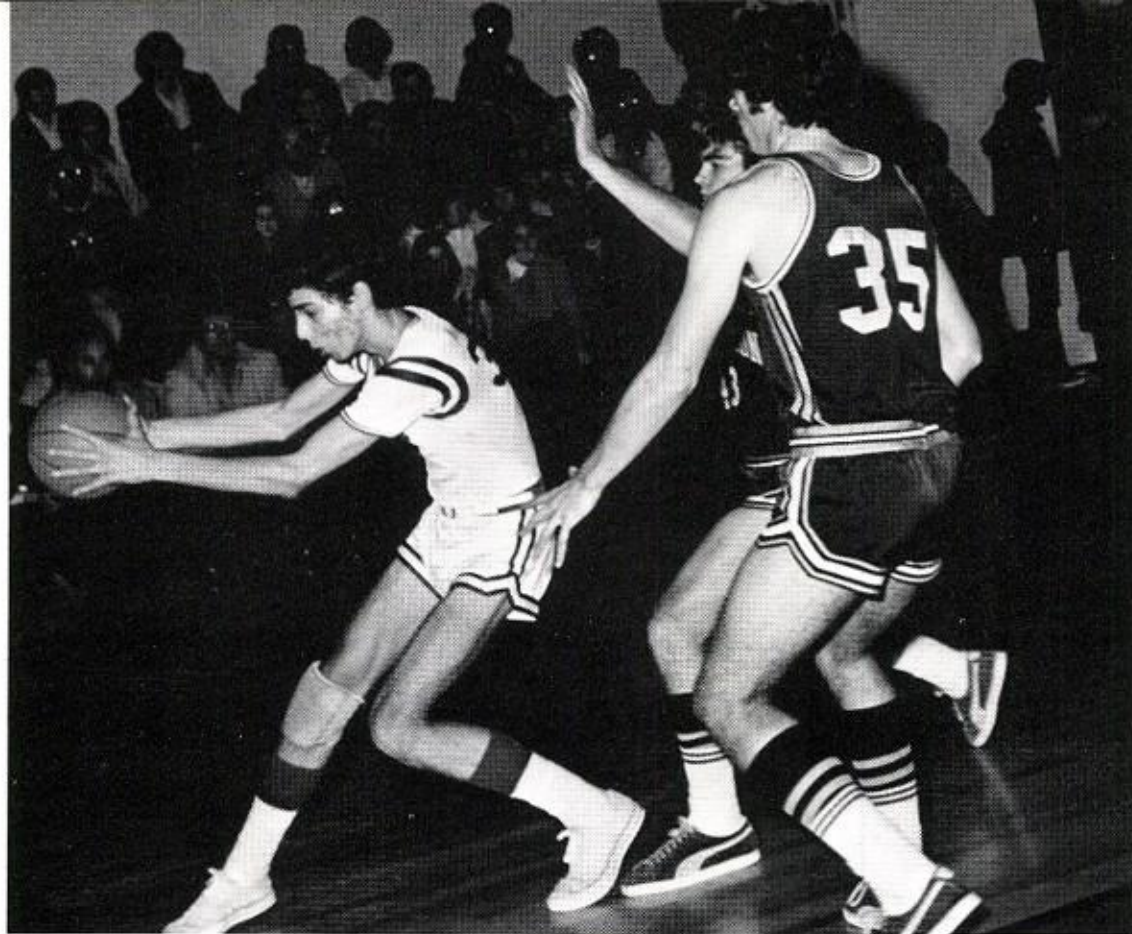

The J.V. and freshmen teams under coaches Joe Moynahan and "Deke" Pillsbury ended their seasons with 2-18 and 7-9 records respectively.

Vin Marceno and Dick McCarthy managed, with Tony Sacco serving as statistician.

Under a new coach, Mr. Norman Kosiusko, the team compiled a record of five wins and four losses.

Christopher Cummings captained the team for the season.

Only two seniors, Robert Borsari and David Demers, returned from last year's group. The remaining members of the team were juniors and sophomores, who all showed promise for next year's team.

Practice sessions took place at Paucatuck Park.

Actual competition was held at Mount Tom ski area.

Team grips first for second year

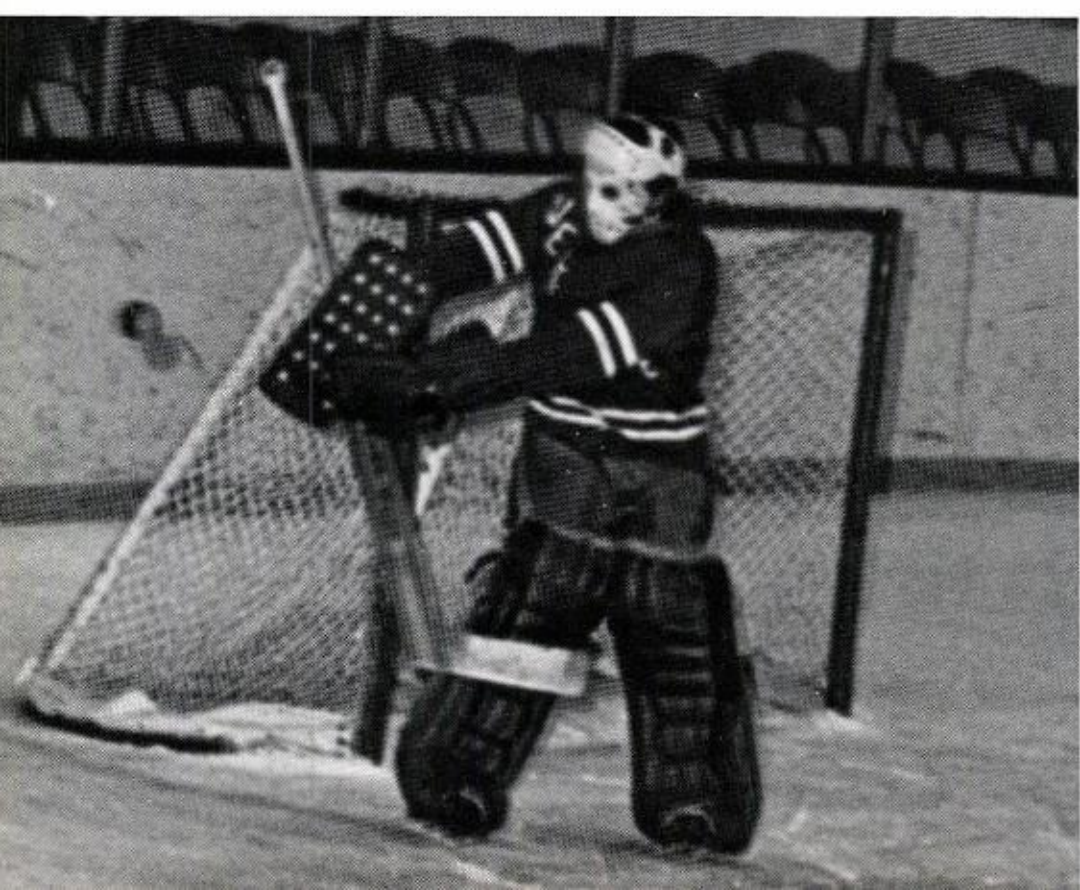

First place in Western Mass competitions for a second consecutive year proved the ability of the girls ski team.

Three joint meets showcased the team's skill with the girls winning seven, losing one, and tying one.

The eight girl team headed by co-captains Beth Guernsey, and Sue McMahon, competed with three teams at each meet. This system was devised to compensate for the lack of snow.

Coach Pat Bucher put the experience of the squad into action as they romped over their rivals. Loss of five seniors, including Sue McMahon whose power had been demonstrated over the years, will be felt by next year's team.

Germano cops Bessone M.V.P.

Senior Rich Germano received the Amo Bessone Award given for excellence in high school hockey.

Rich played varsity hockey for his four years of high school and was a co-captain in his junior and senior years. He was the Berry Division scoring champion for the past two years, and was also selected for the all Western Mass. team for the same two years. With his skating and scoring ability, he helped lead the team to the Berry Division Championship in 1971 and to the runner-up position in Western Mass. last year.

The team ended its season with a 15-5-1 record and placed third in the Berry Division. The team beat Amherst in the semi-finals, but was eliminated with a loss to Cathedral in the finals, 4-0.

Ken Mattoon came in third in the league in scoring. He and Tom Smith were selected to the all Western Mass. second team.

Boys gym team W. Mass. champs

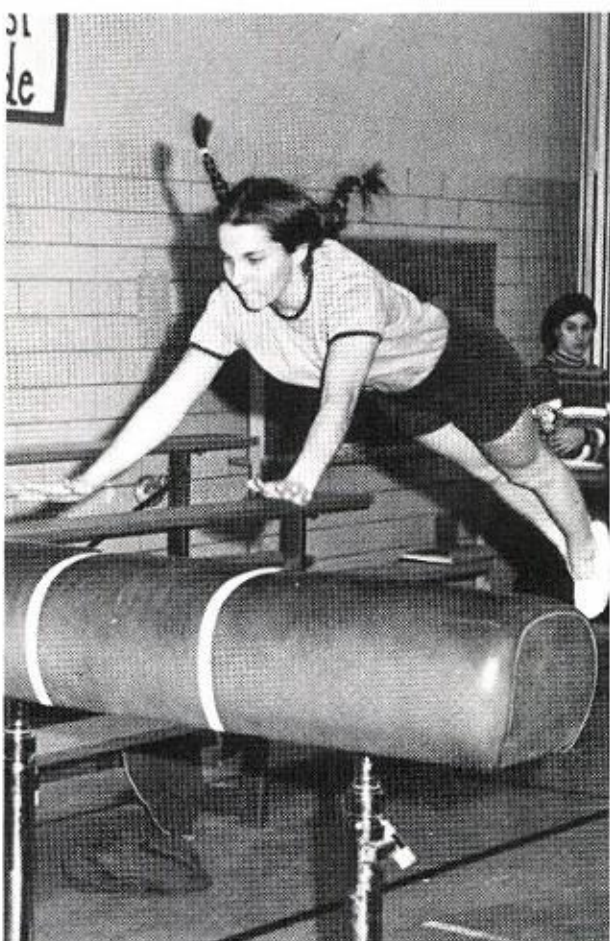

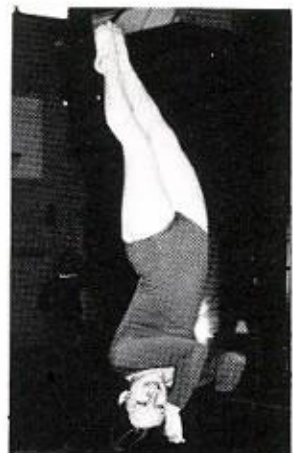

Beaten by Holyoke late in the season, the boys gym team surged past their opponents and placed first in the Western Mass. Team Championships. This accomplishment bolstered school morale and placed seven team members on the boys' all Western Mass. team.

Guided through its practices and meets by Coaches Bill Jones and Frank Mazza, the team compiled a 7-2 overall record and a 4-1 league total.

Captain Bill Kaloroumakis was one who made this team. He, along with Tom Pickreign, who broke the school record for vaulting, Wayne Land, who copped first on the high bar and Fran Brisson, who took second in all-around competition helped put the team fifth in the state.

Coached by Miss Lynn Kelley and Miss Shirley McCauley, the girls gym team obtained an overall record of 8-1 and a league record of 5-1. The team placed second behind a strong Minnechaug squad in the Western Mass. Championship and tenth in the State Team Championship.

In the Western Mass. meet, Donna Scott placed first on the balance beam and tied for fourth in floor exercise, while Debra Crum tied for fifth on the balance beam.

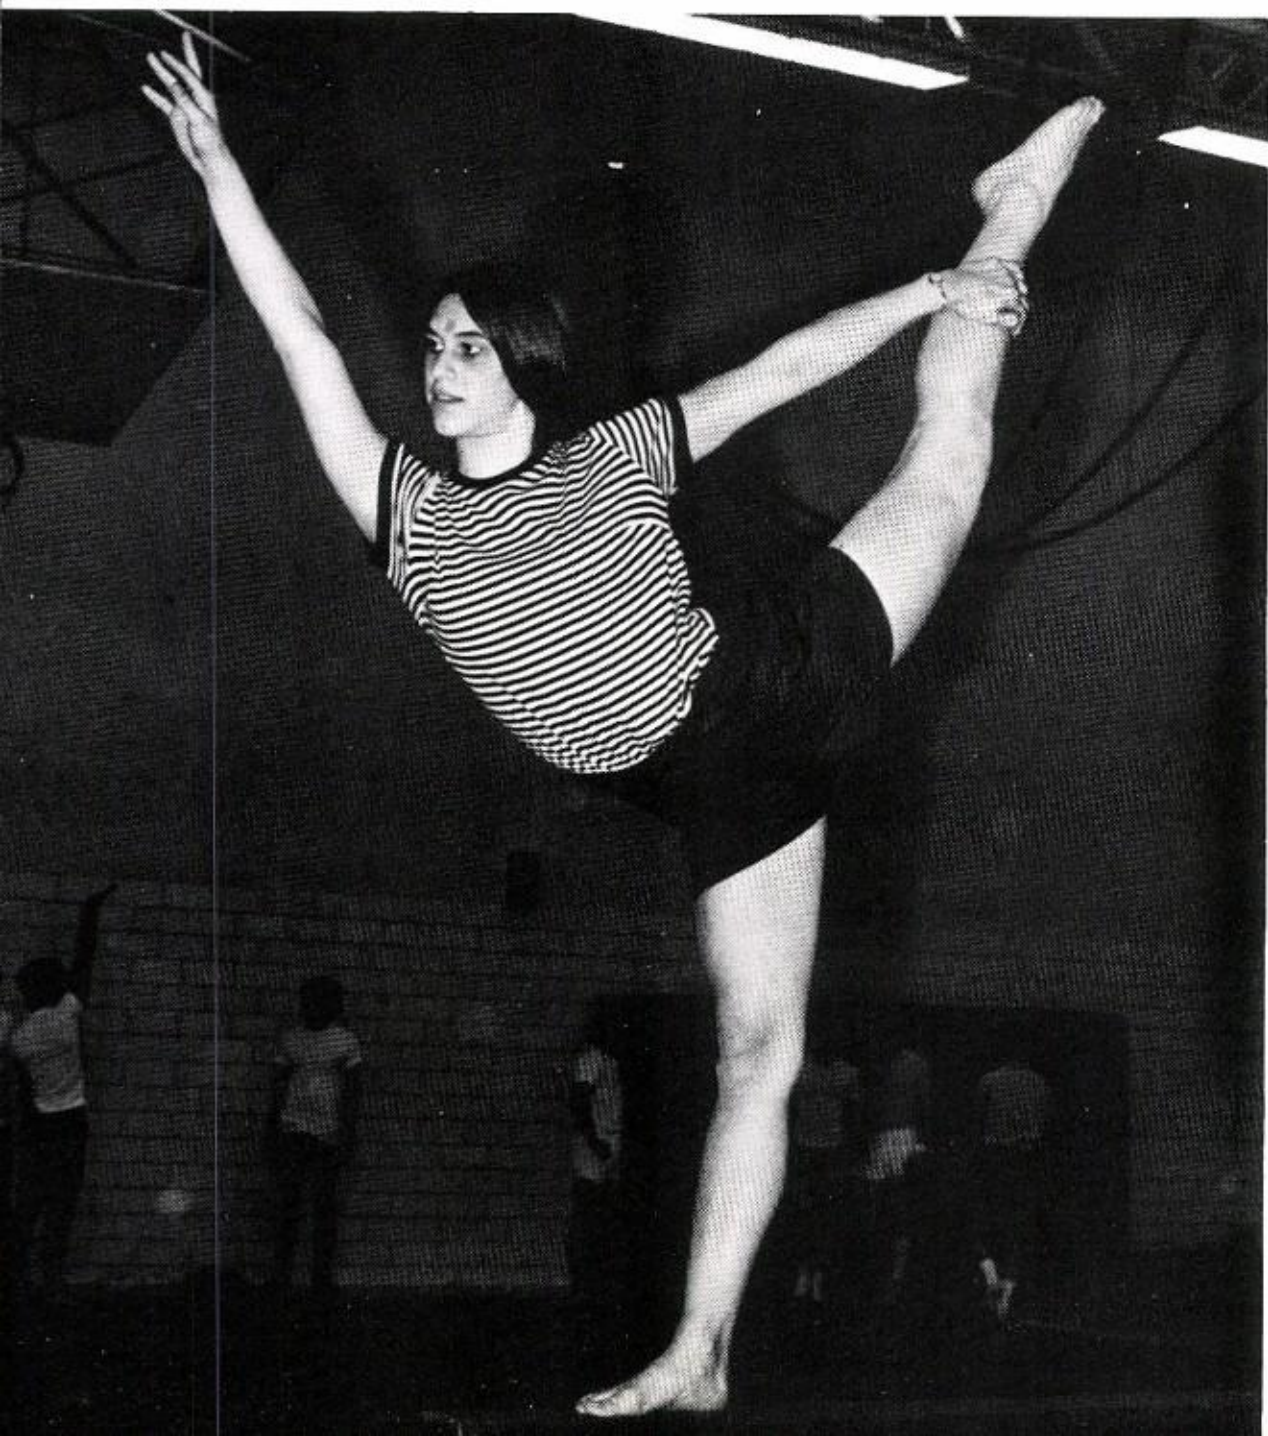

Setting new records were Lisa Pernice, floor exercise — 8.3, Donna Scott, balance beam — 7.6 and Cindy Baines, uneven parallel bars — 6.1. A new team total of 75.2 was also set this year.

Because of their performances, Lisa Pernice, Donna Scott, and Cindy Baines were named to the All Western Mass. Team.

Second year Western Mass.

Taking advantage of the experience of a senior dominated team, Coach Marion Kurtz led the Girls Track Team to an undefeated season. The team's wins brought them to the Western Central Regional Track Meet where they copped first place out of over sixteen schools.

Dorothy Rickus, placing third in javelin statewide, and Sue Budzynkiewicz placing fourth in the state in discus, stole the teams individual honors.

Boys tennis V.L. champs

Experienced players comprising the boys' tennis team complimented by several outstanding underclassmen sailed to its second consecutive Valley League Championship.

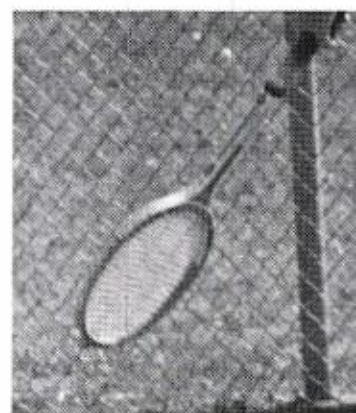

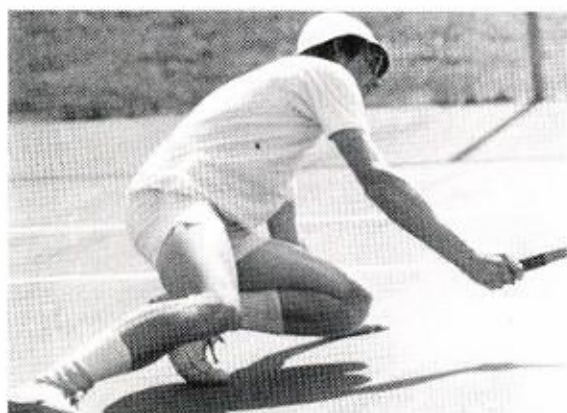

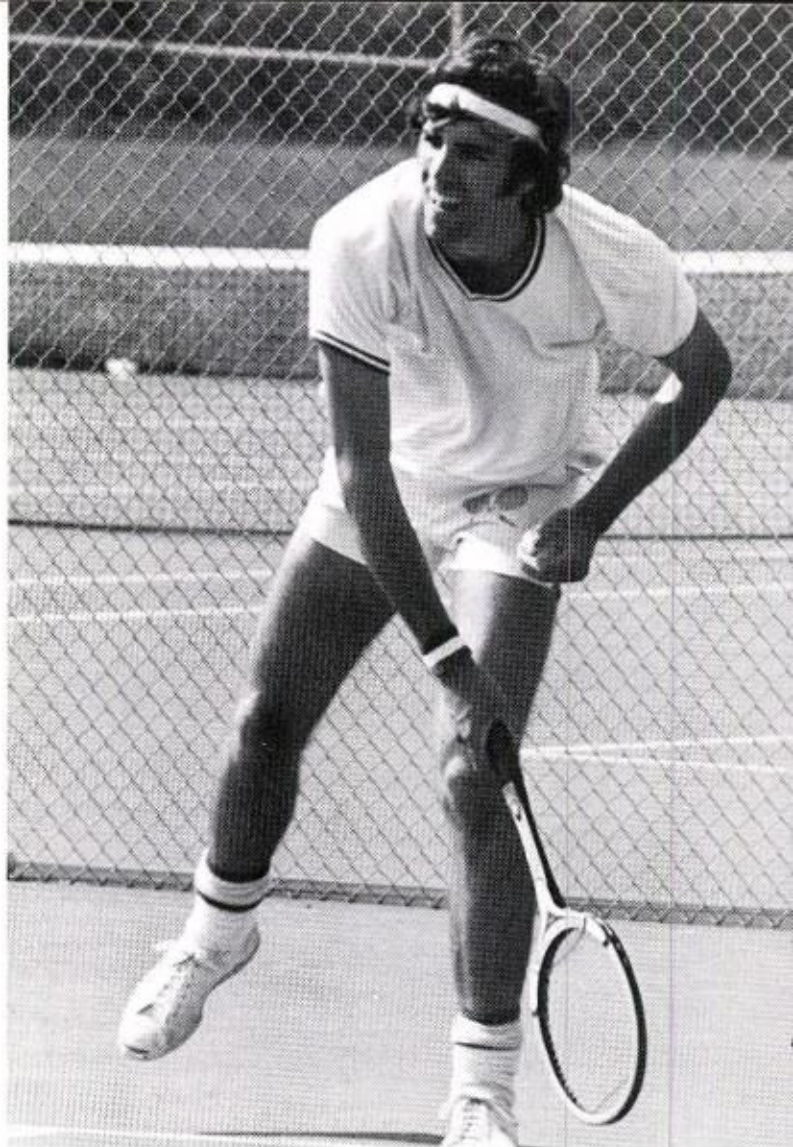

Returning seniors sparked the squad to 12 wins in fifteen matches.

Early season defeats did not dampen their efforts and team play improved as the season progressed.

Coach Kenneth Kindig headed the tennismen and helped them through the rough matches against Longmeadow, Northampton and Pittsfield.

Although six of the ten members departed this year, a good outlook is still anticipated.

Setting the team's pace were Melissa Paine and Joanne Fitzgerald recording a 10-2 total for the season in their doubles matches and Mary Panda, advancing to the quarter finals in Western Mass. competition.

League play gave the girls the majority of their wins and placed them first in Valley League.

Supervising the matches was Ms. Syd Parlour, a student from Springfield College. Co-captains Mary Panda and Elaine Canedi formed the nucleus of the team.

Golf team gains success

Opponents of the West Side golf team found great difficulty in keeping pace with the likes of Ken Sady, John Cibrowski and Spero Phillips. One defeat suffered at the hands of Chicopee marred the squads near perfect season of 14 wins, 1 loss.

Contributing to the success of the golfers was Coach James Barrett who guided them through practice rounds and gave them aid in improving their skills. Captain Tom Sutter shared in these duties and left the team in fine shape for next year's challenges as he and Ken Sady advanced to the state individual finals.

Close games upset team

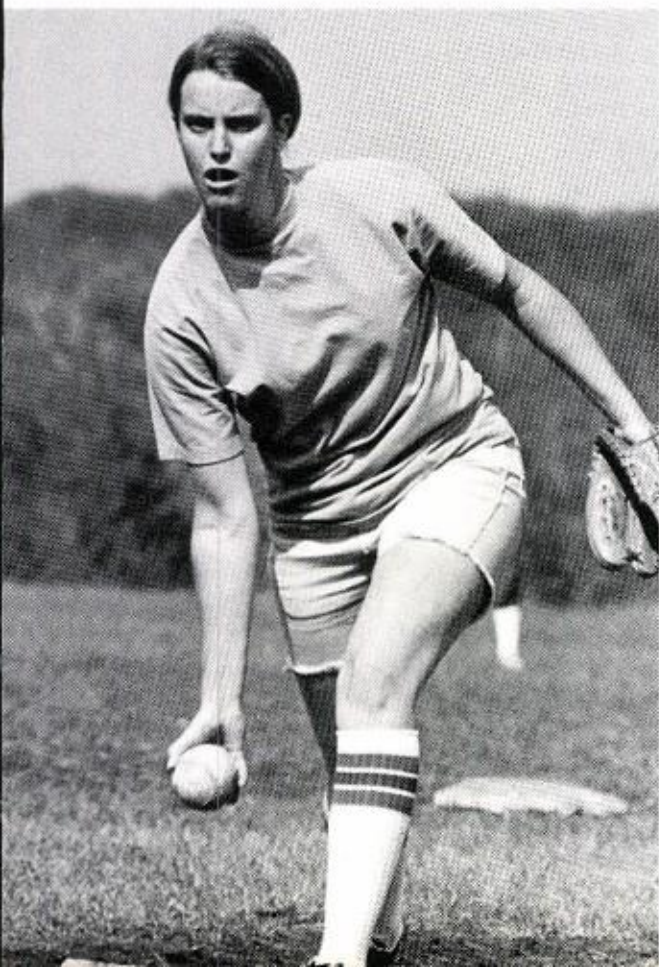

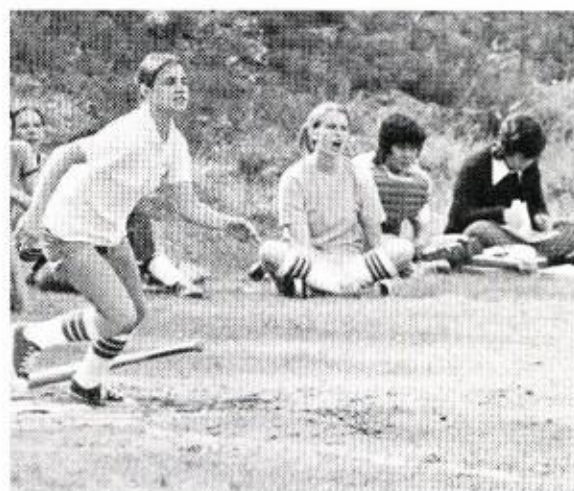

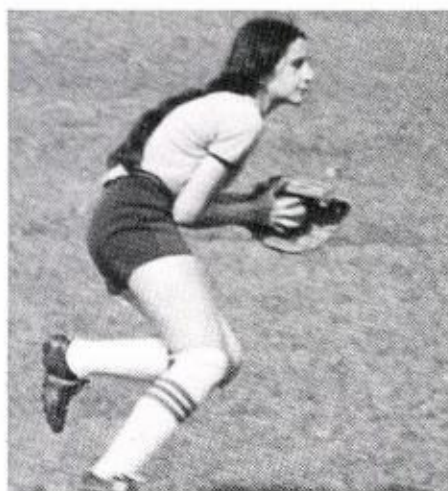

Victorious in their opening and final games, the softball team closed their season with a five and eight overall record.

Coached by JoEllen and Trish McCarthy the girls proved formidable competition for opposing squads but could not hold on for a win in some of the tougher contests.

Providing the core for the team was the fine defense by Gina Semprebon, Sue Tougas and Elaine Howle, bunting by Karen McCormick and Kay Kindig and outstanding pitching by Laurie Whiting.

Close games shadowed the excellent performances of the girls as they lost many games by one point.

Activities

Senate formed; changes result

The effort to reform student government paid off with the formation of Student Senate.

This provided students with more privileges as well as services.

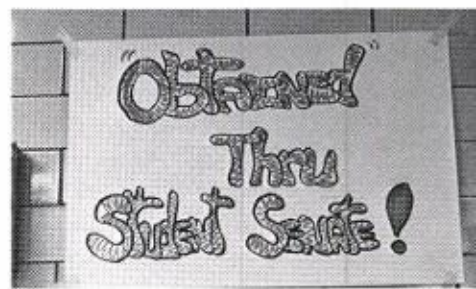

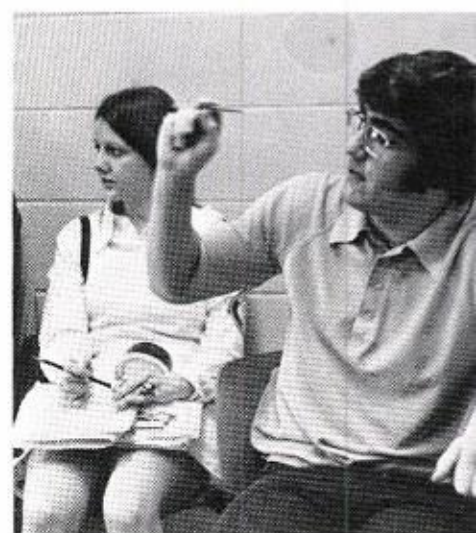

Discontinuation of class offices streamlined the legislative procedures.

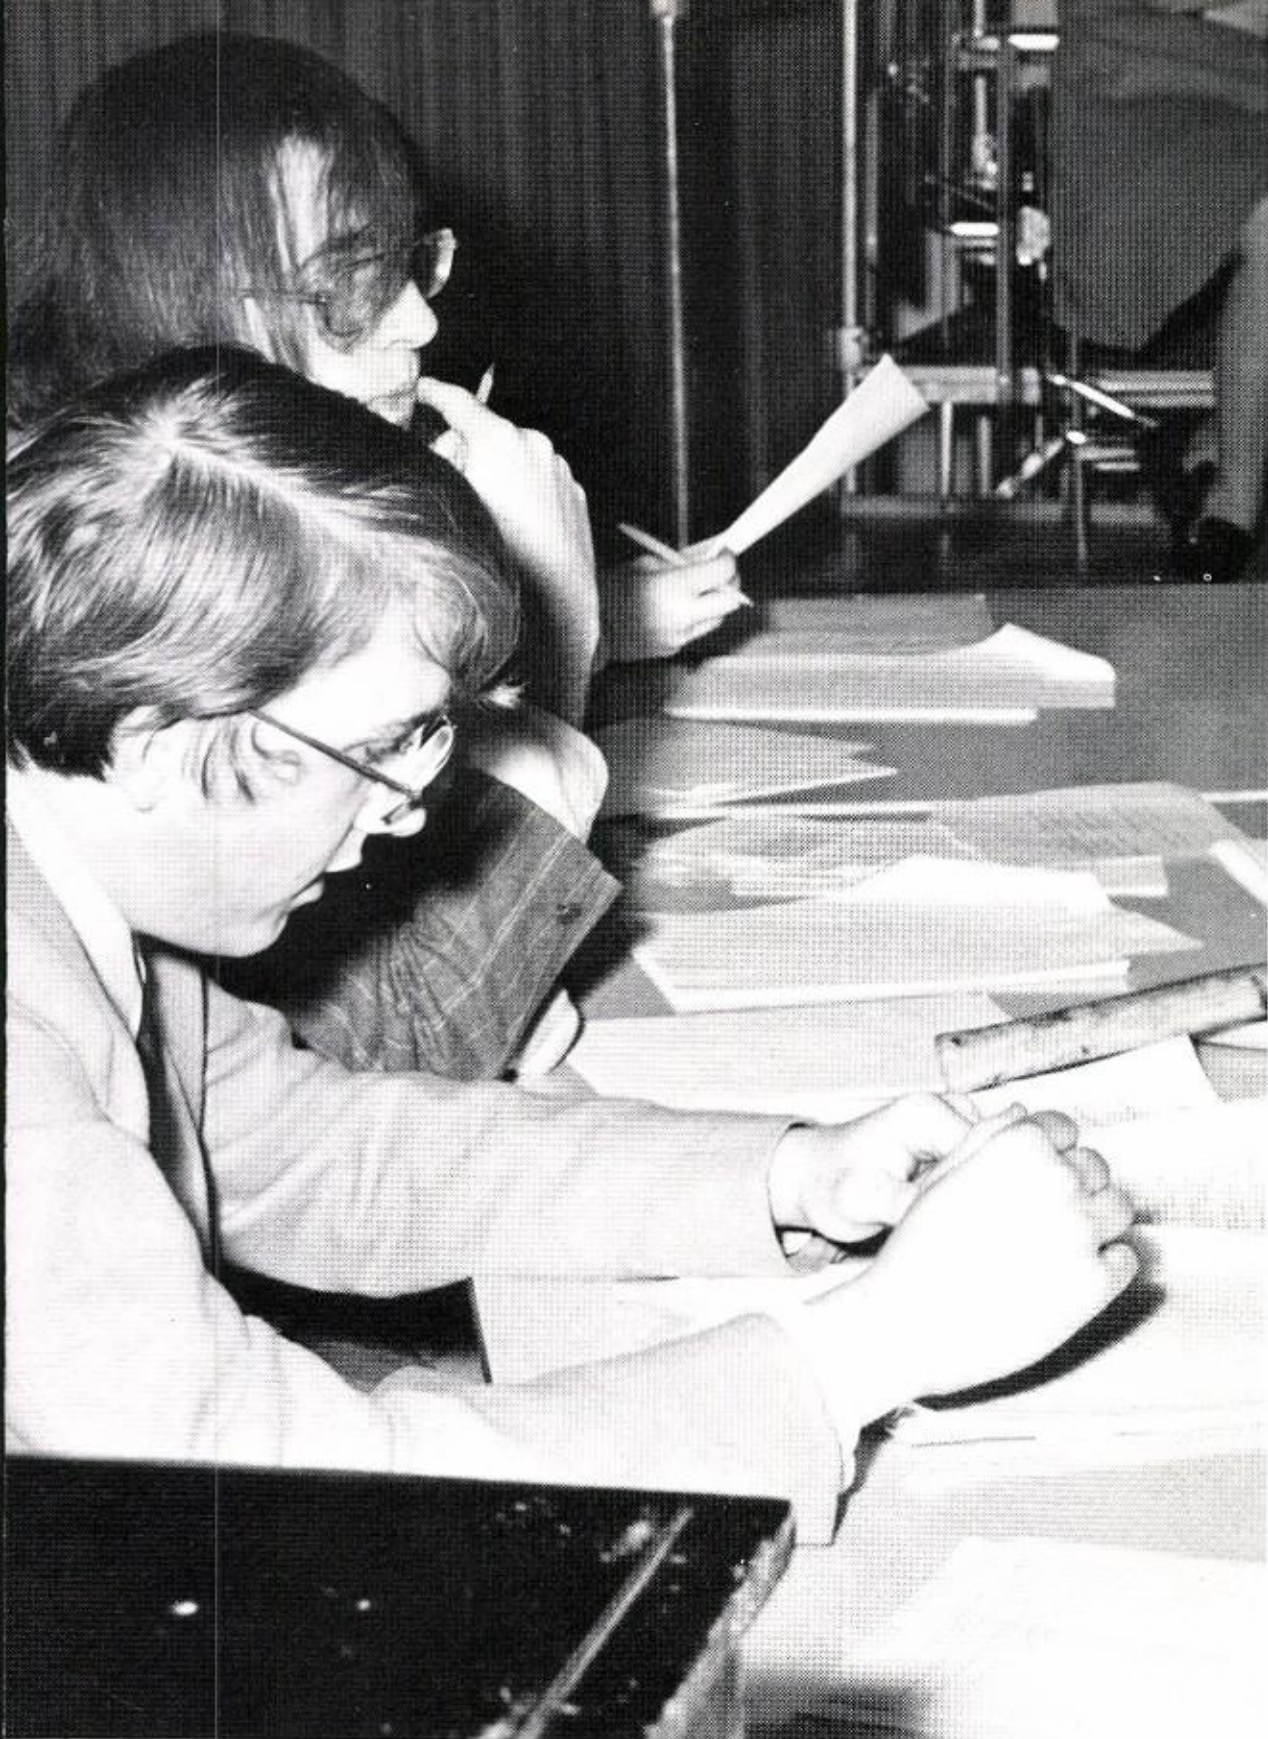

Along with these changes, a combination of class treasuries created a new reservoir of funds for all activities.

Breakfast, served daily, became a reality thanks to the action of the Senate. This program, along with milkshakes, hot chocolate, and yogurt provided students with a variety of choices.

Promotion of school spirit activated members, and the purchase of "Bubba," a spirit trophy, resulted.

Model Congress 'best ever'

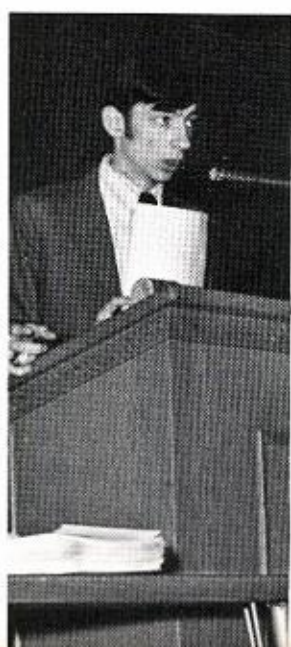

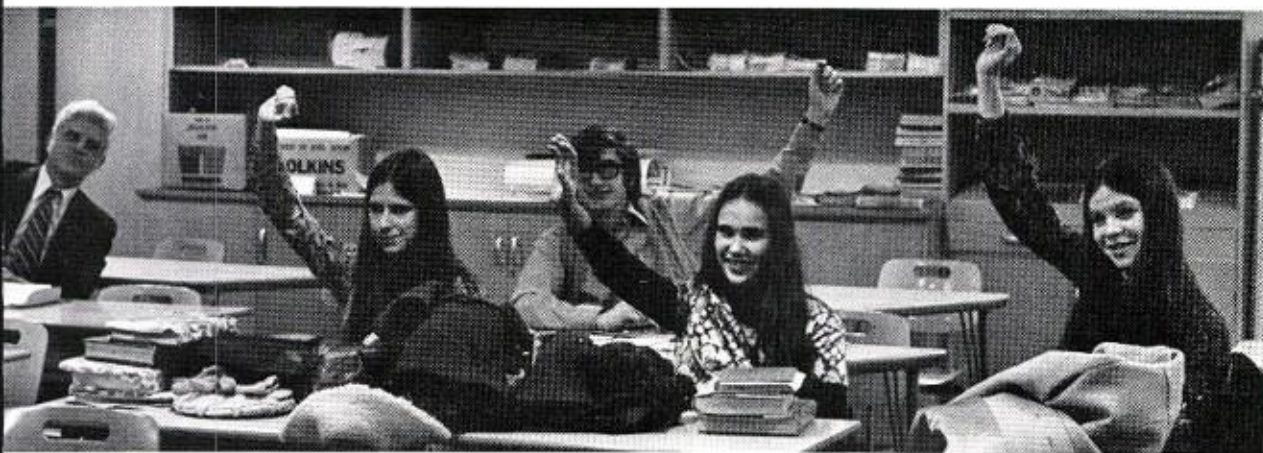

Of this year's Model Congress, Mr. George Johnston commented, "It was one of the best we've ever had." The congress convened on March 2 as delegates arrived from parts of New England and New York. Strong issues concerning governmental power were judged the most controversial.

Senators traveled to New York to attend congress sessions at New Rochelle, Lawrence and West Gresper Clarke.

At the A.I.C. conference held on April 6 and 7, Donald Colby won a scholarship for oration.

Officers this year were Donald Colby, president, Peter McGurk, vice president, Cathy Johnston, secretary, Eric Johnston, treasurer, and Joerg Dittmer, congress co-ordinator. Mr. George Johnston advised the club.

Patrol busy from start of year

The student patrol found themselves busy even before the first week of school ended. Lost freshmen quickly learned their way around as members offered their assistance.

Everyday duties included monitoring halls and lavatories and checking passes at designated patrol posts.

Selling refreshments at basketball games added to the treasury.

The highlight of the year was "Back-to-School-Night."

As bewildered parents struggled to acquaint themselves with school life, student patrols diligently directed them to different classrooms.

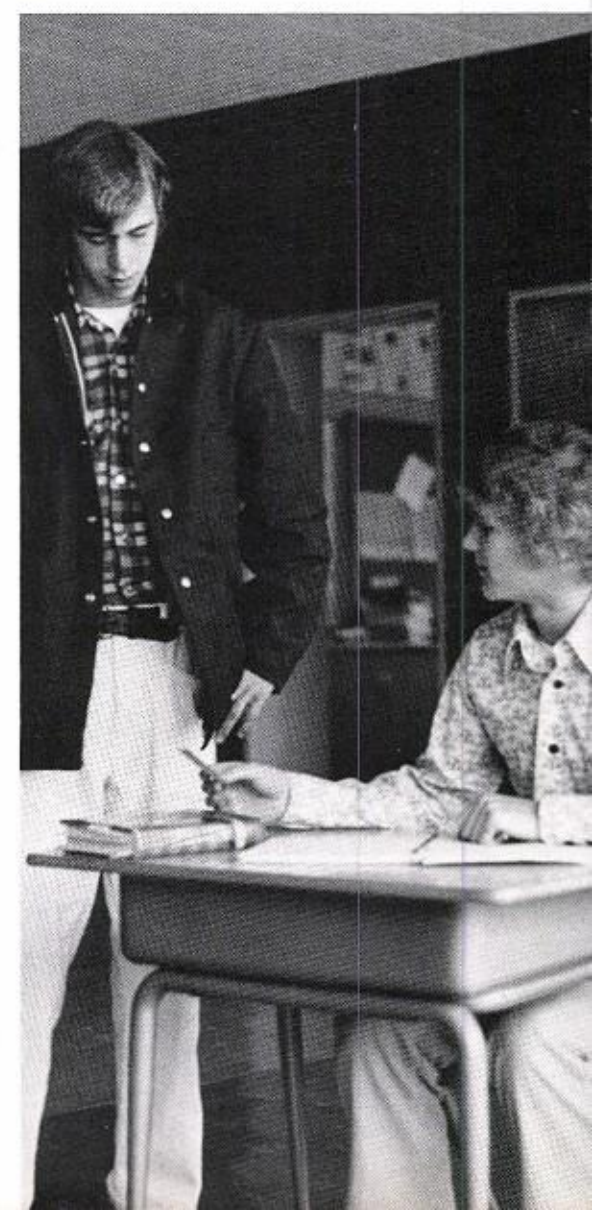

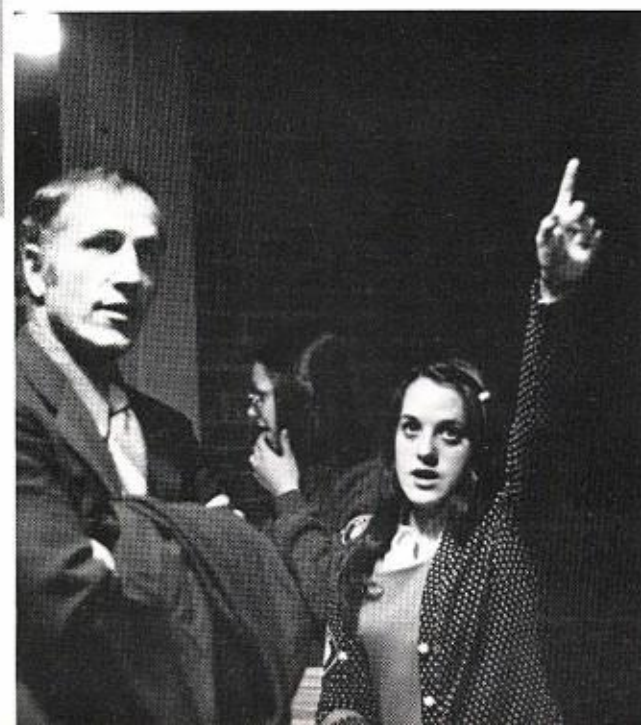

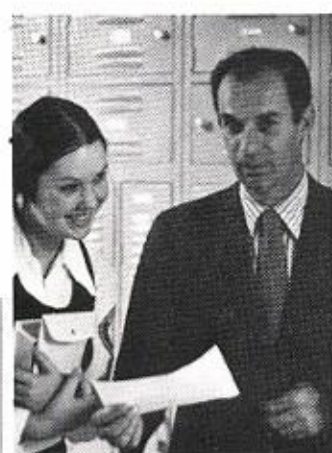

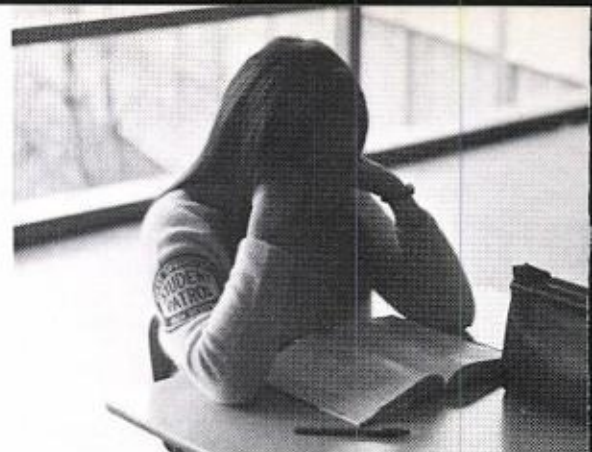

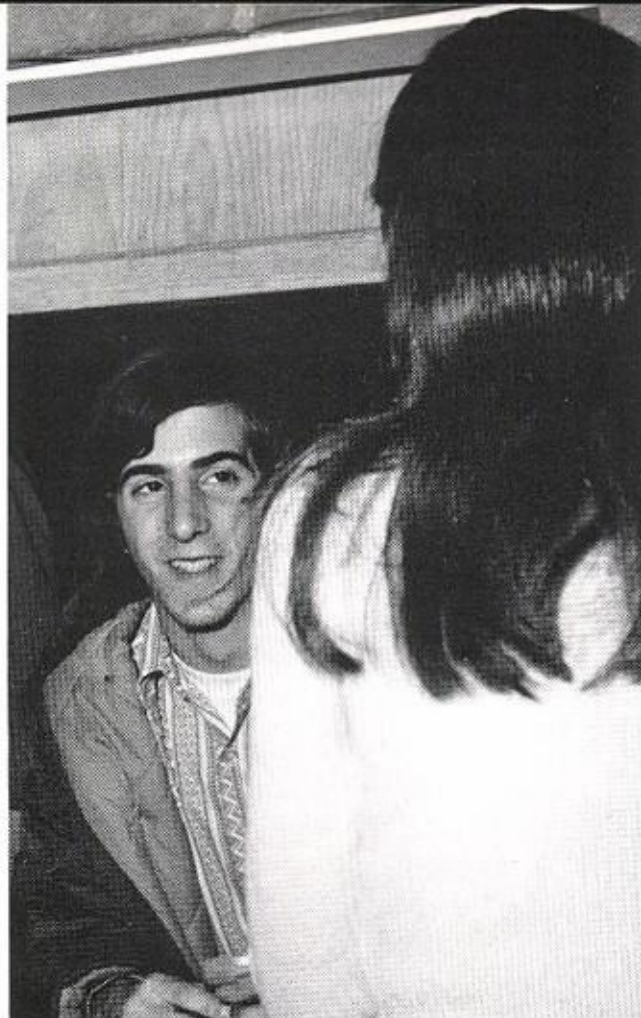

William Kaloroumakis served the patrol as captain, Paul Wendler as lieutenant, and Marianna Rettura as clerk. Mr. Bernard Donnelly was advisor.

Store offers new items

The Student Store provided students with essentials as well as offering a wide variety of new items. Under the supervision of Mr. Rioux, the store remained open from 7:15 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Manager Norma Krawiec and assistant manager Karen Silk helped student workers stock, take inventory, and sell. By working in the store DECA members gained needed experience in sales and retailing.

New items such as sweaters, jackets, shirts, and hats were displayed in the numerous showcases that, along with posters, helped to decorate the store.

Christmas gifts, cards, scarves, and other practical articles were sold with the intent of giving students an opportunity to do necessary shopping and at the same time increase sales.

Reps. bankers serve students

Homeroom representatives performed many duties which included collecting the money and writing receipts for students buying yearbooks. Representatives participated in the selling of Student Athletic Tickets as well as helping with the sale of class rings to anxious juniors. Collecting class dues and measuring for caps and gowns were also some of the duties performed.

Banking envelopes, distributed on Fridays to homeroom bankers and collected on Tuesdays, saved time in the mornings. Each homeroom elected a regular banker and an alternate to insure efficiency.

The banking program was run by Arthur Granger, a senior student, with the guidance of Mr. Maurice Pease.

Largest society lends services

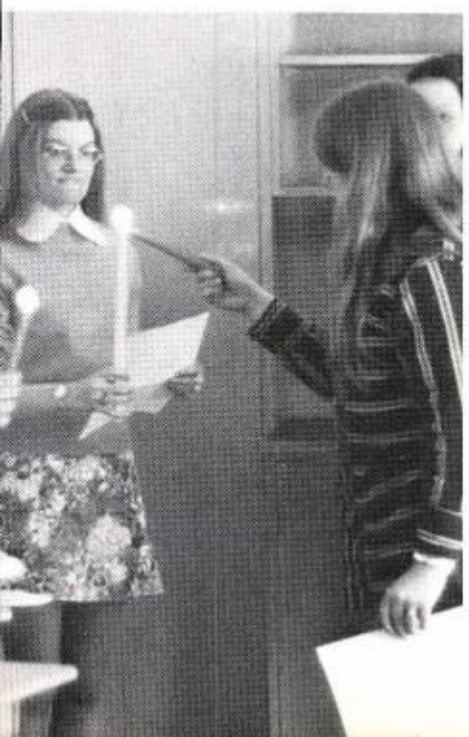

This year's National Honor Society, the largest ever, took advantage of privileges by utilizing study halls and receiving extra text books.

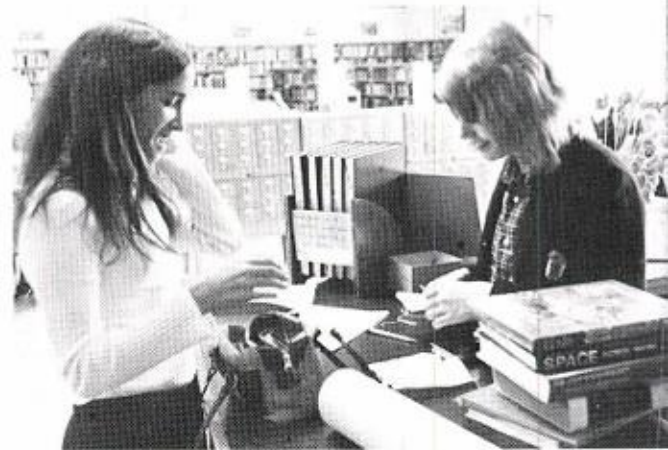

The Society served the school by tutoring fellow students and managing voting stations during elections. A banquet, held in honor of NHS students, acquainted members with their Lions Club sponsors.

In the spring, officers organized a ceremony which inducted eligible juniors and seniors into the society.

Elected officers were: John Brownlee, president; Paul Wendler, vice president; Elaine Canedi, secretary; and Mary Panda, treasurer. Mr. Francis Crane acted as advisor.

Student aides offer services

Students with daily study halls were able to serve the school by working as student aides.

Student librarians checked passes, catalogued and shelved books, and kept the card files in order.

By taking temperatures and performing various clerical duties, students relieved the nurse's work load.

Office secretaries were assisted in the areas of mail sorting, filing, and telephoning.

Guidance workers delivered passes, kept the college catalogues orderly, filed, and typed for councilors.

Cleaning equipment, mixing solutions, and stocking lab shelves were some of the duties performed by lab assistants eager to help the school function efficiently.

Media crew provides AVA

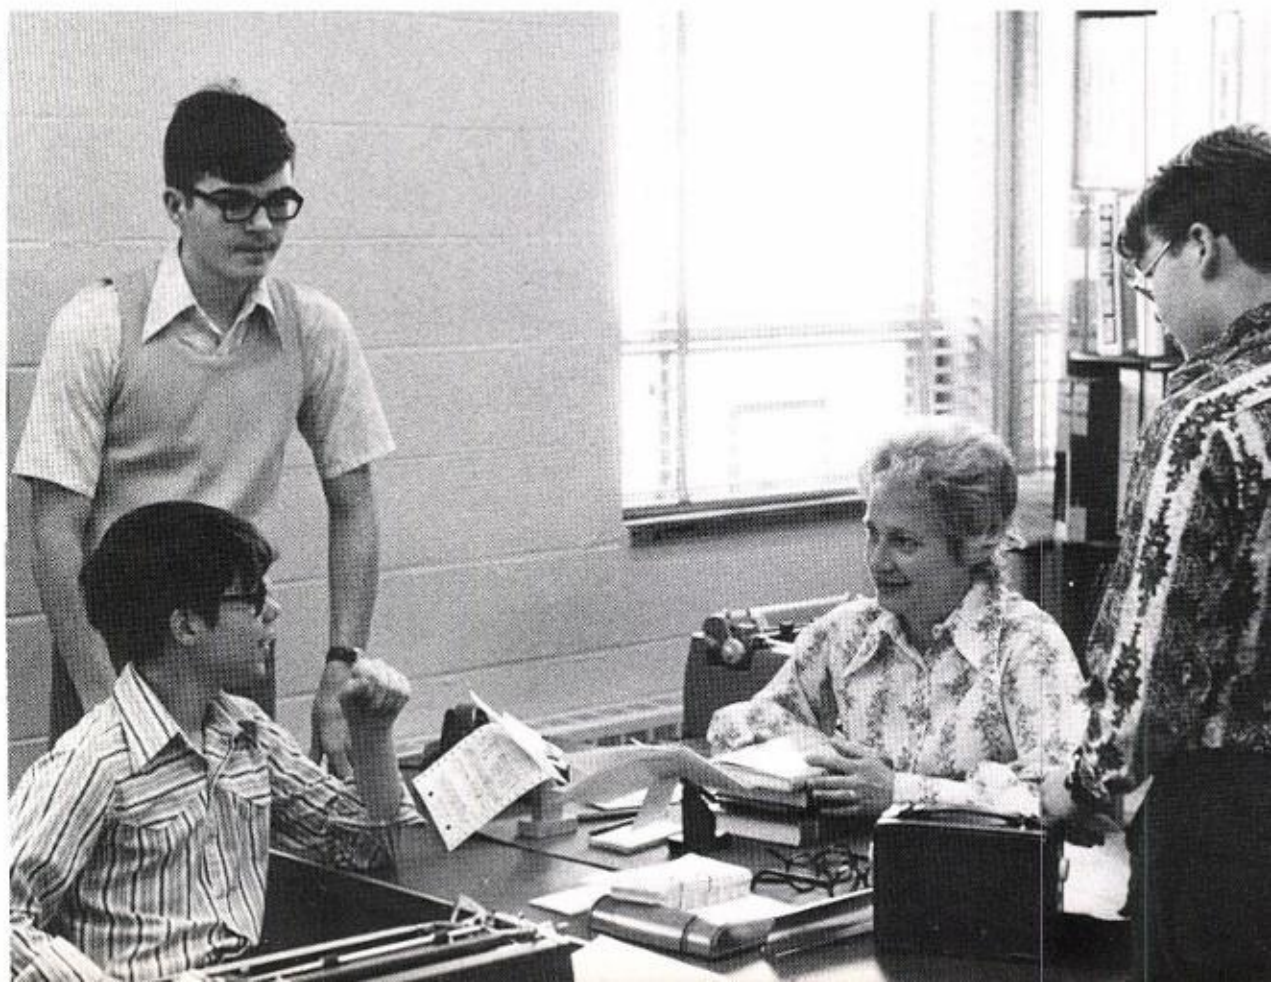

Distribution of all audio-visual equipment was the task of the media aides under the supervision of Mr. Robert Goff.

The media supplied the machinery for all special assemblies and many teachers' meetings. They also provided materials for football games, pep rallies, and films for the entire school system throughout the year.

Members of AVA utilized their study periods to help deliver equipment, give special notes to teachers, and make thermal masters and transparencies.

Mrs. Maria Marrese and Mrs. Barbara Pasko served AVA by handling requests and by ordering needed machinery. The media was assisted by secretary Mrs. Ruth Henry.

Club aids community

Concern with the environment prompted the activities of the Conservation Club. The pond was the focal point of their efforts as the club, under the guidance of Miss Suzanne Lemieux, eliminated the refuse. Many members viewed first-hand what pollutants can do to destroy nature.

Raking, bagging, and carrying were part of the action during fall clean-up. Throughout the community, club members alerted citizens to environmental protection and helped keep the town clean.

As the most active participant in the organization, senior Alan Symington received the Conservation Club Award.

Varied interests separate clubs

Diversified interests initiated the forming of separate language clubs. Club members met throughout the year in order to plan various activities.

The year's schedule included trips to places of interest.

An increased understanding of heritage was gained as the Spanish Club attended a cultural day in Boston. Members viewed guitarists and flamenco dancers.

Trips to France and Germany provided other club members the needed practical experience with these languages. During the week-long visitation, members viewed traditional sites of interest.

Free projects highlight year

Meeting once a week, members of the Art Club worked on free projects during the year. Various projects included paintings, sculptures, mobiles, and ceramics.

Mrs. Sandra Dudek guided the 20 member club and offered her assistance to concerned art students interested in working on their own after school. Members were given the chance to express themselves and were taught to stress originality and individuality in their work.

Kate Ramah served as president, Gary Chase as vice-president, and Patricia Welch as secretary at the meetings which were held on Thursdays.

Math team ninth; chess non-league

Under the guidance of Mr. Rene Burque, the Mathletes placed ninth in Western Mass. competition out of sixteen participating schools.

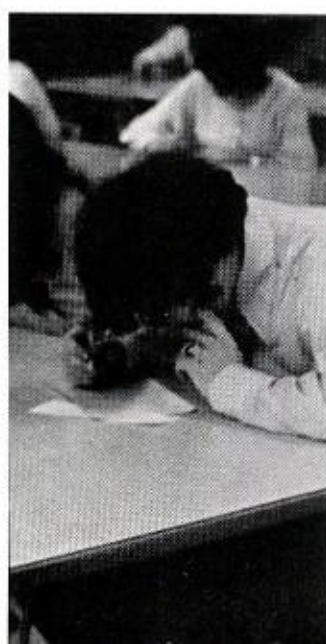

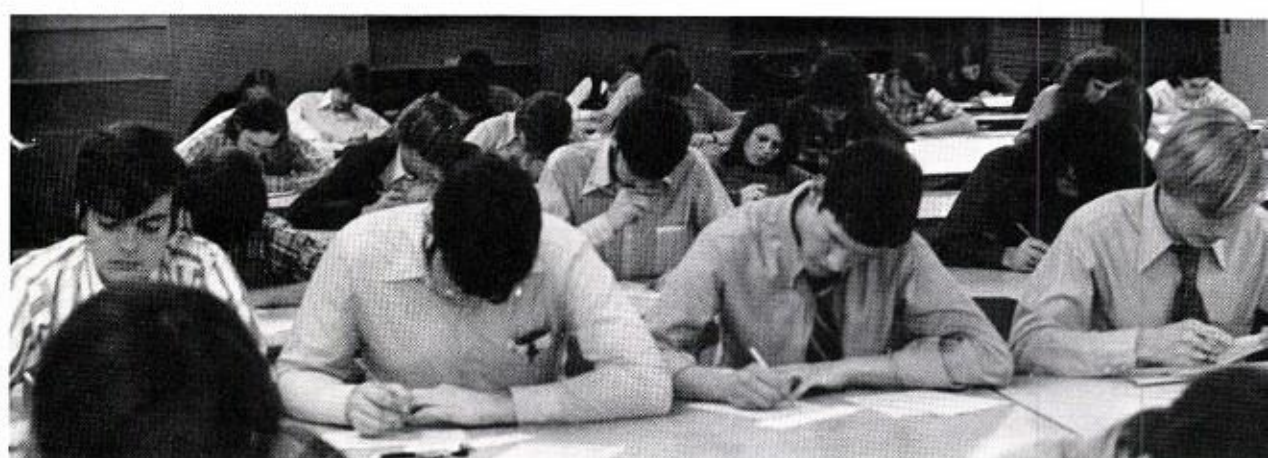

The team, composed of nine seniors, competed in five regular meets during the year. In competition, each participant received five problems to be solved within fifteen minutes, depending upon difficulty. The winning team was determined by the highest score out of a possible five points.

Due to problems dealing with transportation, the Chess Club was not entered in league competition.

However, round-robin matches provided the all-boy team with needed practice in hopes of belonging to a league next year.

This year's advisor was Mr. Rene Burque.

DECA awarded at conference

With Mr. Roger Rioux as advisor, members of DECA attended a conference in Hyannis during the weekend of March 23-25. DECA students from all over the state were involved in the weekend activities which included conferences and banquets. West Side won awards in job interviews, sales distribution, manuals, and first place in displays.

During the Christmas season, a boutique sponsored by DECA proved beneficial not only in offering practical experience in sales, but also in raising funds. More business insight was gained at the Exposition, where DECA successfully directed several booths.

The Student Store was managed by DECA members and offered a great variety of items.

FTA raises funds for scholarships

Future Teachers of America began their year in early fall with "Fall Frolics," a dance held to increase the treasury. St. Patrick's Day provided club members with a chance to earn money by selling shamrocks. Each sale contributed 50 cents toward the three one hundred dollar scholarships presented.

Members with a minimum average of 85 were given the opportunity to observe classes in neighboring schools. Trips to Smith College and Clarke School for the Deaf, along with a variety of speakers, offered the group insight into the teaching profession.

Serving as officers were Holly Hamlett, president, Sandra Cummings, vice president, Martha Simpson, secretary, and Annette Bodley, treasurer. Mr. Alfred Simmons was group advisor.

Medical clubs offer services

Under the direction of advisor Mrs. Elizabeth LaVoice, members of the Future Medical Careers Club attended meetings where various medical procedures were demonstrated.

Lecturers informed members of the different careers in the medical field available to them, as well as offering instruction on new developments in first aid.

The Red Cross Club, advised by Miss Suzanne Lemieux, spent time decorating in preparation for a Halloween dance held at Leeds Veterans' Hospital. By offering their services in these ways throughout the year, members served the community and school.

Concert marks varied year

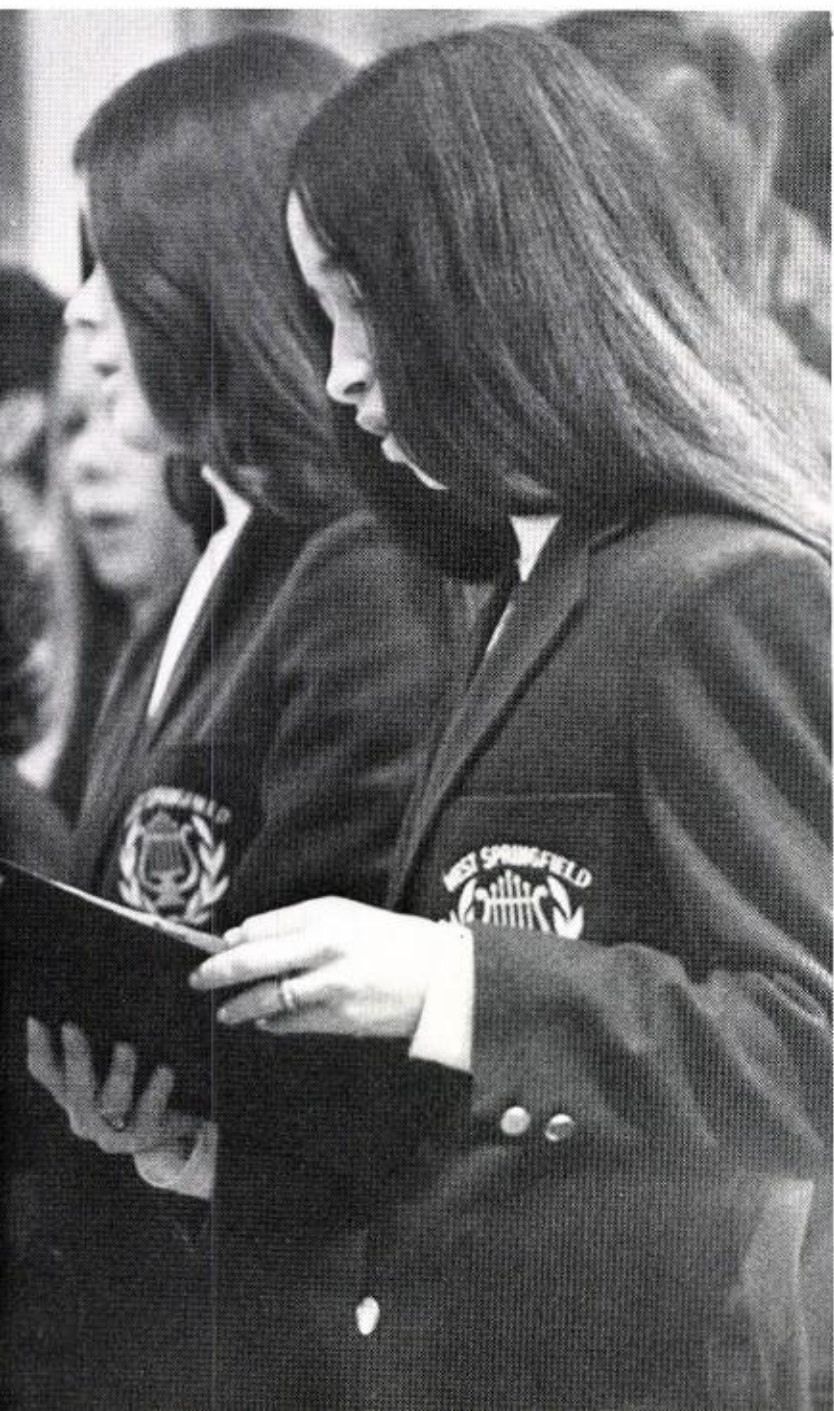

The sixty member concert choir, directed by Mr. John Shuster, entertained at a number of concerts, including a Christmas Messiah-Sing and a spring exchange concert in Moretown, Vermont. The Madrigal-Modern Singers, a select group of 25, sang for the Rotary Club, the Chamber of Commerce, and the Mitteneague Methodist Men's Club during the Christmas season, as well as singing with The Springfield Youth Symphony.

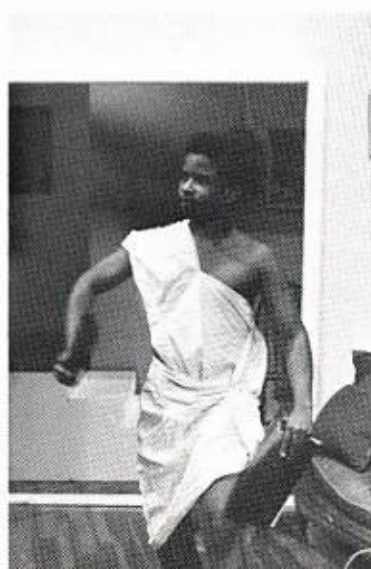

With profits from "Terrier Talents" and the spring musical "Man of La Mancha," a scholarship for a graduating senior going on to study vocal music was established.

Dale Dollar, librarian;
Cindy Cassells, secretary;
and Peggy Barnes, business manager.

Comedy opens drama season

Kaufman and Hart's 1930's comedy "You Can't Take It With You" opened the Drama Club's 1972-1973 season. The play centered around a family of kooky non-conformists: Martin Vanderhof who collected snakes, Penny Sycamore, a playwright and artist, Paul Sycamore who manufactured fireworks, Essie Carmichael, a budding ballerina, Ed Carmichael, a printer and xylophone player, and Alice Sycamore, an office worker.

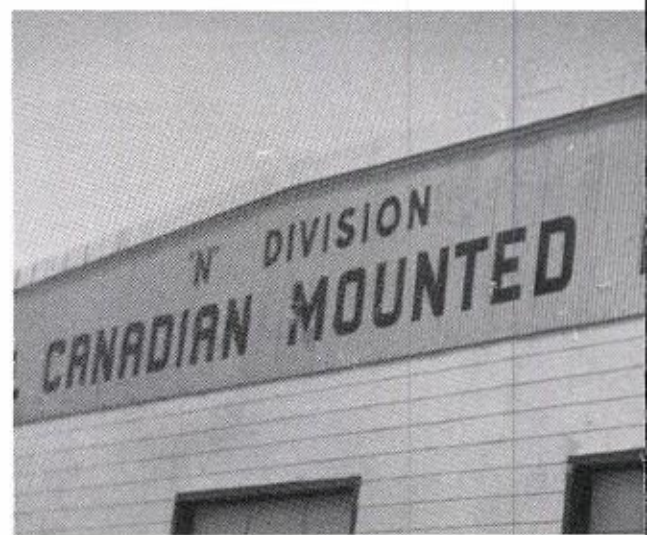

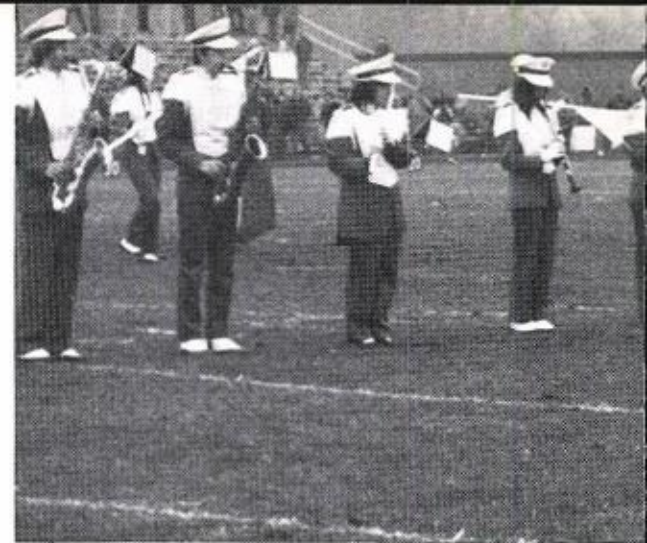

The club also established a scholarship for a graduating senior planning to continue drama in college.

Band faces varied schedule

Band members faced many activities on their return in the fall.

After their opening concert on Governor's Night and a weekend of parking cars at the Exposition, attention focused on football games.

The pace quickened with the Pops Concert, held on February 2 and 3.

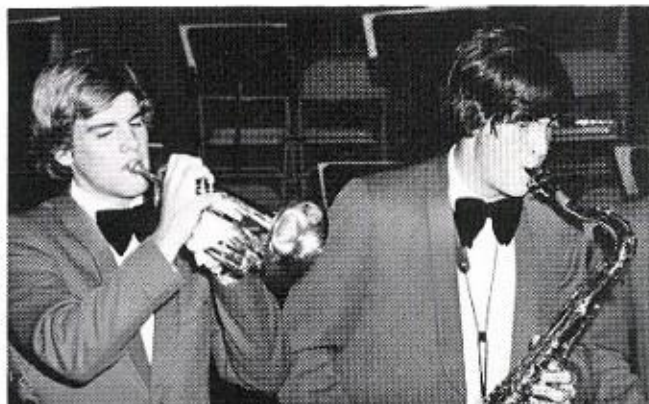

A sellout crowd eagerly listened to a variety of contemporary music as well as traditional selections.

Bake sales and the yearly candy drive bolstered the treasury.

Funds were used when the band traveled to Ottawa, Canada for their annual trip. Various sites of interest were visited by the group during their stay from April 16 to 19.

Many changes evident in paper

Larger front-page pictures, down style headlines, and a modified nameplate altered the format of "Terrier Times."

Joerg Dittmer served as editor-in-chief, the first male editor in the history of the paper. Mr. Peter T. Connors was advisor.

For the first time, the staff included regular features in the paper.

"Land Mark", a short story by Jim Sawyer, was published in five parts.

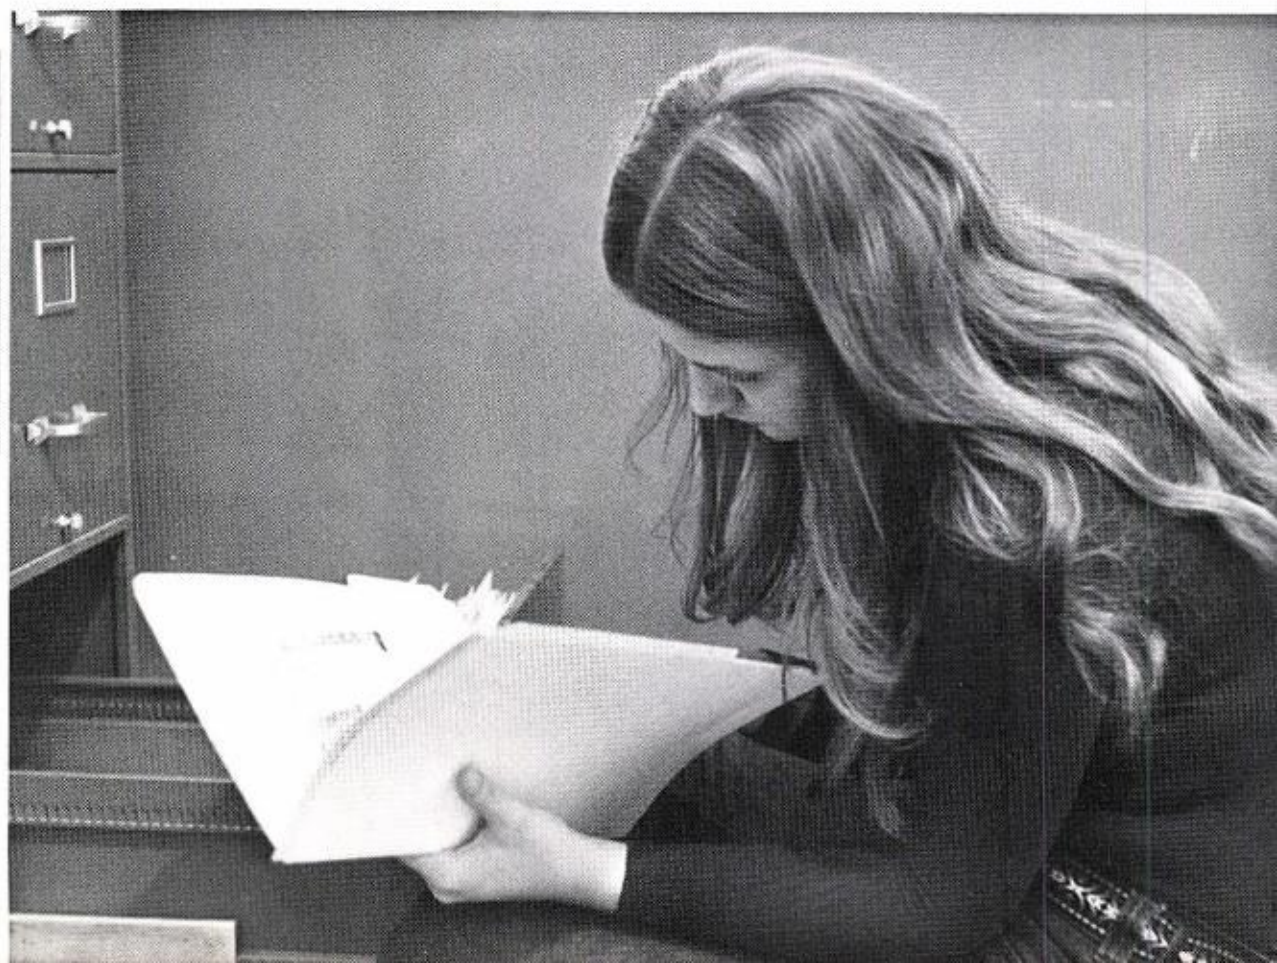

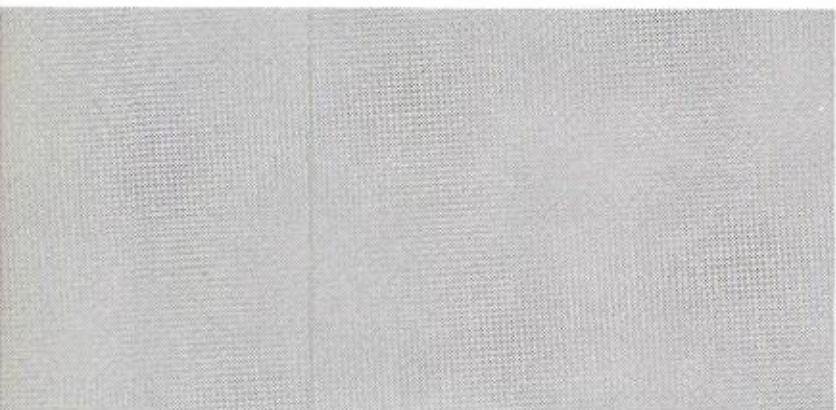

Tom Gruppioni's column "Grup's Scoops" and Mark Isaacs' cartoons of school life were other popular features.

Classified ads provided students with a chance to publicize services or articles for sale, and profits further supported the paper.

Yearbook staff modifies format

Numerous changes brightened the format of the "Terrier" yearbook.

Led by editor-in-chief Laura Hubbard, and advisor Mr. Peter T. Connors, the staff of fourteen began work in the spring of 1972, with a trip to a yearbook clinic at the Highpoint Motor Inn. There, members learned the basic skills of producing a yearbook.

A more modern layout was adopted, resulting in better continuity throughout the book.

Faculty portraits in the "People" section of the book allowed space for more complete coverage of the academic year.

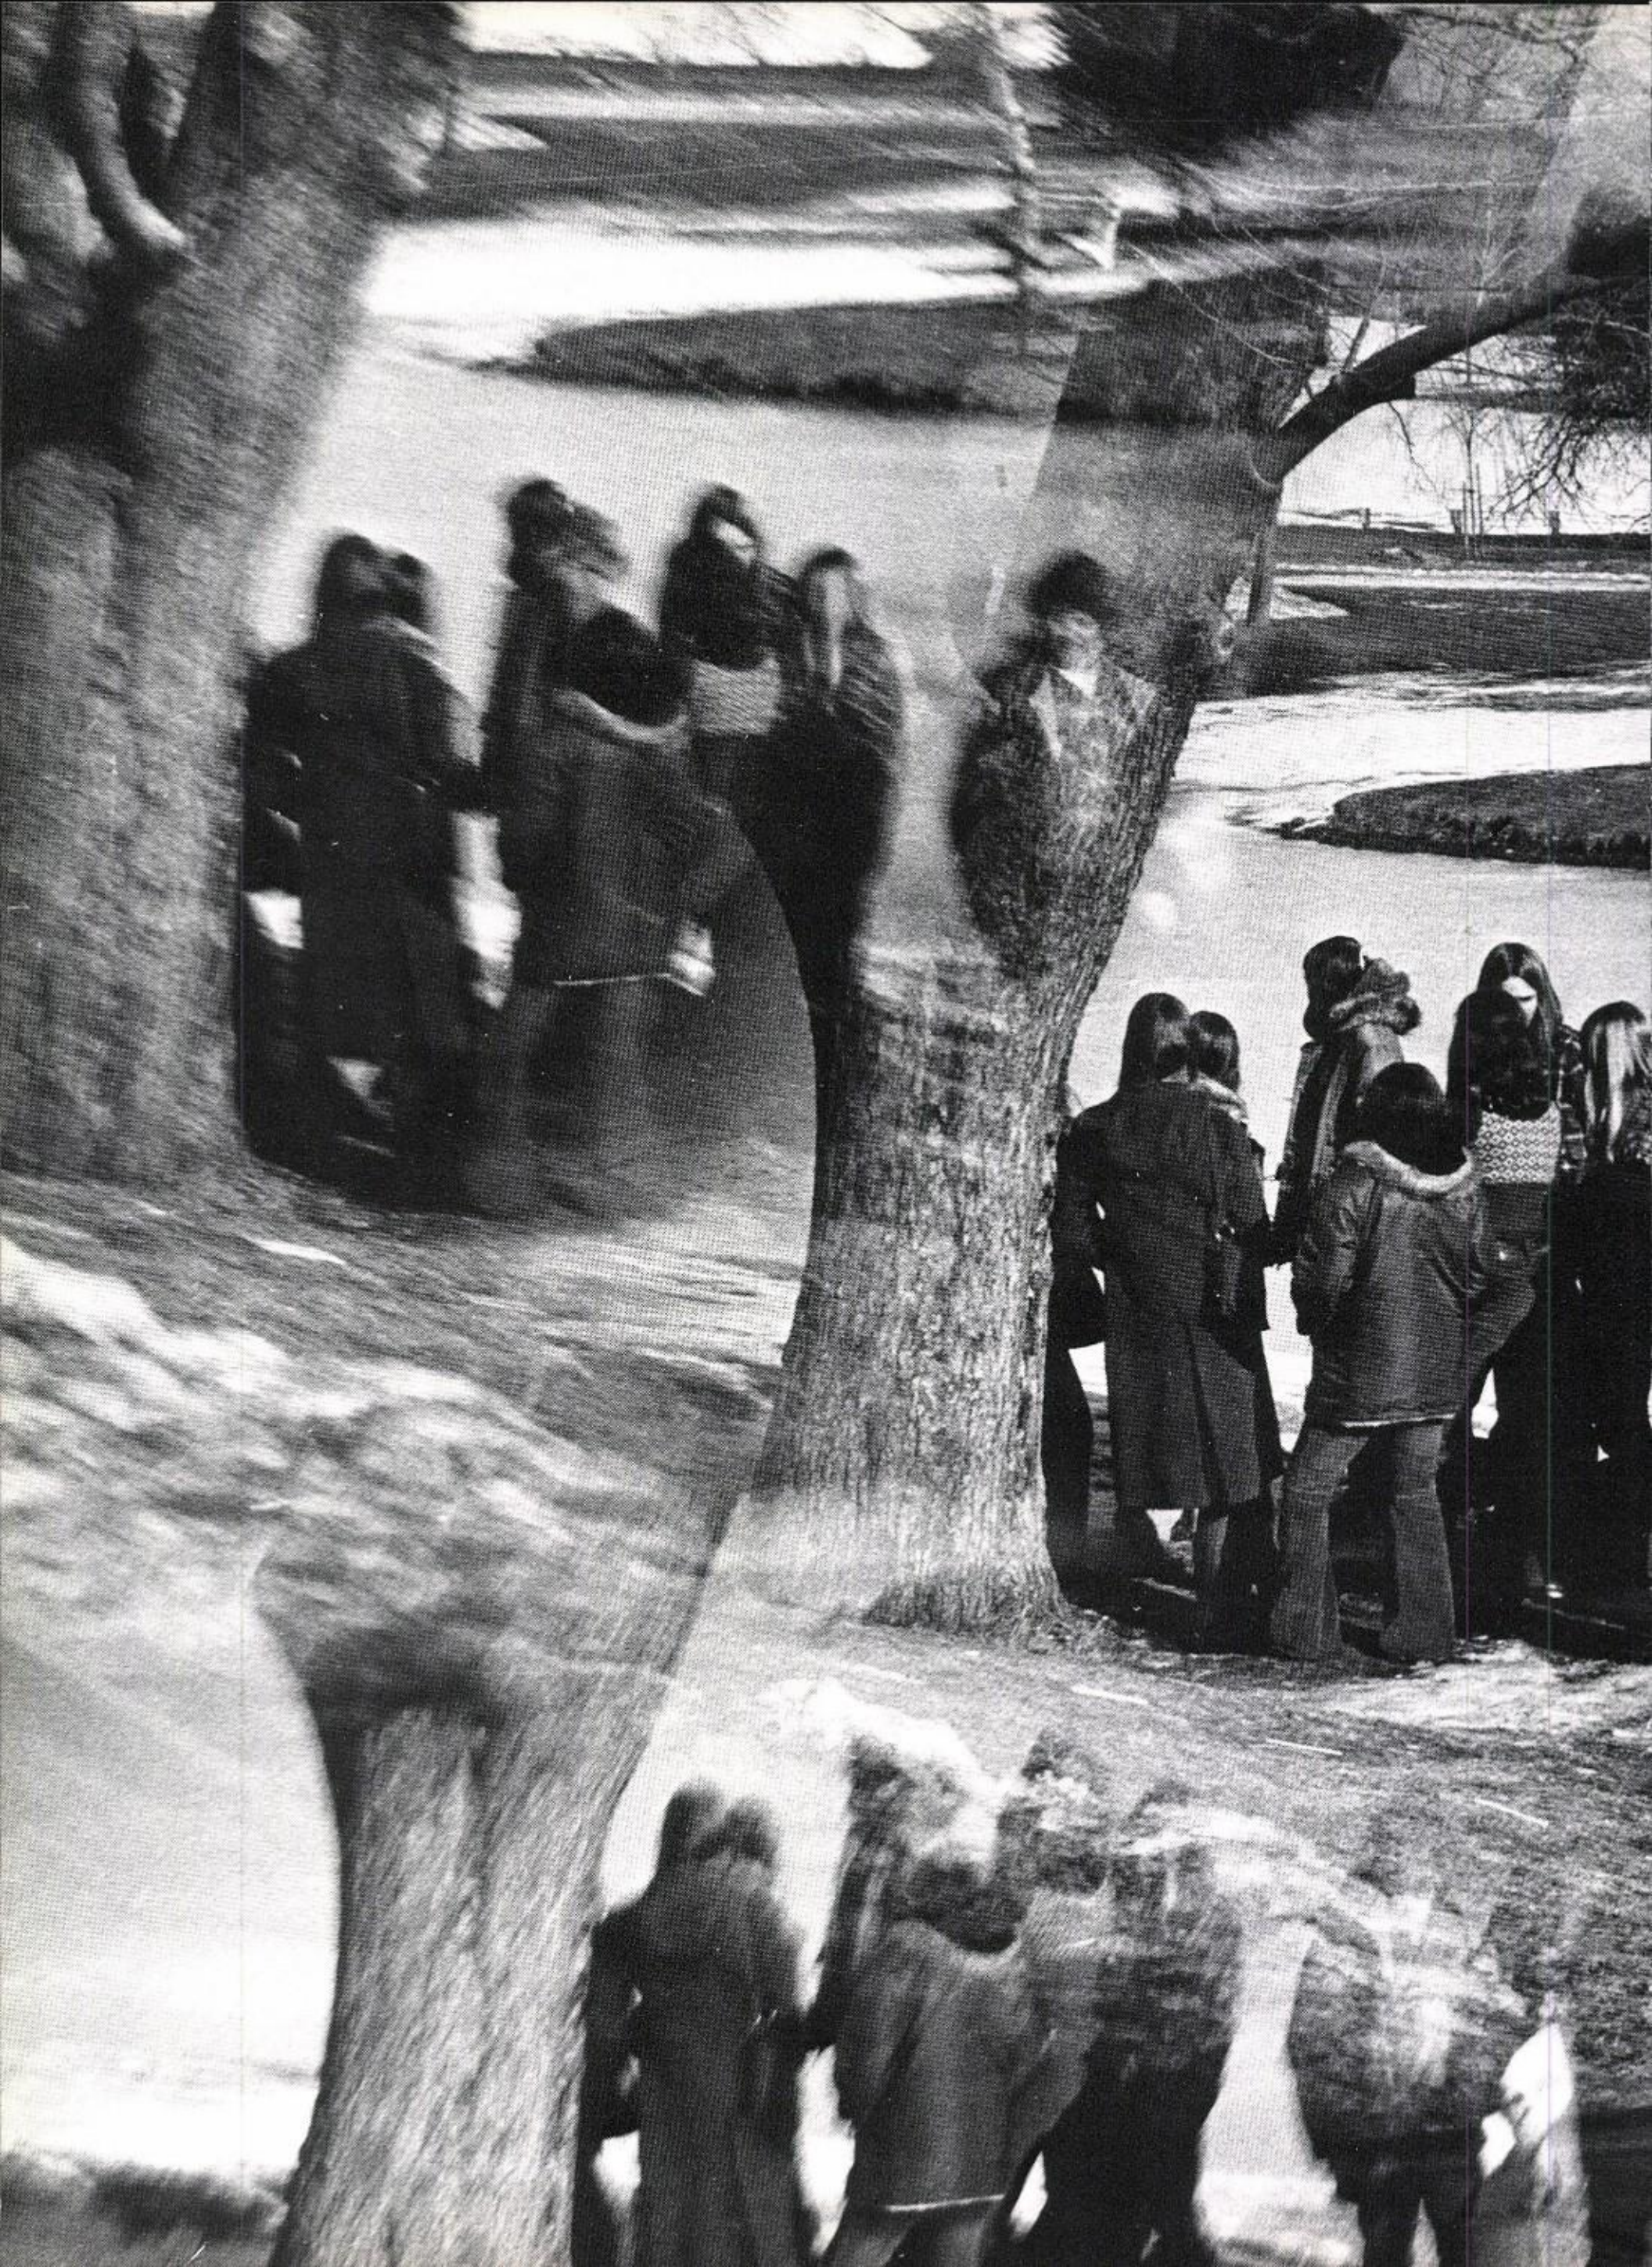

Production costs were defrayed by selling of sponsorships to businesses, professional people, and clubs within the school.

Each sponsor was given a free yearbook.

Class of '73 first class to lead West Side under new government

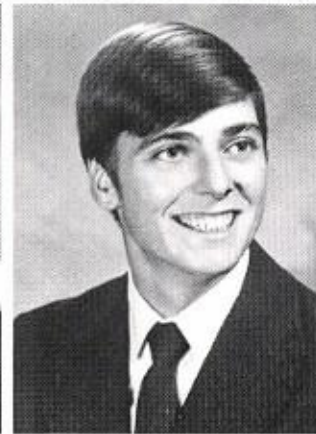

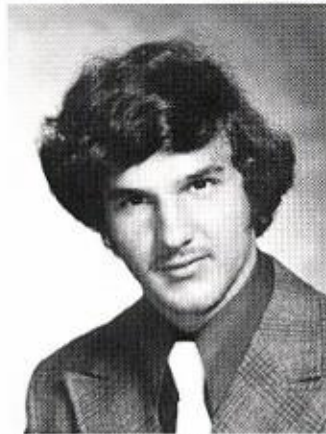

1973 marked a year of change at West Side. The traditional student government was scrapped and the Student Senate took the place of the Student Council. There were no class officers; each class elected ten people to represent it in the Senate. The Senate was divided into four committees, each chaired by a senior.

Consequently, the senior class played a vital and responsible role during their final year at West Side. Having helped to formulate the new frame of government, it was up to them to make it work. The class of 1973 hoped to improve interclass relations as well as relations between students and the administration.

In Memoriam

Paul Janis
1955-1973

As an outstanding member of his class, Paul Janis contributed in both academic and extra-curricular areas. A variety of talents led him into several fields and his honors in these areas proved his abilities. His active participation made West Side that much better. Dedication of the 1973 class gift showed best how Paul Janis' classmates felt about his untimely death.

As upperclassmen, juniors seized all opportunities to prove their right to this status. Class rings were the material symbol but, as the year hurried past the many activities planned by the junior class relations officers provided zest to everyday schooling.

The annual Mock Prom highlighted the sophomore activities. Sophomores started preparations early in February as various committees worked many hard hours on decorations, music, and refreshments. "A Time For Us" was chosen as the theme and the "Granpaws" supplied the music. The March 10th event proved to be a success.

Completing work on a yearbook requires help from many individuals outside the staff. Some names which must be mentioned are Pat Carney who helped in the design and the layout of the book, Mr. Maurice Landry, our professional photographer, and Loring Studios. Also deserving mention are Mrs. Dorothy Beauchemin and Mr. Robert LaMountagne for providing us with student lists, two students outside of the staff, Tom Connor for art work and Donna McCarthy for photography and general help in yearbook production, and Rock Singewald for many hours of consultation with the editor.

Thanks also should be extended to Mr. Donald Lendry of the American Yearbook Company and most especially to our advisor through this difficult year, Mr. Peter T. Connors.

To all these people and the many others who helped us produce the 1973 Terrier, we express our sincere appreciation.
